Hurricane Winds Lash Carolina Coast

Thousands Seek Shelter From Cindy

Howler, Packing 75 MPH Punch, Nears Charleston

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Hurricane Cindy, a relatively weak sister of the family of big storms, plowed relentlessly toward the South Carolina coast near here Wednesday night carrying top winds of 75 miles an hour.

Cindy barely made the hurricane class in intensity but threatened coastal areas above and below this old port city with high waves and tides.

Residents from half a dozen resort communities poured into Red Cross shelters at schools and armories as rain squalls and 40-mile-an-hour wind gusts lashed deserted beaches.

Of a total resident population of 6,500, swollen by thousands of vacationers at nearby Folly Beach, Sullivan's Island and the Isle of Palms, less than 600 remained to ride out the storm.

The Weather Bureau said at 8 p.m. (EST) that Cindy was 30 miles offshore and not expected to hit the coast until "late Wednesday night." The bureau said the storm had weakened somewhat and had become erratic.

The bureau warned that while winds and squalls are confined to an area near the storm's center, "high seas some four feet above normal will flood coastal lands.

Thousands of vacationers began moving inland earlier in the day as wind gusts and rain squalls covered long stretches of coast.

Civil Defense and highway patrol personnel in both Carolinas were alerted for possible emergency duty. A preliminary alert also went out to naval and Marine installations in the Carolinas from district headquarters in Norfolk, Va.

High Pressure System Protects Northeast

BOSTON (AP) — Hurricane Cindy which was reported heading for Charleston, S. C., should have no affect upon New England in the next 24 hours, the Boston weather bureau said Wednesday.

The forecaster said the New England area is protected by a stationary high pressure system which covers the region, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and parts of Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland.

The hurricane was expected to move inland over South Carolina Wednesday night. Winds should diminish after the storm center moves overland, the forecaster said.

Child-Slaying Suspect Nabbed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A busboy and fry cook sought for the rape-slaying of a 6-year-old girl walked into the arms of police Wednesday and told them: "Yes, I killed her. I thought she was my wife."

Robert Ervin, 20, alighted from a train to be met by Police Chief R. K. Sheffer and Lt. B. J. Handlon. They had been tipped that a man answering Ervin's description had bought a ticket on the train six hours earlier in Los Angeles.

Ervin had been sought since Tuesday when the nude body of Dolores Stafford, a neighbor child, was found in the attic above his apartment.

He gave no explanation for the crime other than the cryptic reference to his wife. Earlier, he had written his wife that he planned to give himself up and commented: "Oh God, what made me do this?"

Ike Hits Irresponsible Threats By Khrushchev

Hints Special Session If Aid Cut Too Deeply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Wednesday in effect accused Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev of indulging in irresponsible threats with his talk about the possibility of war over Berlin.

The President made the statement at one of his more outspoken news conferences at which he clarified his civil rights views somewhat and threatened Congress with a special session if it cuts his aid program too deeply.

Discussing Khrushchev, Eisenhower said he did not think "responsible people should indulge in anything that can be even remotely considered ultimatums or threats." He said this was no way to reach peaceful solutions.

The President was commenting on Khrushchev's recent remark to former Gov. Averell Harriman of New York that if the West wants war over Berlin "you can have it." Khrushchev threatened to unleash his "automatic rockets" in any such war.

Discusses Exchange Visits

The President also took a cautious approach toward Khrushchev's proposal to a group of visiting U. S. governors for an exchange of visits between himself and Eisenhower. The Soviet chief said such visits would be "beneficial."

The President said that if Khrushchev only wanted to come here on a ceremonial or social trip then the single important question would be what kind of reception he would get. He raised no great objection to such a trip.

But he said difficult problems would be raised if Khrushchev wanted to engage in "tough" face-to-face negotiations. Such talks possibly would be misunderstood by this country's allies, he said, and would have to be studied very throughly.

On the domestic scene, the President threw some light on his stand on racial segregation. He has skirted the subject in the past on grounds that his position calls for him to enforce the laws regardless of how he feels about them.

The President said in a brief reply to a questioner that segregation is "morally wrong" to the extent that it "interferes with citizens' equality of opportunity in both the economic and political fields." There was no elaboration or specific reference to school segregation.

On other issues, the President:

—Voiced hope that steel labor and management would continue negotiating until a settlement is reached. In the industrial field, he said, a strike is "the last action" that should ever be taken. He urged both sides to consider what is best for the country.

Boost For Kennedy

—Said he saw no reason why a Catholic should not be elected president. He said his vote would never be influenced by the religion of a candidate. The President had "no opinion whatsoever" on whether a Catholic could be elected. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a Catholic, is regarded as a Democratic presidential possibility.

—Said that, all else failing, he could call a special session of Congress next fall to get enough foreign aid funds, especially military assistance which the Senate has voted to trim.

—Defended his votes of Democratic legislation, such as the big housing bill, as in the interests of the country. He vehemently declared he had no thought of political gain since he will be finished with politics when he leaves the White House 18 months hence.

USW Rejects Ike's New Plea To Delay Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Steelworkers of America rejected Wednesday a bid from President Eisenhower to delay a steel strike indefinitely beyond the two-week truce already granted by the union.

The union previously had postponed its strike deadline from July 1 to midnight July 14. Barring an agreement, the industry will have to start shutting down this weekend.

Eisenhower's request for an indefinite extension and the union's refusal to put aside its strike weapon came at a time when industry-union talks here appeared to look a little more promising.

Both sides clammed up on what was going on in the negotiating room and declined to say if the talks were getting anywhere. But until now the union has been regularly stating that the bargaining was deadlocked and devoid of progress.

Eisenhower told his news conference in Washington there had been a misapprehension about his June 27 letter to union President David J. McDonald. He appealed in the letter for continued negotiations without a strike until an agreement is reached.

The union at that time responded with its two-week truce agreement.

The President said he'd never proposed any two-week contract extension at all but had suggested a delay of any strike for an indefinite period.

The industry made it clear that it too would like to see a steel strike threat disappear. R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corp. and the industry's chief negotiator, noted the steel firms had proposed indefinite extension subject to 10-day termination notice by either side.

McDonald, responding to Eisenhower's Washington comments, said all labor negotiations must havt a terminal point and he just couldn't believe the President intended "that we negotiate forever."

Ex-Sen. Bender Denies Rackets Probe Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate rackets investigators heard charges Wednesday that Ohio Teamsters leaders suddenly switched their political support to former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) in 1954 while trying to quash his investigation of their operations.

Bender, now a $125-a-day clean-up man for the scandal - scarred union, swore to the Senate Rackets Committee that the charges contained in two affidavits were untrue.

He also thundered "nonsense" to testimony that the union s state leaders tried to raise a fund to quash contempt proceedings against two of them by a House racketeering investigating subcommittee which Bender then headed.

The rotund Bender, a House member at the time, insisted to the committee that he got no labor support in his successful 1954 bid for the Senate seat of former Cleveland Mayor Thomas Burke, an interim Senate appointee.

But Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy promptly produced affidavits by two Cincinnati Teamster officials. They swore that Ohio Teamsters boss William Presser announced the union's switch to Bender at an October, 1954, meeting of the union's state high command.

Bender also denied that his campaign finance committee received any union money in 1954. Kennedy said the committee reported total contributions of $86,966, but failed to report $108,996 deposited to its account after the election.

Kennedy conceded that he did not know if any of the funds came from union sources.

The angry Bender, who was defeated in his 1956 bid for re-election, appeared before the committee at his own request to answer what he said was "innuendo" by a Cincinnati Teamster about his 1954 House investigation of labor racketeering.

House Committee Approves Bond Interest Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee handed President Eisenhower a major fiscal victory Wednesday by voting 10-7 to grant his request for authority to raise interest rates on government bonds.

The legislation would retain the present legal ceilings on interest, but allow the President to ignore them whenever he found "the national interest requires it."

The present ceilings are 4.25 per cent on big marketable government bonds sold to large-scale investors and 3.25 per cent on savings bonds purchased by millions of Americans through payroll witholding plans.

The authority to ignore the ceilings would be granted for only two years under the committee bill.

Kozlov Cameramen Miss Little On Chicago Tour

CHICAGO (AP)—Soviet cameramen with First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov had a field day Wednesday photographing strategic Chicago industrial areas and one solitary, squalid little slum.

Two newsreel and one still photographer rode in a convertible with its top down. From this vantage point their lenses had a full sweep of everything in sight.

On the long ride from Chicago's Midway Airport to the Inland Steel Co. in East Chicago, Ind., the three kept their cameras idle all through a heavily populated area of neat middle-class homes.

But they were extremely busy in areas of power plants, bridges, railroad yards, intersecting highways, lake shipping centers and transmission towers.

This is the sort of film usually collected by military intelligence, but with much greater difficulty. State Department security people on the trip did not interfere.

When the motorcade pulled into the area of the Inland Steel Co. the two newsreel cameramen turned their cameras on a small run-down slum and young, half-dressed Negro children.

Kozlov, fresh from Detroit and a sharp brush with Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams, arrived in a chartered plane at Midway Airport at 10:15 a.m.

At the Detroit airport he had his first opportunity to reply to Gov. Williams' version of their private discussion Tuesday night. He said Williams was all wrong about Communist domination in East Europe. Kozlov said the people of the Eastern European states chose the Communist form of government for themselves.

Apathy Gets Blame In Polio Outbreak

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A drive against public indifference to check a serious outbreak of polio in the Des Moines area was under way Wednesday.

Three more confirmed cases of polio were reported, bringing to 70 the number of known afflicted persons. Of the total 61 are Des Moines residents and 9 live in Polk County.

Dr. Edmund G. Zimmerer, state health commissioner, said, "The whole thing can be laid to the apathy of the people. Last year we were destroying vaccine because it became outdated. Now everyone wants it."

Outside of Polk County only 17 cases of polio have been reported so far this year.

U.S. Will Pull 200 Bombers Out Of France

PARIS (AP)—The United States decided Wednesday to put four of its French air bases in mothballs and remove all 200 of its fighter-bombers to Britain and West Germany.

The decision, distasteful to the United States, was taken because President Charles de Gaulle refuses to let atomic weapons into France unless they come under French control.

About 6,000 airmen from the four U.S. bases near the German frontier will be removed.

The decision of the Allied supreme commander in Europe, Gen. Lauris Norstad, was made official in order to get the family quarrel settled before the Western Big Three foreign ministers resume their talks with the Soviet Union in Geneva Monday.

While the American decision is firm, the question will still be subject to discussion by the North Atlantic Council — on which representatives of all the NATO powers sit equally. A French change of mind could alter the American decision.

The transfer of planes and men will start within two weeks and be completed this fall. Some technical details remain to be settled with the British and West Germans but both powers offered no objection to having the planes based on their fields — where U.S. atomic stockpiles are close at hand.

The shift brought criticism from both British and West German Socialists.

British Laborites in the House of Commons cried "Shame" when Britain's agreement to receive part of the fighter-bombers was announced. They object to having more planes with atomic capability on British soil.

In Bonn, Deputy Socialist Leader Fritz Erler criticized the West German government for agreeing to the transfer. He said the move is not a strengthening of West German security, but an additional danger.

The French government accepted the news without official comment. De Gaulle and his top ministers are touring in Madagascar.

Pearl Harbor Salutes Japanese Warships

HONOLULU (AP) — Six Japanese warships sailed into Pearl Harbor Wednesday on a good will and training mission. There were two destroyers and four frigates.

Guns of the visiting ships boomed salutes just before entering the harbor.

Excursion Boat Blast Kills 44

34 Survive Danish Disaster

HADERSLEV, Denmark (AP)—An explosion and fire Wednesday flashed through an excursion boat loaded with a happy singing picnic crowd. Early Thursday police said 44 persons were known dead.

Some of the victims died in the blast and fire. Others drowned in the sun-drenched waters of a Haderslev park lake in this southern Jutland resort area.

Many persons were hospitalized with burns and other injuries, but their number and the total number of those who had been aboard was not known. Police sources said there were 34 known survivors.

First reports had said about 50 persons were aboard the 45-foot craft, returning from woodland picnics near the lake west of town. But with the number of dead and injured going far beyond that total, authorities said the boat apparently was loaded beyond its authorized capacity.

Some survivors said the explosion occurred after a makeshift gas line was put in operation to replace a line that had become blocked. There was no official confirmation and police said they had been unable to question the captain because he was among the seriously injured.

The victims were believed to be all Danes or Germans. This sleepy little town in southern Denmark is 30 miles north of the German border.

Several children were reported among the dead. Witnesses said they saw women screaming and leaping from the burning boat with youngsters in their arms.

Panic swept the vessel after the blast shattered the engine room and sent flames licking quickly through the boat.

Firemen plunged into the water around the boat and swam about to direct the work of other firefighters who played water on the flames from the shore.

Hans Riistofte, captain-owner of the boat, grounded the vessel on a beach bordering the lake in this south Jutland resort area. He was hospitalized with severe burns.

Ten persons—some of them dead and some unconscious—were washed ashore about a half hour after the fire started. About 10 charred bodies were found in the wreckage by firemen. Frogman had recovered three bodies from the lake.

Prelate In Hospital

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston entered St. Elizabeth's Hospital Wednesday in need of a complete rest recommended by Dr. Richard H. Wright. The 63-year-old prelate's condition was reported to be complicated by a painful attack of shingles and an asthmatic condition which made breathing difficult.

Man Surrenders In Hit-Run Death Five Years Ago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Practically the only thing Edmond O'Brien had left Wednesday was his conscience. He had lost his job, his wife, his children and his self respect, all because he lost his courage.

O'Brien moved to make amends when he entered traffic court on his own free will Tuesday and told Judge Emmett Morrissey that he killed James Adamczyk, 13, in a hit and run accident five years ago.

Police charged O'Brien with reckless homicide, negligent driving, leaving the scene of an accident and failure to make an accident report. The case was continued to July 24.

Bunche And Son Barred By All-White Tennis Club

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Ralph Bunche, Negro Nobel Prize winning diplomat, disclosed Wednesday he and his son have been denied membership in the all-white West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, where Negro Althea Gibson twice won the women's national singles tennis championship.

The 54-year-old United Nations undersecretary, who several years ago refused appointment as undersecretary of state because of racial segregation in Washington, D. C., said he thought the rest of the nation should know about this "bigotry" in New York City.

He said that last April, his 15-year-old son, Ralph Jr., began taking tennis lessons from the club's pro, George Agutter. He said Agutter suggested young Bunche should join the club, which was within walking distance of the Bunche home, so he could play whenever he wished.

The father said he telephoned Wilfred Burglund, club president, and asked about joining. Burglund told him, Bunche said, that membership was by invitation only and that both Negroes and Jews were barred.

He quoted Burglund as saying membership had nothing to do with the National Lawn Tennis Association's championship matches, which are held at the West Side club every year. Althea Gibson became the first Negro to win a national championship in 1957 and recaptured the woman's title in 1958.

Burglund was not immediately available for comment on Bunche's statements.

New Efforts For Deeper Slash Fail

3.5 Billion Dollar Measure Passed By 65 To 26 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Wednesday night passed a pared down $3,543,320,000 foreign aid bill after rejecting all new efforts to slash deeper the overseas spending authority President Eisenhower asked.

However, it let stand 383½ million dollars in cuts voted Tuesday night. The final total was below the $3,909,400,000 the President asked but above the $3,542,600,000 voted by the House.

The roll call vote on passage was 65-26.

The Senate acted under the shadow of a broad hint earlier in the day from Eisenhower that if his foreign aid authority was cut too deeply he might call Congress back into special session later this year to consider hiking it.

Johnson Helps Republicans

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, opposed by a majority of his fellow Democrats, helped the Republicans fight back all new efforts to cut the aid bill in the final hours of voting.

As finally passed, the measure provides $1,300,000,000 for military arms to aid the free world allies and 751½ million in defense economic supports to help them feed, clothe and maintain their troops. The remainder of the $3,543,320,000 is for various forms of economic aid.

The military arms aid authority was 300 million dollars under Eisenhower's request and the defense economic supports 83½ million below it.

Conference Necessary

Before the measure goes to Eisenhower, the Senate and House will have to get together on their differing bills. There are differences in a number of provisions. In addition, the actual money must be provided in a separate bill.

Johnson told his colleagues they should not gamble with the nation's future and should refuse to make any more cuts in the bill.

Urging the Republicans to "rally their troops as a body," Johnson said he hoped many Democrats who felt as he did would join in defeating any further slashes.

Eisenhower's comments, made at his news conference, followed Tuesday night's vote to slice 383½ million dollars from the House-passed measure. The cutback was supported by some Democrats who in past years have supported foreign aid requests solidly.

Treasury Pays Highest Interest Rate Since 1921

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced Wednesday night it will pay the highest interest rate in 38 years—nearly 4¾ per cent—on a new one-year borrowing of two billion dollars.

Not since Sept. 15, 1921, has the government had to pay an interest charge of this magnitude. At that time it paid five per cent to borrow money for six months.

The two billion dollars will be borrowed through the issuance next Wednesday of one-year bills.

Lenders set the yield on these securities Wednesday by bidding for them at less than face value. The discount from face value represents the effective rate of interest.

The bids accepted produced an average interest rate on the bills of 4.728 per cent.

Bids for $3,172,000,000 worth of the new bills were submitted. However, the Treasury accepted only enough of the highest bids to bring in the amount it wanted to borrow.

The last time the Treasury issued a one-year security, in May, it offered a rate of 4.05 per cent.

Interest rates have climbed steadily since then. The advance has stemmed from increased business and government demands for cash and from credit restrictions by monetary authorities.

Record Heat Wave Engulfing Europe

LONDON (AP) — A record-breaking heat wave spread over Europe Wednesday.

Temperatures in some southern British resorts topped 100 degrees and the rest of the county sweltered in the 80s and 90s.

In Continental Europe the heat wave of the past two weeks is getting hotter and drought threatens the harvest.

Cognac was the hottest town in France, 96.8. Paris had 92.5.

Kozlov Cameramen Miss Little On Chicago Tour

CHICAGO (AP)—Soviet cameramen with First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov had a field day Wednesday photographing strategic Chicago industrial areas and one solitary, squalid little slum.

Two newsreel and one still photographer rode in a convertible with its top down. From this vantage point their lenses had a full sweep of everything in sight.

On the long ride from Chicago's Midway Airport to the Inland Steel Co. in East Chicago, Ind., the three kept their cameras idle all through a heavily populated area of neat middle-class homes.

But they were extremely busy in areas of power plants, bridges, railroad yards, intersecting highways, lake shipping centers and transmission towers.

This is the sort of film usually collected by military intelligence, but with much greater difficulty. State Department security people on the trip did not interfere.

When the motorcade pulled into the area of the Inland Steel Co. the two newsreel cameramen turned their cameras on a small run-down slum and young, half-dressed Negro children.

Kozlov, fresh from Detroit and a sharp brush with Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams, arrived in a chartered plane at Midway Airport at 10:15 a.m.

At the Detroit airport he had his first opportunity to reply to Gov. Williams' version of their private discussion Tuesday night. He said Williams was all wrong about Communist domination in East Europe. Kozlov said the people of the Eastern European states chose the Communist form of government for themselves.

Apathy Gets Blame In Polio Outbreak

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A drive against public indifference to check a serious outbreak of polio in the Des Moines area was under way Wednesday.

Three more confirmed cases of polio were reported, bringing to 70 the number of known afflicted persons. Of the total 61 are Des Moines residents and 9 live in Polk County.

Dr. Edmund G. Zimmerer, state health commissioner, said, "The whole thing can be laid to the apathy of the people. Last year we were destroying vaccine because it became outdated. Now everyone wants it."

Outside of Polk County only 17 cases of polio have been reported so far this year.

U.S. Will Pull 200 Bombers Out Of France

PARIS (AP)—The United States decided Wednesday to put four of its French air bases in mothballs and remove all 200 of its fighter-bombers to Britain and West Germany.

The decision, distasteful to the United States, was taken because President Charles de Gaulle refuses to let atomic weapons into France unless they come under French control.

About 6,000 airmen from the four U.S. bases near the German frontier will be removed.

The decision of the Allied supreme commander in Europe, Gen. Lauris Norstad, was made official in order to get the family quarrel settled before the Western Big Three foreign ministers resume their talks with the Soviet Union in Geneva Monday.

While the American decision is firm, the question will still be subject to discussion by the North Atlantic Council — on which representatives of all the NATO powers sit equally. A French change of mind could alter the American decision.

The transfer of planes and men will start within two weeks and be completed this fall. Some technical details remain to be settled with the British and West Germans but both powers offered no objection to having the planes based on their fields — where U.S. atomic stockpiles are close at hand.

The shift brought criticism from both British and West German Socialists.

British Laborites in the House of Commons cried "Shame" when Britain's agreement to receive part of the fighter-bombers was announced. They object to having more planes with atomic capability on British soil.

In Bonn, Deputy Socialist Leader Fritz Erler criticized the West German government for agreeing to the transfer. He said the move is not a strengthening of West German security, but an additional danger.

The French government accepted the news without official comment. De Gaulle and his top ministers are touring in Madagascar.

Pearl Harbor Salutes Japanese Warships

HONOLULU (AP) — Six Japanese warships sailed into Pearl Harbor Wednesday on a good will and training mission. There were two destroyers and four frigates.

Guns of the visiting ships boomed salutes just before entering the harbor.

Excursion Boat Blast Kills 44

34 Survive Danish Disaster

HADERSLEV, Denmark (AP)—An explosion and fire Wednesday flashed through an excursion boat loaded with a happy singing picnic crowd. Early Thursday police said 44 persons were known dead.

Some of the victims died in the blast and fire. Others drowned in the sun-drenched waters of a Haderslev park lake in this southern Jutland resort area.

Many persons were hospitalized with burns and other injuries,but their number and the total number of those who had been aboard was not known. Police sources said there were 34 known survivors.

First reports had said about 50 persons were aboard the 45-foot craft, returning from woodland picnics near the lake west of town. But with the number of dead and injured going far beyond that total, authorities said the boat apparently was loaded beyond its authorized capacity.

Some survivors said the explosion occurred after a makeshift gas line was put in operation to replace a line that had become blocked. There was no official confirmation and police said they had been unable to question the captain because he was among the seriously injured.

The victims were believed to be all Danes or Germans. This sleepy little town in southern Denmark is 30 miles north of the German border.

Several children were reported among the dead. Witnesses said they saw women screaming and leaping from the burning boat with youngsters in their arms.

Panic swept the vessel after the blast shattered the engine room and sent flames licking quickly through the boat.

Firemen plunged into the water around the boat and swam about to direct the work of other firefighters who played water on the flames from the shore.

Hans Riistofte, captain-owner of the boat, grounded the vessel on a beach bordering the lake in this south Jutland resort area. He was hospitalized with severe burns.

Ten persons—some of them dead and some unconscious—were washed ashore about a half hour after the fire started. About 10 charred bodies were found in the wreckage by firemen. Frogman had recovered three bodies from the lake.

Prelate In Hospital

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston entered St. Elizabeth's Hospital Wednesday in need of a complete rest recommended by Dr. Richard H. Wright. The 63-year-old prelate's condition was reported to be complicated by a painful attack of shingles and an asthmatic condition which made breathing difficult.

Man Surrenders In Hit-Run Death Five Years Ago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Practically the only thing Edmond O'Brien had left Wednesday was his conscience. He had lost his job, his wife, his children and his self respect, all because he lost his courage.

O'Brien moved to make amends when he entered traffic court on his own free will Tuesday and told Judge Emmett Morrissey that he killed James Adamczyk, 13, in a hit and run accident five years ago.

Police charged O'Brien with reckless homicide, negligent driving, leaving the scene of an accident and failure to make an accident report. The case was continued to July 24.

Bunche And Son Barred By All-White Tennis Club

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Ralph Bunche, Negro Nobel Prize winning diplomat, disclosed Wednesday he and his son have been denied membership in the all-white West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, where Negro Althea Gibson twice won the women's national singles tennis championship.

The 54-year-old United Nations undersecretary, who several years ago refused appointment as undersecretary of state because of racial segregation in Washington, D. C., said he thought the rest of the nation should know about this "bigotry" in New York City.

He said that last April, his 15-year-old son, Ralph Jr., began taking tennis lessons from the club's pro, George Agutter. He said Agutter suggested young Bunche should join the club, which was within walking distance of the Bunche home, so he could play whenever he wished.

The father said he telephoned Wilfred Burglund, club president, and asked about joining. Burglund told him, Bunche said, that membership was by invitation only and that both Negroes and Jews were barred.

He quoted Burglund as saying membership had nothing to do with the National Lawn Tennis Association's championship matches, which are held at the West Side club every year. Althea Gibson became the first Negro to win a national championship in 1957 and recaptured the woman's title in 1958.

Burglund was not immediately available for comment on Bunche's statements.

New Efforts For Deeper Slash Fail

3.5 Billion Dollar Measure Passed By 65 To 26 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Wednesday night passed a pared down $3,543,320,000 foreign aid bill after rejecting all new efforts to slash deeper the overseas spending authority President Eisenhower asked.

However, it let stand 383½ million dollars in cuts voted Tuesday night. The final total was below the $3,909,400,000 the President asked but above the $3,542,600,000 voted by the House.

The roll call vote on passage was 65-26.

The Senate acted under the shadow of a broad hint earlier in the day from Eisenhower that if his foreign aid authority was cut too deeply he might call Congress back into special session later this year to consider hiking it.

Johnson Helps Republicans

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, opposed by a majority of his fellow Democrats, helped the Republicans fight back all new efforts to cut the aid bill in the final hours of voting.

As finally passed, the measure provides $1,300,000,000 for military arms to aid the free world allies and 751½ million in defense economic supports to help them feed, clothe and maintain their troops. The remainder of the $3,543,320,000 is for various forms of economic aid.

The military arms aid authority was 300 million dollars under Eisenhower's request and the defense economic supports 83½ million below it.

Conference Necessary

Before the measure goes to Eisenhower, the Senate and House will have to get together on their differing bills. There are differences in a number of provisions. In addition, the actual money must be provided in a separate bill.

Johnson told his colleagues they should not gamble with the nation's future and should refuse to make any more cuts in the bill.

Urging the Republicans to "rally their troops as a body," Johnson said he hoped many Democrats who felt as he did would join in defeating any further slashes.

Eisenhower's comments, made at his news conference, followed Tuesday night's vote to slice 383½ million dollars from the House-passed measure. The cutback was supported by some Democrats who in past years have supported foreign aid requests solidly.

Treasury Pays Highest Interest Rate Since 1921

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury announced Wednesday night it will pay the highest interest rate in 38 years—nearly 4¼ per cent—on a new one-year borrowing of two billion dollars.

Not since Sept. 15, 1921, has the government had to pay an interest charge of this magnitude. At that time it paid five per cent to borrow money for six months.

The two billion dollars will be borrowed through the issuance next Wednesday of one-year bills.

Lenders set the yield on these securities Wednesday by bidding for them at less than face value. The discount from face value represents the effective rate of interest.

The bids accepted produced an average interest rate on the bills of 4.728 per cent.

Bids for $3,172,000,000 worth of the new bills were submitted. However, the Treasury accepted only enough of the highest bids to bring in the amount it wanted to borrow.

The last time the Treasury issued a one-year security, in May, it offered a rate of 4.05 per cent.

Interest rates have climbed steadily since then. The advance has stemmed from increased business and government demands for cash and from credit restrictions by monetary authorities.

Record Heat Wave Engulfing Europe

LONDON (AP) — A record-breaking heat wave spread over Europe Wednesday.

Temperatures in some southern British resorts topped 100 degrees and the rest of the county sweltered in the 80s and 90s.

In Continental Europe the heat wave of the past two weeks is getting hotter and drought threatens the harvest.

Cognac was the hottest town in France, 96.8. Paris had 92.5.

Khrushchev Bit Of Alley Fighter, Governors Say

Visitors Impressed By Debating Skill

MOSCOW (AP) — Seven U.S. governors came away from a give-and-take discussion with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev impressed by his debating skill, his knowledge and his toughness.

"He is able to deal with you at any level — at the highest or in street fighting," said Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols of Colorado. "Back home we would say he is a good alley fighter."

The conversation in Khrushchev's office Tuesday lasted nearly four hours and produced no new positions from Khrushchev on current international sore spots. It was the high point of the governors' three-week tour of the Soviet Union.

Newsmen were barred from the meeting. The governors told about it Wednesday after conferring among themselves.

Describing the United States as the biggest and strongest nation in the world, Khrushchev told the governors that "if there is friendship between us, there can never be war." He also appealed for Soviet-American cooperation to help backward nations advance economically.

He foresaw worldwide catastrophe if the two nations go to war "because if we fight, no force on earth can halt us."

Turning to specific international problems, Khrushchev stood fast on Soviet demands for the Western Allies to get out of Berlin. He also repeated his appeal for recognition of Communist East Germany as well as the West German regime in Bonn.

The governors spoke freely with Khrushchev at his request. McNichols later told newsmen the Soviet leader had an advantage in piling one debating point on another while "we would have to wait with our comments and we never got a full opportunity to go back and straighten out the record."

But Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, chairman of the U.S. Governors Conference and spokesman for the group, got back at the Soviet Premier for berating Americans as too dollar-hungry.

"While Americans do like to make money," Collins said, "there are other things closer to them — love of family, love of home, freedom and liberty. They love these far beyond the dollar."

Khrushchev was silent for a moment and replied in a low voice: "Perhaps we do not have enough understanding of each other."

Cornerstone Laid For Huge SS Building

BALTIMORE (AP) — A cornerstone with a time capsule was laid Wednesday for a building which will house the work histories of 130 million Americans.

Arthur S. Flemming, U. S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, applied the mortar as the large block of polished Michigan limestone was lowered into place in the massive Social Security headquarters building on the western outskirts of the city.

Work was begun in 1957 on the 10-story, 31-million-dollar building. When completed early next year it will be the biggest federal structure in the country outside the Washington metropolitan area.

The stone was engraved in gold leaf with the names of President Eisenhower, the United States of America and the year 1957. Flemming called it "a cornerstone of the government's program to promote the economic security of the individual."

A stainless steel time capsule at the base of the cornerstone contained microfilm records of historical documents, tape recordings and a sound film of President Franklin D. Roosevelt delivering a message to Americans in August, 1935, when he signed the original Social Security Act.

Also in the capsule were microfilm still pictures of President Harry S. Truman and President Eisenhower signing amendments to the law and a microfilm description of the mechanized and electronic accounting methods used to keep the Social Security records now scattered through a dozen buildings in the city.

Reform School Trio Will Face Kidnap Charge

GRAFTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Three teen-age boys who forced the secretary of the West Virginia boys reformatory to help them escape Tuesday were ordered held for the Taylor County grand jury Wednesday on kidnaping and grand larceny charges.

Magistrate W. C. Lawson remanded the trio back to jail here without bond.

The accused — Larry Anthony Rector and Roger Lee Moore, both 16, and Patrick A. Jarrell, 17, were captured within a few hours. The secretary, Sandra McKeen, 18, Grafton, was rescued unharmed.

Supt. Richard L. Young of the Pruntytown reformatory said the three toughs approached Miss McKeen as she was returning from lunch Tuesday and forced her at knife point to drive them north in her car. Two of the youths were captured near Reader, Wetzel County. The other was taken into custody a short time later south of New Martinsville.

Long Reaffirms Plans For Trip

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Ailing Gov. Earl K. Long Wednesday reaffirmed his plans for a long vacation trip through the West and into Canada. He hopes to leave Friday, his health permitting.

The announcement came as a five-man team of physicians prepared to examine anew the governor's mind and body. Both have been taxed in recent weeks.

The 63-year-old Long has been talking for some time of a vacation trek out of the state. His office said he expects to be gone several weeks, but that no detailed advance itinerary will be announced.

Long was released June 26 after nearly a month in mental institutions in Texas and Louisiana. Five days later he suffered what was described as mild heart failure. His heart had been previously damaged in a 1950 attack.

Despite his ailments, the governor insisted on undertaking a 300-mile Fourth of July barnstorming tour from one corner of the state to another to open his campaign for re-election.

The stump tour left Long in a state of near exhaustion, although Wednesday his doctors reported him "a little stronger and more alert than yesterday."

Bridges Protested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said Wednesday Vice President Richard M. Nixon had proposed bringing Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov on the Senate floor during a recent visit to the Capitol. But the plan was dropped, Johnson said, after Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, voiced strong objections.

$140,000 Holdup

SHEFFIELD, England (AP)—Robbers snatched $140,000 from a bank car in a daring daylight holdup here Wednesday. Four unmasked men in a fast car crowded the bank automobile on to a sidewalk, smashed the glass windows, beat up three bank guards with blackjacks and threw the money to accomplices in a truck.

Change To METO?

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—The Baghdad Pact soon will have a new name. The anti-Communist alliance's member governments—Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan—probably will decide on its new designation within the next few months. It will be announced before the meeting of the pact's Council of Ministers in Washington next October. Most probable choice: Middle East Treaty Organization—METO.

Cuban Fugitive Revealed In U.S.

MIAMI (UPI)—Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, who resigned as commander of Cuba's Air Force, has entered the United States as a resident alien.

Diaz, object of a search by Cuban authorities in Cuba who branded him a traitor, arrived here with his wife in a small boat July 1. U.S. immigration authorities kept his presence here a secret until Wednesday.

Edward P. Ahrens, district immigration supervisor, said, "following examination yesterday (Tuesday) he has been admitted as a resident alien and she (his wife) has been paroled. He has requested that his whereabouts not be revealed at this time."

Ahrens refused to say anymore about the case. It was not known if Diaz was still in Miami.

Diaz' resignation as chief of the Air Force was announced June 30 in a letter to Cuban President Manuel Urrutia. He told the President in the letter that Red elements used pressure to carry out "a determined plan of indoctrination" among military officers in Havana.

Diaz was immediately replaced by Maj. Juan Almeida. A few hours after he took office, Almeida ordered Diaz arrested. He accused Diaz of desertion, treason, robbery and dealing with supporters of former Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

A search was launched for Diaz but it was reported he had gone underground and fled the country. His whereabouts was a mystery since that time.

Private Bill Gives German Citizenship

BALTIMORE (AP) — A tall, blond German from a Washington suburb became a citizen of the United States in a few minutes Wednesday, thanks to a rare assist from Congress and the President.

Uwe-Thorsten Scobel, 22, of Hyattsville, Md., recently was graduated from the University of Maryland, where he completed an ROTC course and won awards for leadership. But he was not able to accept his commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force because his five-year waiting period for citizenship was not over until next year.

At the request of Scobel's stepfather, Kenneth Hardin, U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall introduced a bill in Congress waiving the five-year requirement. It was passed and President Eisenhower signed it three days ago.

Immigration officials in Baltimore said it was the first instance they knew of that such a private bill had been passed.

Scobel, born in Berlin, was given the oath of allegiance to the United States by U. S. District Court Clerk Fred W. Butschky in the private chambers of Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen.

Scobel hopes to become a pilot and expects to go to a training camp within a few weeks.

Car Blows Tire, Upsets; Girl Killed

SALISBURY (AP) — A 1959 convertible blew a rear tire and overturned on U. S. 50 Wednesday, killing an 18-year-old Baltimore County girl and injuring her three young companions.

State Police said the victim, Charlotte Gauss of Arbutus, was pinned beneath the car when it ran off the highway and overturned near Hebron, about six miles west of here.

Miss Gauss was pronounced dead on arrival at Peninsula General Hospital.

Taken to the same hospital with minor injuries were Bonita Mason, 19, of Baltimore, Frances Core, 22, of Glen Burnie and Eugena Gail Jackson, 19, of Middle River.

Funds For Fairchild F-27s Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Committee on Appropriations has recommended 11 million dollars for the Fairchild company at Hagerstown, Md., for manufacture of its F-27 airplane, Sen. Beall (R-Md.) announced Wednesday.

Fairchild began delivering the F-27, the first twin propjet transport built in the United States, in 1958. The plane was designed by the Fokker Aircraft Co. of Amsterdam and developed by Fairchild.

Canadian Tanker

OTTAWA (AP) — A 22,000-ton tanker, largest ship ever operated by the Canadian navy, will go under construction this year to support Canada's destroyer escort squadrons and increase their range. Defense Production Minister Raymond O'Hurley told the House of Commons the ship will cost 16 million dollars.

Mercury Astronauts Say Rigorous Training "Fun"

LANGLEY RESEARCH CENTER, Va. (UPI)—America's astronauts are bearing up well after four months of rigorous and weird training for one of the most rigorous adventures man has been called on to undertake.

The seven trainees—candidates for a trip into outer space—say they not only feel fine, but are having "a lot of fun."

The astronauts met newsmen again Tuesday for the second time since they were introduced to the public last April. The briefing took place at this 710-acre, 150-million dollar space research center near Hampton, Va., where the astronauts are training.

The men, crack military pilots ranging in age from 32 to 37, now know how it feels to experience the eerie conditions that would confront them as space travelers.

They have been subjected to zero gravity and the accompanying condition of weightlessness when the body loses all its moorings and tumbles ludicrously in the air.

They also know the opposite—the pull of the centrifuge which spins them widly at high speeds and subjects them to 25 times the pull of normal gravity.

They have undergone other extremes—that of the ocean's pressure deep underwater and of the laboratory pressure chamber.

They have been quizzed, put through exhausting medical studies, subjected to innumerable scientific lectures and watched like so many laboratory specimens.

But the astronauts — bronzed, lean, keen-eyed and to all outward appearances happy — say they have no regrets that they volunteered.

One day, about two years hence, one of them will be selected to make the first journey. He can hope to return safely only if a multitude of operations and gadgets work as planned.

Langley, seen by reporters and photographers for the first time, is a complex of wind tunnels, laboratories, and shops where 3,300 persons are devoting a good part of their time to the 200-million dollar Mercury Project.

But according to the project director, a naturally conservative 45-year-old named Robert R. Gilruth, "We have no accomplishments to report—just plans and first steps." Nevertheless, Mercury has:

—The almost fully developed capsule which will carry an astronaut into air-conditioned comfort around the earth, perhaps some time in 1961.

—Booster rockets "in the pipeline." These include "Little Joe," which late this fall will hurl a chimpanzee into space from Wallops Island, Va., to test the capsule's escape and recovery mechanisms.

—Escape equipment to enable the astronaut to separate his capsule from the booster if anything should go wrong during launching or the first few minutes afterward.

Pair Charged With Trying To Bribe Detective

BALTIMORE (AP)—The grand jury charged two representatives of a home improvement company Wednesday with trying to bribe a detective investigating their concern.

William Pearlman, an official of the company, and Jerome Glass, a salesman, were released in $5,000 bond on the charges. Glass is a former Baltimore city policeman.

They are accused of attempting to bribe Detective Patrolman Howard Buhl. He is on a staff of the state's attorney which has been investigating home improvement and financing practices for a year.

The alleged bribe took place Monday outside a downtown theater. Police said Buhl was telephoned an offer by a representative of the company to give him some information.

Buhl and another investigator went to a rendezvous with the caller. The detective was handed an envelope. Instead of information, it contained $1,000.

Other police standing by on an advance tip moved in.

Khrushchev Bit Of Alley Fighter, Governors Say

The stone was engraved in gold leaf with the names of President Eisenhower, the United States of America and the year 1957. Flemming called it "a cornerstone of the government's program to promote the economic security of the individual."

A stainless steel time capsule at the base of the cornerstone contained microfilm records of historical documents, tape recordings and a sound film of President Franklin D. Roosevelt delivering a message to Americans in August, 1935, when he signed the original Social Security Act.

Also in the capsule were microfilm still pictures of President Harry S. Truman and President Eisenhower signing amendments to the law and a microfilm description of the mechanized and electronic accounting methods used to keep the Social Security records now scattered through a dozen buildings in the city.

Reform School Trio Will Face Kidnap Charge

GRAFTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Three teen-age boys who forced the secretary of the West Virginia boys reformatory to help them escape Tuesday were ordered held for the Taylor County grand jury Wednesday on kidnaping and grand larceny charges.

Magistrate W. C. Lawson remanded the trio back to jail here without bond.

The accused — Larry Anthony Rector and Roger Lee Moore, both 16, and Patrick A. Jarrell, 17, were captured within a few hours. The secretary, Sandra McKeen, 18, Grafton, was rescued unharmed.

Supt. Richard L. Young of the Pruntytown reformatory said the three toughs approached Miss McKeen as she was returning from lunch Tuesday and forced her at knife point to drive them north in her car. Two of the youths were captured near Reader, Wetzel County. The other was taken into custody a short time later south of New Martinsville.

Cuban Fugitive Revealed In U.S.

MIAMI (UPI)—Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, who resigned as commander of Cuba's Air Force, has entered the United States as a resident alien.

Diaz, object of a search by Cuban authorities in Cuba who branded him a traitor, arrived here with his wife in a small boat July 1. U.S. immigration authorities kept his presence here a secret until Wednesday.

Edward P. Ahrens, district immigration supervisor, said, "following examination yesterday (Tuesday) he has been admitted as a resident alien and she (his wife) has been paroled. He has requested that his whereabouts not be revealed at this time."

Ahrens refused to say anymore about the case. It was not known if Diaz was still in Miami.

Diaz' resignation as chief of the Air Force was announced June 30 in a letter to Cuban President Manuel Urrutia. He told the President in the letter that Red elements used pressure to carry out "a determined plan of indoctrination" among military officers in Havana.

Diaz was immediately replaced by Maj. Juan Almeida. A few hours after he took office, Almeida ordered Diaz arrested. He accused Diaz of desertion, treason, robbery and dealing with supporters of former Cuban President Fulgencio Batista.

A search was launched for Diaz but it was reported he had gone underground and fled the country. His whereabouts was a mystery since that time.

Private Bill Gives German Citizenship

BALTIMORE (AP) — A tall, blond German from a Washington suburb became a citizen of the United States in a few minutes Wednesday, thanks to a rare assist from Congress and the President.

Uwe-Thorsten Scobel, 22, of Hyattsville, Md., recently was graduated from the University of Maryland, where he completed an ROTC course and won awards for leadership. But he was not able to accept his commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force because his five-year waiting period for citizenship was not over until next year.

At the request of Scobel's stepfather, Kenneth Hardin, U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall introduced a bill in Congress waiving the five-year requirement. It was passed and President Eisenhower signed it three days ago.

Immigration officials in Baltimore said it was the first instance they knew of that such a private bill had been passed.

Scobel, born in Berlin, was given the oath of allegiance to the United States by U. S. District Court Clerk Fred W. Butschky in the private chambers of Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomsen.

Scobel hopes to become a pilot and expects to go to a training camp within a few weeks.

Car Blows Tire, Upsets; Girl Killed

SALISBURY (AP) — A 1959 convertible blew a rear tire and overturned on U. S. 50 Wednesday, killing an 18-year-old Baltimore County girl and injuring her three young companions.

State Police said the victim, Charlotte Gauss of Arbutus, was pinned beneath the car when it ran off the highway and overturned near Hebron, about six miles west of here.

Miss Gauss was pronounced dead on arrival at Peninsula General Hospital.

Taken to the same hospital with minor injuries were Bonita Mason, 19, of Baltimore, Frances Core, 22, of Glen Burnie and Eugena Gail Jackson, 19, of Middle River.

Funds For Fairchild F-27s Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Committee on Appropriations has recommended 11 million dollars for the Fairchild company at Hagerstown, Md., for manufacture of its F-27 airplane, Sen. Beall (R-Md.) announced Wednesday.

Fairchild began delivering the F-27, the first twin propjet transport built in the United States, in 1958. The plane was designed by the Fokker Aircraft Co. of Amsterdam and developed by Fairchild.

Canadian Tanker

OTTAWA (AP) — A 22,000-ton tanker, largest ship ever operated by the Canadian navy, will go under construction this year to support Canada's destroyer escort squadrons and increase their range. Defense Production Minister Raymond O'Hurley told the House of Commons the ship will cost 16 million dollars.

Mercury Astronauts Say Rigorous Training "Fun"

LANGLEY RESEARCH CENTER, Va. (UPI)—America's astronauts are bearing up well after four months of rigorous and weird training for one of the most rigorous adventures man has been called on to undertake.

The seven trainees—candidates for a trip into outer space—say they not only feel fine, but are having "a lot of fun."

The astronauts met newsmen again Tuesday for the second time since they were introduced to the public last April. The briefing took place at this 710-acre, 150-million dollar space research center near Hampton, Va., where the astronauts are training.

The men, crack military pilots ranging in age from 32 to 37, now know how it feels to experience the eerie conditions that would confront them as space travelers.

They have been subjected to zero gravity and the accompanying condition of weightlessness when the body loses all its moorings and tumbles ludicrously in the air.

They also know the opposite—the pull of the centrifuge which spins them widly at high speeds and subjects them to 25 times the pull of normal gravity.

They have undergone other extremes—that of the ocean's pressure deep underwater and of the laboratory pressure chamber.

They have been quizzed, put through exhausting medical studies, subjected to innumerable scientific lectures and watched like so many laboratory specimens.

But the astronauts — bronzed, lean, keen-eyed and to all outward appearances happy — say they have no regrets that they volunteered.

One day, about two years hence, one of them will be selected to make the first journey. He can hope to return safely only if a multitude of operations and gadgets work as planned.

Langley, seen by reporters and photographers for the first time, is a complex of wind tunnels, laboratories, and shops where 3,300 persons are devoting a good part of their time to the 200-million dollar Mercury Project.

But according to the project director, a naturally conservative 45-year-old named Robert R. Gilruth, "We have no accomplishments to report—just plans and first steps." Nevertheless, Mercury has:

—The almost fully developed capsule which will carry an astronaut into air-conditioned comfort around the earth, perhaps some time in 1961.

—Booster rockets "in the pipeline." These include "Little Joe," which late this fall will hurl a chimpanzee into space from Wallops Island, Va., to test the capsule's escape and recovery mechanisms.

—Escape equipment to enable the astronaut to separate his capsule from the booster if anything should go wrong during launching or the first few minutes afterward.

AFL-CIO Opens Drive For Labor Day Safety

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The AFL-CIO announced Wednesday a national drive to cut down the number of traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend.

Federation Vice President Richard F. Walsh, chairman of the AFL-CIO safety committee, asked all unions affiliated with the AFL-CIO to join the campaign.

"The campaign to reduce deaths and injuries on the highway will contribute immeasurably to the proper celebration of labor's holiday," Walsh said in a statement.

Long Reaffirms Plans For Trip

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Ailing Gov. Earl K. Long Wednesday reaffirmed his plans for a long vacation trip through the West and into Canada. He hopes to leave Friday, his health permitting.

The announcement came as a five-man team of physicians prepared to examine anew the governor's mind and body. Both have been taxed in recent weeks.

The 63-year-old Long has been talking for some time of a vacation trek out of the state. His office said he expects to be gone several weeks, but that no detailed advance itinerary will be announced.

Long was released June 26 after nearly a month in mental institutions in Texas and Louisiana. Five days later he suffered what was described as mild heart failure. His heart had been previously damaged in a 1950 attack.

Despite his ailments, the governor insisted on undertaking a 300-mile Fourth of July barnstorming tour from one corner of the state to another to open his campaign for re-election.

The stump tour left Long in a state of near exhaustion, although Wednesday his doctors reported him "a little stronger and more alert than yesterday."

Bridges Protested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said Wednesday Vice President Richard M. Nixon had proposed bringing Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov on the Senate floor during a recent visit to the Capitol. But the plan was dropped, Johnson said, after Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, voiced strong objections.

$140,000 Holdup

SHEFFIELD, England (AP)—Robbers snatched $140,000 from a bank car in a daring daylight holdup here Wednesday. Four unmasked men in a fast car crowded the bank automobile on to a sidewalk, smashed the glass windows, beat up three bank guards with blackjacks and threw the money to accomplices in a truck.

Change To METO?

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—The Baghdad Pact soon will have a new name. The anti-Communist alliance's member governments—Britain, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan—probably will decide on its new designation within the next few months. It will be announced before the meeting of the pact's Council of Ministers in Washington next October. Most probable choice: Middle East Treaty Organization—METO.

Pair Charged With Trying To Bribe Detective

BALTIMORE (AP)—The grand jury charged two representatives of a home improvement company Wednesday with trying to bribe a detective investigating their concern.

William Pearlman, an official of the company, and Jerome Glass, a salesman, were released in $5,000 bond on the charges. Glass is a former Baltimore city policeman.

They are accused of attempting to bribe Detective Patrolman Howard Buhl. He is on a staff of the state's attorney which has been investigating home improvement and financing practices for a year.

The alleged bribe took place Monday outside a downtown theater. Police said Buhl was telephoned an offer by a representative of the company to give him some information.

Buhl and another investigator went to a rendezvous with the caller. The detective was handed an envelope. Instead of information, it contained $1,000.

Other police standing by on an advance tip moved in.

AEC Cracks 'Dirty' H-Bomb Secrecy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission is starting to disclose some long-secret information on the "dirty" H-bomb. One scientist called the development "an information breakthrough."

For the first time since the big Bikini test explosion of March 1, 1954, the commission has admitted the existence of what long since has come to be known in non-official circles as the fission-fusion-fission bomb.

Since the Russians have never been known to make anything but dirty weapons, the importance to U. S. Civil Defense planning of new freedom of information is obvious.

From the standpoint of radioactive fallout, this country's Bikini bomb was perhaps the dirtiest nuclear weapon ever exploded. But the Russians came close to matching it in their tests last October.

It was the Bikini bomb which awakened the world to the fact that early fallout, contaminating the earth as far as 300 miles downwind of an explosion, might be the worst killer in a nuclear war.

It was apparent at the time that this weapon had something in it which made it far dirtier than an undoctored H-bomb should be. Scientists outside the government deduced that this something was the cheap and plentiful form of uranium called U-238.

For five years the AEC refused to confirm or even comment on this.

Then at congressional fallout hearings last May, an AEC staff member, Harold A. Knapp, confirmed officially that U-238 is, indeed, a major component of some high yield H-bombs. His statement, especially cleared for the hearings, went practically unnoticed at the time.

But had this one item not been declassified, it would have been difficult at that and later hearings to put in the public record new information about fallout which is expected to have considerable impact on Civil Defense plans.

In his testimony, Knapp said among other things that:

"In some high yield weapons a major fraction of the fissions is from U-238."

With that, U-238's contribution to dirty weapon fallout was in the record.

Long Drunk Cured

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI) — A farm association executive was pronounced cured Wednesday of a 20-year-old drunk, although he never touched alcohol. The executive is a 46-year-old native of Hokkaido identified only as "O." His trouble, Dr. Shuichi Sasaki of the Hokkaido University explained, was that his stomach was a distillery. It transformed everything he ate into alcohol.

VATICAN FRIEZE FALLS

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—A stone and chalk ornament weighing several hundred pounds fell from a Vatican building Wednesday and crashed in the Courtyard of San Damaso at the foot of the "noble stairs" leading to the papal chambers. "As American As Apple Pie" Cliche Exploded

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—One after another our beloved cliches prove to be not only tired but erroneous.

"It's like owning a gold mine," everybody once said. Now gold mine owners come to Congress and complain they're losing money.

"You're just shooting for the moon," we would say. Yet here our spacemen are, shooting at the moon, and with some hopes of hitting it.

But now comes the unkindest cut of all.

It has always seemed that when the last American entered the last diner his last order would be, "I'll take a piece of that apple pie." That overworked comparison, "as American as apple pie," looked as if it would last forever.

That's how it looked, too, to Richard Comstock, who cans pie fillings in Newark, N.Y.

Comstock decided it would be nice to send some of his prepared apples and pie crust mixes to the Moscow fair. These could be passed out to the Soviets to give them a better idea of how we live it up.

"Typically American," said Comstock of his dainties. "Deeply rooted in our tradition, folklore and history."

Well, he soon learned unofficially that the Soviets weren't too impressed. It seems that before the Pilgrims set out for New England the Soviets were making something called yablochnyi pirok, which vaguely resembles our apple pie.

Comstock doesn't know whether or not a man in Moscow, when he wishes to say that something is typical of his country, says, "why, it's as Russian as yablochnyi pirok."

But it doesn't take much research to show that we don't have a very exclusive hold on the apple.

It can't stand excessive heat or cold, but in temperate climates it probably is the most widely grown and best known fruit.

Yet much can be said for the distinctiveness of American apple pie.

Early settlers, having neither time nor resources for fancy fixings, turned naturally to apple pie.

Cherry pie is now traditionally associated with George Washington. But when Mrs. W. wanted to make a big splash at her first inaugural dinner, what did she serve? Something as American as apple pie.

At one time in our history, so Comstock says, apple pie was a sort of matrimonial broker.

If a young man started hanging around the log cabin, the young woman would bake an apple pie, her way of saying, "It's all right. You may court me."

If the young man dived in, smacking his lips, yummy, yummy, the great day was all but set. If he ate coldly, the girl began mentally peeling her apples for somebody else.

Reports Say Soviets Mask Police Action

By FRANZ CYRUS

VIENNA (UPI)—Soviet infantry and paratroopers have opened a large-scale action against Ukrainian anti-Communist guerrillas under the guise of border "maneuvers" in the wild mountains of Ukrainia and Slovakia, reliable sources said here this week.

The reports coincided with dispatches to London which said Czechoslovak authorities had been using flimsy excuses to prevent Western diplomats from traveling to Slovakia, the eastern part of the country, which borders on the Soviet Union's Carpatho - Ukraine area.

Unofficial press reports in the last few weeks in European capitals told of disturbances in Eastern Slovakia, on the border of the Soviet Carpatho-Ukraine.

Sources in Vienna said reports from Eastern Slovakia showed Russian troop maneuvers began on June 29 near the eastern Slovak cities of Lavoczne and Chustand.

Foreigners Restricted

As far as could be determined here, foreigners in Czechoslovakia have been forbidden from traveling east of the river Waag in recent days.

At least three times in the last 10 days British diplomats have been turned back from Slovakia with such excuses as "a bridge is down," or "a road is under repair." This was confirmed by the British Foreign Office.

Sources said they believed the Communists were trying to conceal completely the troop movements against the Ukrainian freedom fighters who are known to have been fighting against Communist rule for decades.

The official Czech news agency CTK went out of its way last month to deny reports of unrest in Slovakia as "pure inventions."

Learn Of Demonstration

Western diplomats in Vienna learned last spring that Ukrainian patriots had demonstrated on the 20th anniversary of the short-lived independent Carpatho-Ukraine.

Leaflets and posters were scattered around, accusing the Soviets of having "murdered Ukrainian leaders."

The Carpatho-Ukraine once was part of Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Now it is part of the Soviet Union.

The Soviet troops were reported probing through the mountains to smoke out the anti - Communist underground.

Official Ukrainian press reports admitted that five arrested Ukrainians were accused of having "conspired against the Soviet State." After a one-month trial, the five were convicted, sentenced to death and executed.

A similar police action by Soviet troops against Ukrainian partisans took place at about this time last year.

Russia Cracks Down On Vodka Moonshiners

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia Tuesday decreed fines and stiff jail sentences for moonshiners and bootleggers in an apparent follow-up to Nikita S. Khrushchev's campaign against demon vodka.

The presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) decreed that anyone caught making bathtub vodka or any other alcoholic beverage would be liable to fine, social censure and a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment.

The decree recommended that citizens committees in every community bring pressure on bootleggers who sell home made "white lightning" and fine them $75 for each offense.

The government decree expounded both on the social evils of alcohol and the damage to the Soviet economy caused by the illegal use of sugar in privately-owned stills.

Last spring, the press published a series of reports on bootlegging, including one incident where some enterprising moonshiners used a communal bathhouse to whip up batches of powerful liquor.

Premier Khrushchev was been actively campaigning against strong drink, both home-made and the state - produced legal vodka sold in state shops.

Russian restaurants now sell only 100 grams (approximately 3½ fluid ounces) of vodka to each customer and they deliberately keep the price high.

Recent legislation has reduced the prices of wines and champagne. But the cost of a pint of vodka is steep—30 rubles. That comes to $7.50 for Russians at the official rate of exchange or $3 for foreigners at the tourist rate of exchange.

MICE TAKE OVER

BRISBANE, Australia (UPI)—Mice have invaded the wheat belt district of Mount Tyson in Southern Queensland in such numbers that even cats and dogs have given up the chase, it was reported Wednesday. Farm dogs surrendered in the face of superior odds and ignore the invaders, and cats lie on front doorsteps in town while mice swarm nearby, it was reported.

New Indo Setup And Its Effect On Reds

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The first question that Westerners want answered when a political turnover occurs in one of the neutralist or noncommitted countries is its effect on the Communists.

In the West, the term neutralist itself is frequently used as descriptive of a policy which lends aid and comfort to the Soviet Union in the cold war, regardless of the fact that such usage is resented by the practitioners.

For the past several months the effective power of the Communists in Indonesia has been restricted, regardless of whether its potential has been affected.

For a time it appeared that President Sukarno, not a Communist, was going on the theory that the party was entitled to recognition according to its strength, especially since such recognition involved the practical politics of effective rule. The military became actively opposed, and he left the country on a long tour for some obscure reason, and now he has returned to assume virtual dictatorship, although he calls it only guidance of the country with the advice of its other top leaders.

Under the new set-up, party politics will ostensibly be relegated to the back alleys, which would seem to cut the power of the Communists.

The difference between his so-called guided democracy and dictatorship is, however, very vague in the Western mind, and dictatorships of any stripe make wonderful germinating grounds for subsequent Communist coups.

The factual change in the Indonesian situation is small. Sukarno has been the boss all along, although somewhat curbed by the vast number of Moslems among his constituents who want his brand of socialism little more than they want communism.

He has, however, become considerate of the views of military leaders upon whom he had to depend to put down the various military insurrections which have plagued his government from the dawn of independence from the Dutch. The most formidable of these began in Sumatra 18 months ago and still continues in some outlying islands.

Attempts to fully evaluate such political developments in the world's new countries are beset by the same hazards which apply elsewhere, just as local issues and individual personalities usually becloud the meaning of political results in the United States.

For the moment, the Communists appear to have suffered at least one important setback, in that elections in which they expected to make important gains will not be held. Their vote has been going up steadily in regional elections since the 1955 general election in which they elected 31 out of 258 deputies.

Viscose Sued For Fish Kill Damages

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP) — The State Water Control Board Tuesday filed suit against the American Viscose Corp. for $154,770 damages for a fish kill in the South Fork of the Shenandoah River.

The suit filed in Warren County Circuit Court contended the corporation last year "negligently discharged material into the river in quantities or concentration to contaminate the water and that as a direct result hundreds of thousands of fish were killed for miles downstream."

The board said the pollution occurred during the fall and early winter of 158 and particularly in December, 1958.

The board said an exhaustive investigation determined that the corporation was negligent and that its (the board's) efforts to settle for damages were unsuccessful.

A. G. McVay, manager of the plant, would not comment on the suit.

Pork Seen 'Good Buy' Next 12 Months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that pork and perhaps beef should be good buys for housewives during coming months.

At the same time, the department's monthly report on the livestock and meat situation indicated lean times are ahead for meat producers.

The department said retail pork prices "already are down and prices of beef have not advanced further in recent months."

Department economists said pork will be a "good buy" for at least the next 12 months. If hog production continues upward, they said, prices in the fall of 1960 "would be seriously depressed."

All-in-all, the department said, total meat supplies "are up enough to arrest the three - year uptrend in consumer meat prices"

During May, pork prices averaged 7½ cents a pound less than in May of 1958, and the department said the difference doubtless was wider in June. In recent weeks prices of hams have been the lowest since November, 1957.

Beef prices in May — the last month surveyed by the department — were slightly above the same month in 1958. But no changes are expected for the rest of this year.

Pilot Endorses Course Taken By Crashed Plane

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Northeast Airlines pilot told a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing Wednesday he "would not have hesitated" in following a Capital Airlines Viscount on the course it took during a flight which ended in a flaming crash and death of 31 persons.

Capt. Austin Briggs, 42, of Hanover Center, Mass., said that "from where I was, it looked like he was going to have no problem."

Briggs, a Northeast captain since 1951 with 10,600 hours flying time, testified at a CAB hearing called to determine what caused the British-made craft to disintegrate in the air over Chase, Md., about 15 miles northeast of Baltimore last May 12.

Briggs was the pilot on a Northeast plane, en route nonstop from Boston to Washington and traveling about a minute behind the ill-fated Capital flight. He had the plane in sight until they took different courses over West Chester, Pa. The Capital plane was en route from New York to Atlanta with 27 passengers and four crewmen.

Briggs testified there was light turbulence at the time and indications on his radar of thunderstorms in the Baltimore area. The radar on the Capital plane was reported inoperative.

"I didn't seen any reason for him to change his course," the Northeast pilot declared. Briggs' plane was traveling about 16,000 feet and encountered light snow and ice crystals part of the way.

The Northeast plane also had several lightning strikes on its trip, "but they caused no trouble whatsoever," Briggs said.

CAB investigators had been told by some eyewitnesses it appeared that the Capital Viscount exploded after it was struck by lightning. All agreed it burst into flames, broke apart and came down in pieces, scattering wreckage and bodies over an area more than two miles long and a half-mile wide.

Officials are studying the possibility the plane came apart in severe turbulence accompanying a storm.

Briggs told the board of inquiry weather conditions weren't unusual and he received no storm warning advisories while in flight.

He overheard several conversations the Capital plane had with check points along the way, but there was nothing to indicate trouble on board. Briggs didn't learn of the crash until about two hours after he had landed at Washington.

After the Capital flight headed southwest while the northeast plane cut west, Briggs said he heard the Washington air control center call the southbound craft but received no answer.

At about the same time, Briggs testified, he did notice someone turn their radio communication equipment off - and - on several times, but "all I heard was a lot of static."

Earlier, the board was told that the Capital airliner seemed to be trying for an emergency landing before it exploded in the air.

"It seemed to be dumping gas from the right wing and body and trying to establish a pattern for the Martin (Company) airfield," said Richard C. Kipp, a 26-year-old amateur flier and Air Force veteran.

Kipp testified that the four-engine turbo-prop craft "caught my attention because it was in the wrong place and off course." The plane was en route from New York to Atlanta non-stop.

He explained to the board that he was checking the skies while driving home from work to decide whether it would be fit weather for flying that evening. The Viscount, he said, was not following the regular commercial airline route over the area.

Ship Salvage Progresses

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — The head of a Connecticut salvage firm says he's almost ready to take in tow the bow section of the wrecked tanker, African Queen.

Gifford Warner, who heads Salvo Syndicate Co. of Essex, Conn., said that if everything goes well he should have the capsized and partially submerged bow in an upright position soon.

The African Queen ran aground on a shoal and split in two off this resort city last December. The owners and underwriters later abandoned the six million dollar hulk.

Warner's firm is one of two companies attempting to salvage the wreck. The Industrial Maintenance Corp. of Holland, Va., has been working aboard the larger stern section which is now located about nine miles southeast of Ocean City.

The bow section has drifted about 14 miles southwest to a point near the Virginia line.

Warner said that if he can refloat the bow section, he will tow it to a Delaware River port for possible reuse or for scrap. He is trying to refloat the section by shifting bouyancy in the tanks.

Independent Baker Says Complaint Did No Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — An independent wholesale baker from Fairmont, W. Va., told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday that publicity given previous testimony by his father about practices of his competitors "did us no good."

James Kettering, a partner with his father in the Kettering Baking Co., said that for that reason a statement he presented at the inquiry into pricing practices in the bread industry was general in nature.

He said that after his father testified before the House Small Business Committee in 1956, word came to them that "if you want to complain about competitive practices, you ain't seen nothing yet."

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich), presiding at the hearing of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, remarked that "We can only hope that enough businessmen do assume the responsibility to give Congress information so that we can legislate intelligently."

Kettering told newsmen after the hearing that his reference to the statement "you ain't seen anything yet" was based upon what some of his company's deliverymen were told by other routemen.

Kettering told the subcommittee that the independent baker is willing to meet all comers on an equal basis but takes issue with competition that is not fair and ethical.

Kettering said chain groceries with their own bakeries use bread as a loss leader, more than making up the loss on bread by profits on other merchandise.

Kidnaping Reported By Baltimore Man

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Kenneth Reed, 31, of Baltimore, told Oak Ridge police Wednesday three men kidnaped him from his Baltimore apartment Sunday night and brought him here in the trunk of an automobile.

Reed told Police Chief C. T. Vettel that the trio robbed, bound and gagged him before stuffing him into the car trunk.

He said he forced the lock on the trunk and escaped after the car arrived here Wednesday.

Reed, who told police he was a car salesman, said he could offer no explanation for his abduction.

Reed appeared to be shaken from his experience but otherwise was unharmed.

Police notified the FBI which began an investigation.

Pilot Endorses Course Taken By Crashed Plane

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Northeast Airlines pilot told a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing Wednesday he "would not have hesitated" in following a Capital Airlines Viscount on the course it took during a flight which ended in a flaming crash and death of 31 persons.

Capt. Austin Briggs, 42, of Hanover Center, Mass., said that "from where I was, it looked like he was going to have no problem."

Briggs, a Northeast captain since 1951 with 10,600 hours flying time, testified at a CAB hearing called to determine what caused the British-made craft to disintegrate in the air over Chase, Md., about 15 miles northeast of Baltimore last May 12.

Briggs was the pilot on a Northeast plane, en route nonstop from Boston to Washington and traveling about a minute behind the ill-fated Capital flight. He had the plane in sight until they took different courses over West Chester, Pa. The Capital plane was en route from New York to Atlanta with 27 passengers and four crewmen.

Briggs testified there was light turbulence at the time and indications on his radar of thunderstorms in the Baltimore area. The radar on the Capital plane was reported inoperative.

"I didn't seen any reason for him to change his course," the Northeast pilot declared. Briggs' plane was traveling about 16,000 feet and encountered light snow and ice crystals part of the way.

The Northeast plane also had several lightning strikes on its trip, "but they caused no trouble whatsoever," Briggs said.

CAB investigators had been told by some eyewitnesses it appeared that the Capital Viscount exploded after it was struck by lightning. All agreed it burst into flames, broke apart and came down in pieces, scattering wreckage and bodies over an area more than two miles long and a half-mile wide.

Officials are studying the possibility the plane came apart in severe turbulence accompanying a storm.

Briggs told the board of inquiry weather conditions weren't unusual and he received no storm warning advisories while in flight.

He overheard several conversations the Capital plane had with check points along the way, but there was nothing to indicate trouble on board. Briggs didn't learn of the crash until about two hours after he had landed at Washington.

After the Capital flight headed southwest while the northeast plane cut west, Briggs said he heard the Washington air control center call the southbound craft but received no answer.

At about the same time, Briggs testified, he did notice someone turn their radio communication equipment off - and - on several times, but "all I heard was a lot of static."

Earlier, the board was told that the Capital airliner seemed to be trying for an emergency landing before it exploded in the air.

"It seemed to be dumping gas from the right wing and body and trying to establish a pattern for the Martin (Company) airfield," said Richard C. Kipp, a 26-year-old amateur flier and Air Force veteran.

Kipp testified that the four-engine turbo-prop craft "caught my attention because it was in the wrong place and off course." The plane was en route from New York to Atlanta non-stop.

He explained to the board that he was checking the skies while driving home from work to decide whether it would be fit weather for flying that evening. The Viscount, he said, was not following the regular commercial airline route over the area.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UPI)—City lawyers Wednesday studied whether the city should pay the claim of fireman Angelo Ciamella who said his hospital treatment cost $8 when his finger was injured 'in the line of duty" cutting an orange peel during lunch.

Ship Salvage Progresses

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — The head of a Connecticut salvage firm says he's almost ready to take in tow the bow section of the wrecked tanker, African Queen.

Gifford Warner, who heads Salvo Syndicate Co. of Essex, Conn., said that if everything goes well he should have the capsized and partially submerged bow in an upright position soon.

The African Queen ran aground on a shoal and split in two off this resort city last December. The owners and underwriters later abandoned the six million dollar hulk.

Warner's firm is one of two companies attempting to salvage the wreck. The Industrial Maintenance Corp. of Holland, Va., has been working aboard the larger stern section which is now located about nine miles southeast of Ocean City.

The bow section has drifted about 14 miles southwest to a point near the Virginia line.

Warner said that if he can refloat the bow section, he will tow it to a Delaware River port for possible reuse or for scrap. He is trying to refloat the section by shifting bouyancy in the tanks.

Independent Baker Says Complaint Did No Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — An independent wholesale baker from Fairmont, W. Va., told a Senate subcommittee Wednesday that publicity given previous testimony by his father about practices of his competitors "did us no good."

James Kettering, a partner with his father in the Kettering Baking Co., said that for that reason a statement he presented at the inquiry into pricing practices in the bread industry was general in nature.

He said that after his father testified before the House Small Business Committee in 1956, word came to them that "if you want to complain about competitive practices, you ain't seen nothing yet."

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich), presiding at the hearing of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, remarked that "We can only hope that enough businessmen do assume the responsibility to give Congress information so that we can legislate intelligently."

Kettering told newsmen after the hearing that his reference to the statement "you ain't seen anything yet" was based upon what some of his company's deliverymen were told by other routemen.

Kettering told the subcommittee that the independent baker is willing to meet all comers on an equal basis but takes issue with competition that is not fair and ethical.

Kettering said chain groceries with their own bakeries use bread as a loss leader, more than making up the loss on bread by profits on other merchandise.

Annual 4-H Dress Revue Tonight

Forty-five garments have been entered in the annual 4-H Dress Revue, which is to be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the LaVale Methodist Church. They include simple school dresses, shorts, sports outfits, sleeping togs, as well as several dresses in the party area, with one group made by Happy Valley Club members for their May Day celebration; and a "better dress" group.

Using the theme, "Come to the Fair," the 4-H'ers are doing a takeoff of visiting a fair. Some of the 4-H boys will serve as barkers, while others sell cotton candy and even have a "snake charmer." Recordings of circus music will form the background for the revue.

Special entertainment is planned.

All friends of 4-H are invited to attend.

Members of the committee of arrangement are Marlene Clark, Donna Simpson, Patricia King, Charlotte King, Rita Daniels and Jean Robinette.

Social Chart

Birthdays of Mrs. Charles Chenowith, Mrs. Fanelli, Mrs. Marie Long and Mrs. Minnie O'Hara were celebrated. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fanelli and her committee.

Karen Sogard Is Bride Of Lt. Thomas B. McDonald

Miss Karen Lee Sogard, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Sidney Stanley Sogard of Columbus, Ga., became the bride of First Lt. Thomas Benton McDonald III, son of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas Benton McDonald, of Alexandria, Va., and grandson of the late Mrs. Nona McDonald Johnson, and the late Dr. Thomas McDonald, Cumberland, June 20. The ceremony was solemnized in St. Michael's Episcopal Mission in Fort Benning, Ga., with Chaplain Harry G. Campbell officiating. Arrangements of white stock, gladiolus and majestic daisies were used in the decorations against a background of foliage. Clusters of polished ivy and daisies marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of candlelight silk organza over taffeta. A standup cuff, reaching wide to the shoulders, and jewel encrusted re-embroidered Alencon lace edged the neckline. The long sleeves tapered to a point on the hand and jeweled lace at the waistline accentuated the bell-shaped skirt that ended in a chapel train. A matching peaked lace cap held her veil of candlelight illusion. Completing her costume, she carried a bouquet of white orchids, showered with white roses, lily of the valley and streamers, caught with polished ivy and roses.

Her attendants wore identical gowns of organdy and taffeta in pastel colors. They were fashioned with low scooped necklines, elongated waists with two-tone taffeta cummerbund forming butterfly bows in the back, and ballerina-length skirts. They wore face veils with matching velvet bows and matching slippers. They carried pink and white roses, snapdragons and ivy.

Mrs. Sogard wore a petal pink silk organza over taffeta, with taffeta applique, and matching slippers and bag. Mrs. McDonald was attired in a gray lace over a lighter shade of silk organza, trimmed in lace applique. Her hat was of blue and silver brocade. Each had an orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the Officers Club, at which time a toast used for the bridegroom's maternal grandmother in 1909 and later his mother, was given.

For their trip to Nassau the bride wore a pale blue linen sheath with matching bolero jacket and hat, beige accessories and her orchid corsage. They are residing in Hopkinsville, Ky. Lt. McDonald is stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky., having returned from Korea in April.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. McDonald will visit Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, 403 Washington Street, next week.

Sorority Has Shower

A stork shower was held in conjunction with the monthly outing, of Iota Epsilon Chapter, Tau Phi Lambda, of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle. Karen Sogard Is Bride Of Lt. Thomas B. McDonald

Miss Karen Lee Sogard, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Sidney Stanley Sogard of Columbus, Ga., became the bride of First Lt. Thomas Benton McDonald III, son of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas Benton McDonald, of Alexandria, Va., and grandson of the late Mrs. Nona McDonald Johnson, and the late Dr. Thomas McDonald, Cumberland, June 20. The ceremony was solemnized in St. Michael's Episcopal Mission in Fort Benning, Ga., with Chaplain Harry G. Campbell officiating. Arrangements of white stock, gladiolus and majestic daisies were used in the decorations against a background of foliage. Clusters of polished ivy and daisies marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor-length gown of candlelight silk organza over taffeta. A standup cuff, reaching wide to the shoulders, and jewel encrusted re-embroidered Alencon lace edged the neckline. The long sleeves tapered to a point on the hand and jeweled lace at the waistline accentuated the bell-shaped skirt that ended in a chapel train. A matching peaked lace cap held her veil of candlelight illusion. Completing her costume, she carried a bouquet of white orchids, showered with white roses, lily of the valley and streamers, caught with polished ivy and roses.

Her attendants wore identical gowns of organdy and taffeta in pastel colors. They were fashioned with low scooped necklines, elongated waists with two-tone taffeta cummerbund forming butterfly bows in the back, and ballerina-length skirts. They wore face veils with matching velvet bows and matching slippers. They carried pink and white roses, snapdragons and ivy.

Mrs. Sogard wore a petal pink silk organza over taffeta, with taffeta applique, and matching slippers and bag. Mrs. McDonald was attired in a gray lace over a lighter shade of silk organza, trimmed in lace applique. Her hat was of blue and silver brocade. Each had an orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the Officers Club, at which time a toast used for the bridegroom's maternal grandmother in 1909 and later his mother, was given.

For their trip to Nassau the bride wore a pale blue linen sheath with matching bolero jacket and hat, beige accessories and her orchid corsage. They are residing in Hopkinsville, Ky. Lt. McDonald is stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky., having returned from Korea in April.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. McDonald will visit Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, 403 Washington Street, next week.

LaVale Civic Association Asks For Regular Patrols Of Area By County Deputy Sheriffs

A program calling for street and road speed limits in LaVale, plus regular patrols by Allegany County deputy sheriffs, will be drawn up by the LaVale Civic Improvement Association.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the association Tuesday night in the fire hall, information was presented concerning a law passed by the 1959 General Assembly that went into effect on July 1.

The law calls for regular patrolling by the sheriff's staff, for speeding, garbage dumping, vandalism and other similar law infractions.

The Allegany County sheriff's office has instituted regular nightly patrols over designated county roads. It was reported that if the LaVale association draws up a suggested program for placing speed limit signs and other traffic controls, the Allegany County Commissioners will consider the suggestions for inclusion in the county-wide program.

Harry Kauffman, chairman of the LaVale Sanitary Commission, appeared to discuss with the board of directors various problems which his unit faces. He also recommended means by which the improvement association can cooperate with the commission.

Several suggestions were proposed by the directors for assisting the sanitary commission, and these were acceptable, Kauffman said.

J. Brooke Fradiska, membership chairman, reported 30 new members were added during the month. Fradiska also said that a report on the association's activities will be mailed to each member during September.

Henry Wintermyer, co-chairman of police and fire committee, reminded the directors of the public meeting Friday at 8 p. m. in the LaVale Fire Hall when the proposed fire tax will be discussed.

Mrs. David Whitworth, chairman of the water, sewage and drainage committee, reported on her attendance at the last meeting of the sanitary commission, and listed some developments on the sewer line planned along Route 40 from Park Heights to the fire hall.

Reports on zoning were made by C. A. Lancaster, chairman of the LaVale Zoning Board, and Frank Tepper, association director who is liaison man with the zoning board.

Glasses immediately draw other's eyes to yours! Follow today's pointers to emphasize their beauty.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Using Make-Up With Glasses

By focusing the eyes of others on the beauty of your eyes, glasses can be an invaluable beauty asset.

Since your eyes are getting a special inspection, it's to your advantage to start right now to learn how to use eye cosmetics.

The first and all-pervading rule is use all eye make-up sparingly. Eye cosmetics are only worn successfully when no one can tell that you use them, yet your eyes appear more beautiful.

As a start toward beautifying your eyes, take a good look at the shape and size of them (with your glasses on, of course). If you feel your eyes look tiny behind your glasses, give up using rouge. The color on your cheeks competes with your eyes for attention, and therefore makes them appear smaller.

Does the largeness of the bony structure above your eyelids cause a round puff in your upper lid to throw a distracting shadow over the sparkle in your eye? That's easy to counteract: Just smooth a little brown eye shadow over the puff. Bring the color right up to the lower edge of the eyebrow. You'll notice immediately that by darkening this area, you make it less conspicuous.

Eyebrows also play a big part in the loveliness of eyes and the becomingness of glasses. Your eyebrows must always be visible above your glasses—never hidden by the frames. That is an important factor to remember in choosing new frames. And your glasses must look as though they sit straight in relation to your brows.

If they don't, check the tilt of your eyebrows. Maybe you'll find that one brow is higher than the other, and this unbalance is what makes your glasses appear crooked. You can even them up immediately by using an eyebrow pencil in a shade that matches your brows.

Don't be tempted to tweeze your brows into balance! A mistake in plucking can easily destroy their naturalness for months. A pencil mark can be eliminated in a moment. A heavy hand at any time around the eyes invariably spoils the effect you strive for. Naturalness is the keynote to strive for in the use of all cosmetics!

W. Va. Road Bids Due

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Bids will be received July 28 on 34 road improvements projects in 20 West Virginia counties, the State Road Commission announced Wednesday.

The letting will be the largest so far this year at an estimated cost of $6,000,000 to $7,000,000. The work involves some 150 miles of road work.

Of the 34 projects, one is on the Interstate System, 28 are federal - aid, and five are state projects. The Interstate work is on Route 77 in Jackson and Kanawha counties.

The projects include:

Pendleton — Grading and draining 3.5 miles of Sec. 21 between Brandywine and Sugar Grove; repairs to three bridges along same route.

Preston — Resurfacing 4.3 miles of W. Va. 26 between Fellowsville and Kingwood, 6.4 miles of U. S. 50 between Erwin and the Maryland line, 4.7 miles of U. S. 50 between Macomber and Erwin, 3 miles of U. S. 50 between Fellowsville and Taylor County line, 3.3 miles of U. S. 50 between Erwin and Aurora. The last is a state project.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"It was such an unusual tie, I just couldn't resist buying it for him."

LOSES LICENSES

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The retail license of Sunny Side Inn, St. Albans, was revoked Wednesday by the State Beer Commission on charges of violating 19 West Virginia beer laws.

Industrial Promotion Needs Support

"No two industrial prospects are alike," Garland L. Johnston, chairman of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce Industrial Promotion Committee, stressed yesterday in urging full support by all business and professional people of the CIDC Industrial Promotion Fund.

"The combination of factors needed for a new location vary with each prospect. This means that individually tailored proposals designed to provide specific information must be prepared for each company that shows any interest in locating in our area. Often, this necessitates a special survey to pull together the data desired," he stated.

The Industrial Promotion Committee has found it often advisable to present a proposal personally or to follow up a written proposal with a call on a manufacturer in order to persuade him that a visit to the Cumberland area will be worth his time and expense.

"In the case of a New York manufacturer," Johnston states, "a July, 1958 written proposal was followed by a call on the company by our industrial promotion director in early August. This resulted in a visit to our area later that month by the company president and his works manager. At that time, a question arose that required a study to obtain information needed by the prospect. Two trips to New York to confer and negotiate with the prospect have since been necessary—one in October, 1958 and another in February of this year. For many months, this looked like one of our best prospects."

During the past two years, the features of the Cumberland area which make it attractive to industry have been described to nearly 300 manufacturers. In 40 per cent of these cases, this story was presented personally. These and similar efforts resulted in visits to the Cumberland area by representatives of eight companies to inspect available buildings and sites.

"Industrial promotion work of this kind is a full-time activity, which has been costing on the average of $22,000 per year. It has been seven years since the community was asked to underwrite this program. The CIDC goal of at least $100,000 will provide the Cumberland area with a continuation of this effort for almost another five years," Johnston concluded.

That is an important factor to remember in choosing new frames. And your glasses must look as though they sit straight in relation to your brows.

If they don't, check the tilt of your eyebrows. Maybe you'll find that one brow is higher than the other, and this unbalance is what makes your glasses appear crooked. You can even them up immediately by using an eyebrow pencil in a shade that matches your brows.

Don't be tempted to tweeze your brows into balance! A mistake in plucking can easily destroy their naturalness for months. A pencil mark can be eliminated in a moment. A heavy hand at any time around the eyes invariably spoils the effect you strive for. Naturalness is the keynote to strive for in the use of all cosmetics!

W. Va. Road Bids Due

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Bids will be received July 28 on 34 road improvements projects in 20 West Virginia counties, the State Road Commission announced Wednesday.

The letting will be the largest so far this year at an estimated cost of $6,000,000 to $7,000,000. The work involves some 150 miles of road work.

Of the 34 projects, one is on the Interstate System, 28 are federal - aid, and five are state projects. The Interstate work is on Route 77 in Jackson and Kanawha counties.

The projects include:

Pendleton — Grading and draining 3.5 miles of Sec. 21 between Brandywine and Sugar Grove; repairs to three bridges along same route.

Preston — Resurfacing 4.3 miles of W. Va. 26 between Fellowsville and Kingwood, 6.4 miles of U. S. 50 between Erwin and the Maryland line, 4.7 miles of U. S. 50 between Macomber and Erwin, 3 miles of U. S. 50 between Fellowsville and Taylor County line, 3.3 miles of U. S. 50 between Erwin and Aurora. The last is a state project.

"It was such an unusual tie, I just couldn't resist buying it for him."

LOSES LICENSES

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The retail license of Sunny Side Inn, St. Albans, was revoked Wednesday by the State Beer Commission on charges of violating 19 West Virginia beer laws.

Industrial Promotion Needs Support

"No two industrial prospects are alike," Garland L. Johnston, chairman of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce Industrial Promotion Committee, stressed yesterday in urging full support by all business and professional people of the CIDC Industrial Promotion Fund.

"The combination of factors needed for a new location vary with each prospect. This means that individually tailored proposals designed to provide specific information must be prepared for each company that shows any interest in locating in our area. Often, this necessitates a special survey to pull together the data desired," he stated.

The Industrial Promotion Committee has found it often advisable to present a proposal personally or to follow up a written proposal with a call on a manufacturer in order to persuade him that a visit to the Cumberland area will be worth his time and expense.

"In the case of a New York manufacturer," Johnston states, "a July, 1958 written proposal was followed by a call on the company by our industrial promotion director in early August. This resulted in a visit to our area later that month by the company president and his works manager. At that time, a question arose that required a study to obtain information needed by the prospect. Two trips to New York to confer and negotiate with the prospect have since been necessary—one in October, 1958 and another in February of this year. For many months, this looked like one of our best prospects."

During the past two years, the features of the Cumberland area which make it attractive to industry have been described to nearly 300 manufacturers. In 40 per cent of these cases, this story was presented personally. These and similar efforts resulted in visits to the Cumberland area by representatives of eight companies to inspect available buildings and sites.

"Industrial promotion work of this kind is a full-time activity, which has been costing on the average of $22,000 per year. It has been seven years since the community was asked to underwrite this program. The CIDC goal of at least $100,000 will provide the Cumberland area with a continuation of this effort for almost another five years," Johnston concluded.

Martinsburg Water Hearings Finished

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The Public Service Commission completed hearings Wednesday on an application by the City of Martinsburg to continue its water and sewerage facilities as a combined operation.

The case was referred to the SC's accounting department for a report. Meanwhile, the commission gave temporary approval to the existing rates being charged by the city with the notation, "to avoid further violation."

It was explained in the petition that while the water and sewerage systems have been operated in combination since 1948, the city has not held a PSC permit authorizing such an operation.

Industrials Hit New High; Rail, Auto Shares Strong

NEW YORK (UPI) — Continued demand for rails lifted the group to the best levels since May, 1956 while industrial stocks again shook off the effects of profit-taking to close at another all-time high in their 10th straight advance.

The gains came on the heaviest turnover since May 7—4,010,000 shares compared with 3,840,000 on Tuesday.

The rails and auto shares continued to dominate activity. New York Central, Tuesday's most active issue, up ⅞ to 31⅜ was second in volume. American Motors and General Motors made the top five. Glen Alden, recent strong spot, was the most active and gained 2 points to 24⅞.

Industrials, performing in much the way they did Tuesday, came up sharply in the late minutes of trading, forcing reporting tickers to run late. Gains of 4 points in Du Pont, 2⅞ in General Electric, 1¾ Woolworth helped lift the average to another new all-time peak.

While closing prices throughout the industrial list generally were well above the day's lows there were numerous soft spots—mostly in issues which had been leaders on the upside in recent sessions.

The profit-taking was seen as entirely in line with expectations and the strength evident in rails was cited as proof of the market's basic strength.

Steels were hit with final losses ranging past 2 points in Youngstown Sheet & Tube, around a point in U. S. Steel, Armco and Wheeling.

General Motors fell 1⅜ in the autos but Ford rose nearly a point and American Motors managed a fractional gain after early losses.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Oats were firm, but other grains were lower on local and commission house selling near the close Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was off ⅜ to 1¾; corn off ⅝ to 1½; oats unchanged; new oats unchanged to up ¾; rye off ½ to up ½, and soybeans off 1⅜ to 1⅝.

Earlier in the session, nearby wheat futures rallied from earlier lows as buying developed. Some mills bought July and sold September. The deferred contracts were lower. Hedge selling was moderate in both Chicago and Kansas City.

Corn was weak as the market felt the effects of liquidation in the July and some stop-loss selling. Traders exchanged sizable quantities of nearby corn for deferred contracts. The July-September difference narrowed still further. The cash corn market was unsettled. The government granted export subsidies on 708,000 bushels of corn and 370,000 bushels of oats.

Oats were unsettled. Cash interests sold December, and stop-loss orders were uncovered. Buying orders came into the pit on the break.

Soybeans were quiet and easier. Commission house trade was mixed. Favorable crop reports produced some selling. An exporter bought November. Rye was mixed.

Yugoslavia, Germany and Great Britain and Brazil were reported to have bought hard wheat. Formosa and Japan were said to have purchased soybeans.

Industrials Hit New High; Rail, Auto Shares Strong

NEW YORK (UPI) — Continued demand for rails lifted the group to the best levels since May, 1956 while industrial stocks again shook off the effects of profit-taking to close at another all-time high in their 10th straight advance.

The gains came on the heaviest turnover since May 7—4,010,000 shares compared with 3,840,000 on Tuesday.

The rails and auto shares continued to dominate activity. New York Central, Tuesday's most active issue, up ⅞ to 31⅜ was second in volume. American Motors and General Motors made the top five. Glen Alden, recent strong spot, was the most active and gained 2 points to 24⅞.

Industrials, performing in much the way they did Tuesday, came up sharply in the late minutes of trading, forcing reporting tickers to run late. Gains of 4 points in Du Pont, 2⅞ in General Electric, 1¾ Woolworth helped lift the average to another new all-time peak.

While closing prices throughout the industrial list generally were well above the day's lows there were numerous soft spots—mostly in issues which had been leaders on the upside in recent sessions.

The profit-taking was seen as entirely in line with expectations and the strength evident in rails was cited as proof of the market's basic strength.

Steels were hit with final losses ranging past 2 points in Youngstown Sheet & Tube, around a point in U. S. Steel, Armco and Wheeling.

General Motors fell 1⅜ in the autos but Ford rose nearly a point and American Motors managed a fractional gain after early losses.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Oats were firm, but other grains were lower on local and commission house selling near the close Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was off ⅜ to 1¾; corn off ⅜ to 1½; oats unchanged; new oats unchanged to up ¾; rye off ½ to up ½, and soybeans off 1⅜ to 1⅝.

Earlier in the session, nearby wheat futures rallied from earlier lows as buying developed. Some mills bought July and sold September. The deferred contracts were lower. Hedge selling was moderate in both Chicago and Kansas City.

Corn was weak as the market felt the effects of liquidation in the July and some stop-loss selling. Traders exchanged sizable quantities of nearby corn for deferred contracts. The July-September difference narrowed still further. The cash corn market was unsettled. The government granted export subsidies on 708,000 bushels of corn and 370,000 bushels of oats.

Oats were unsettled. Cash interests sold December, and stop-loss orders were uncovered. Buying orders came into the pit on the break.

Soybeans were quiet and easier. Commission house trade was mixed. Favorable crop reports produced some selling. An exporter bought November. Rye was mixed.

Yugoslavia, Germany and Great Britain and Brazil were reported to have bought hard wheat. Formosa and Japan were said to have purchased soybeans.

Local Girl Scout Patrol Arrives Safely At Roundup

The Cumberland Girl Scout Patrol which left here last week for the Senior Girl Scout International Roundup at Colorado Springs, Colo., arrived safely and on schedule, according to a letter received by The News from Barbara Johnson, correspondent for the patrol.

Miss Johnson writes that the patrol arrived in Chicago on time and before boarding a Burlington Railway train for the Colorado campsite, the girls visited several points of interest.

Among these were a visit to the Chicago Museum of Natural History, the Museum of Science and Industry, lunch at Fred Harvey's, a visit to the Navy Pier, a visit to the site of the International Fair now being set up, and tours of the Wrigley Building, the Prudential Insurance Company Building, the Chicago Tribune and Lincoln Park.

She notes that downtown areas of Chicago, such as State Street, were being gaily decorated for the visit of Queen Elizabeth.

When the patrol arrived at Colorado Springs they were welcomed by an Army band which serenaded them while they boarded buses for the Roundup site. Barbara writes that all the girls are well and each passed the required physical examination satisfactorily.

They experienced a little difficulty setting up their tents and equipment because of a high wind, but managed to get everything "camp-shape" in good time. On Sunday, the Cumberland patrol participated with other patrols in a flag ceremony.

She wrote that the patrol is happy, busy and that they are enjoying the experience of meeting other scouts from many places.

In ancient Greece, small pieces of bread were used in place of napkins. They were disposed of by throwing them on the floor for the dogs.

Phone Company Plans Building In Oldtown

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company yesterday obtained a building permit from the Allegany County assessment department for construction of a building to house the dial equipment in the Oldtown area.

This $12,000 concrete block building will be 42 by 23 feet in size and will be located on a seven-tenths of an acre tract on Wilson Road.

Back on March 31, W. Griffin Morrel, vice president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland announced that the C&P directors had authorized $113,000 to construct a building, install central office equipment and place additional cable for a new dial switching center at Oldtown.

Report Given On Diseases

The annual report of communicable diseases in Allegany County during 1958 shows there were 42 cases of measles and 33 cases of tuberculosis.

A state-wide report has been received by the Allegany County Health Department from the Bureau of Epidemiology of the Maryland State Department of Health.

A breakdown of other type diseases in the county shows there were 12 cases of mumps, 12 cases of streptococcal infections, including scarlet fever, and a similar number of cases of syphilis.

The report also shows there were nine cases of gonorrhea, six cases of chickenpox, four cases of encephalitis, three meningitis, two meningococcal infections, and one case each of German measles, hepatitis and polio.

In Garrett County there was reported one case of typhoid fever, four cases of tuberculosis, three cases of gonorrhea, two cases of syphilis, two streptococcal infections and a case of mumps and one of measles.

Equity Suits Filed In Circuit Court

A number of new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The bills of complaint were titled Betty Marie Densmore vs. Vincent Densmore, Mary Virginia Troutman vs. Richard Louis Troutman, Alvin Glen Murphy vs. Woneda Carol Murphy, Nellie A. Lease vs. Milton R. Lease, Dolores A. Scharf vs. Eugene W. Scharf, Robert Platt vs. Agnes Platt, Ruby Eileen Steppe vs. William Thomas Steppe and Dora I. Bucy, by Nora E. Piper, mother, and next friend, vs. Dewey C. Bucy.

VA Official Cites Education Possibilities

Eligible Korean war veterans and war orphans in Maryland should make application now for schooling and vocational counseling to avoid the late summer rush prior to entering school this fall, Sam J. Weston, local Veterans Administration representative, said yesterday.

He pointed out that training must begin for Korean veterans within three years after their separation from service, with the training period not to exceed 36 months. Educational allowances for veterans without dependents, in full-time study or training, is $110 per month; for those with one dependent, $135 per month; and for those with more than one dependent, $160 per month.

Vocational counseling is provided for non-disabled veterans when requested. Disabled veterans desiring rehabilitation training to help overcome their handicaps are required to accept vocational counseling.

Under the "Junior GI Bill" for war orphans, Mr. Weston said financial aid up to $110 a month for full-time schooling is available for the education of sons and daughters of World War I and II and the Korean war veterans who died or may die of disabilities resulting from their military service. These young people must receive counseling to aid them in developing their educational programs and selecting their training goals. Generally, "war orphans" must be between 18 and 23 years of age and may receive up to 36 months of training.

Sen. Randolph Disagrees With Democrat Chairman

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) took issue Wednesday night with Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler's recent charge that the congressional leadership has been too conservative.

Addressing the closing banquet of the Commercial Law League convention, Randolph said he was not among senators who have demanded Butler's removal since leveling the charge. However, the senator said he is "not in accord with the procedure followed by Butler."

Butler said during a television appearance Sunday that his party's congressional leaders should abandon their "conservative and moderate" stand or risk losing the 1960 presidential election.

"We have not achieved the progress in some areas that I would personally have desired," Randolph said. "But we have accomplished substantive measures in the fields of national defense, mutual security, international health cooperation and a housing program vetoed Tuesday by the President."

The senator added that Eisenhower was "ill - advised" and "wrong" in vetoing the House - Senate compromise housing measure and that "perhaps the presidential opposition can be overridden."

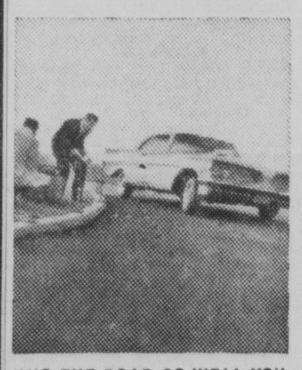
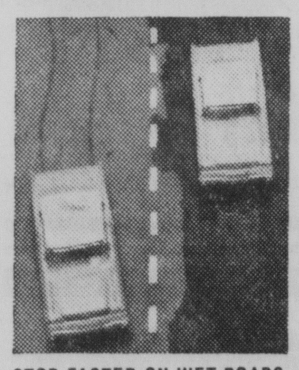
NEW "NO SQUEAL"
ATLAS BUCRON TIRES



HUG THE ROAD SO WELL YOU CAN'T MAKE THEM SQUEAL. That's a unique feature of this new kind of tire. Another — they soak up road shock so efficiently that you get a brand new kind of ride.



STOP FASTER ON WET ROADS THAN OTHER TIRES CAN ON DRY. Test after test proves that these tires stop 30% faster than ordinary rubber tires. Their special design puts more rubber in contact with the road.

YEARS OF TESTING PROVE LONG LIFE. In desert sun and mountain cold, tires of Butyl stay flexible, don't dry or crack like other rubber. They withstand deterioration, a unique contribution to longer life.

These are the sensational tires that ride, stop, look, and last like no others!

This is the season to get acquainted with the remarkable new tires of man-made miracle rubber... Atlas Bucron Tires. No matter where you drive them, the difference in ride is noticeable at once. In turnpike driving, road noise and car rattles virtually disappear. For this new tire flows over uneven spots, instead of bouncing over them.

And this revolutionary rubber grips roads so well that you can't make Atlas Bucron Tires squeal even with tight turns and panic stops. In fact, they stop shorter on wet surfaces than others on dry... 30% shorter than the best ordinary rubber tires! Yet they cost less than most premium tires.

Now that the pleasure-driving season is here, we earnestly suggest that you visit your Esso Dealer's and get a full set of "No Squeal" Atlas Bucron Tires, made of Butyl, a product of Esso Research. See how much enjoyment, luxury, and extra safety they add to your "Happy Motoring!"

Local Girl Scout Patrol Arrives Safely At Roundup

The Cumberland Girl Scout Patrol which left here last week for the Senior Girl Scout International Roundup at Colorado Springs, Colo., arrived safely and on schedule, according to a letter received by The News from Barbara Johnson, correspondent for the patrol.

Miss Johnson writes that the patrol arrived in Chicago on time and before boarding a Burlington Railway train for the Colorado campsite, the girls visited several points of interest.

Among these were a visit to the Chicago Museum of Natural History, the Museum of Science and Industry, lunch at Fred Harvey's, a visit to the site of the International Fair now being set up, and tours of the Wrigley Building, the Prudential Insurance Company Building, the Chicago Tribune and Lincoln Park.

She notes that downtown areas of Chicago, such as State Street, were being gaily decorated for the visit of Queen Elizabeth.

When the patrol arrived at Colorado Springs they were welcomed by an Army band which serenaded them while they boarded buses for the Roundup site. Barbara writes that all the girls are well and each passed the required physical examination satisfactorily.

They experienced a little difficulty setting up their tents and equipment because of a high wind, but managed to get everything "camp-shape" in good time. On Sunday, the Cumberland patrol participated with other patrols in a flag ceremony.

She wrote that the patrol is happy, busy and that they are enjoying the experience of meeting other scouts from many places.

In ancient Greece, small pieces of bread were used in place of napkins. They were disposed of by throwing them on the floor for the dogs.

Phone Company Plans Building In Oldtown

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company yesterday obtained a building permit from the Allegany County assessment department for construction of a building to house the dial equipment in the Oldtown area.

This $12,000 concrete block building will be 42 by 23 feet in size and will be located on a seven-tenths of an acre tract on Wilson Road.

Back on March 31, W. Griffin Morrel, vice president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland announced that the C&P directors had authorized $113,000 to construct a building, install central office equipment and place additional cable for a new dial switching center at Oldtown.

Report Given On Diseases

The annual report of communicable diseases in Allegany County during 1958 shows there were 42 cases of measles and 33 cases of tuberculosis.

A state-wide report has been received by the Allegany County Health Department from the Bureau of Epidemiology of the Maryland State Department of Health.

A breakdown of other type diseases in the county shows there were 12 cases of mumps, 12 cases of streptococcal infections, including scarlet fever, and a similar number of cases of syphilis.

The report also shows there were nine cases of gonorrhea, six cases of chickenpox, four cases of encephalitis, three meningitis, two meningococcal infections, and one case each of German measles, hepatitis and polio.

In Garrett County there was reported one case of typhoid fever, four cases of tuberculosis, three cases of gonorrhea, two cases of syphilis, two streptococcal infections and a case of mumps and one of measles.

Equity Suits Filed In Circuit Court

A number of new equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The bills of complaint were titled Betty Marie Densmore vs. Vincent Densmore, Mary Virginia Troutman vs. Richard Louis Troutman, Alvin Glen Murphy vs. Woneda Carol Murphy, Nellie A. Lease vs. Milton R. Lease, Dolores A. Scharf vs. Eugene W. Scharf, Robert Platt vs. Agnes Platt, Ruby Eileen Steppe vs. William Thomas Steppe and Dora I. Bucy, by Nora E. Piper, mother, and next friend, vs. Dewey C. Bucy.

VA Official Cites Education Possibilities

Eligible Korean war veterans and war orphans in Maryland should make application now for schooling and vocational counseling to avoid the late summer rush prior to entering school this fall, Sam J. Weston, local Veterans Administration representative, said yesterday.

He pointed out that training must begin for Korean veterans within three years after their separation from service, with the training period not to exceed 36 months. Educational allowances for veterans without dependents, in full-time study or training, is $110 per month; for those with one dependent, $135 per month; and for those with more than one dependent, $160 per month.

Vocational counseling is provided for non-disabled veterans when requested. Disabled veterans desiring rehabilitation training to help overcome their handicaps are required to accept vocational counseling.

Under the "Junior GI Bill" for war orphans, Mr. Weston said financial aid up to $110 a month for full-time schooling is available for the education of sons and daughters of World War I and II and the Korean war veterans who died or may die of disabilities resulting from their military service. These young people must receive counseling to aid them in developing their educational programs and selecting their training goals. Generally, "war orphans" must be between 18 and 23 years of age and may receive up to 36 months of training.

Sen. Randolph Disagrees With Democrat Chairman

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) took issue Wednesday night with Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler's recent charge that the congressional leadership has been too conservative.

Addressing the closing banquet of the Commercial Law League convention, Randolph said he was not among senators who have demanded Butler's removal since leveling the charge. However, the senator said he is "not in accord with the procedure followed by Butler."

Butler said during a television appearance Sunday that his party's congressional leaders should abandon their "conservative and moderate" stand or risk losing the 1960 presidential election.

"We have not achieved the progress in some areas that I would personally have desired," Randolph said. "But we have accomplished substantive measures in the fields of national defense, mutual security, international health cooperation and a housing program vetoed Tuesday by the President."

The senator added that Eisenhower was "ill - advised" and "wrong" in vetoing the House - Senate compromise housing measure and that "perhaps the presidential opposition can be overridden."

The U. S. Labor Department official who observed that despite the quickening pace of economic recovery many factory jobs that "existed before the recession are still unfilled and perhaps non-existent" was dealing with a limited area of the national scene. For that reason his statement should not give rise to undue apprehensions.

He could not have meant that those who have not returned to factory payrolls are doomed to join a standing army of unemployed. Or else he didn't know much about U. S. economic history.

In a recession such as that of 1958, it is natural for manufacturers to check their operations for possible economies. The degree of their success can be measured in part by the extent to which reviving production outpaces the growth of payrolls.

In economic setbacks of earlier years the pattern that followed was much the same as the one being experienced today. Then as now the total national industrial output surged ahead much faster than factory employment.

But in the final accounting the economy always moved ahead and employment with it. Even now, with factory employment nationally listed as slightly below the 1957 level, the industrial production index is hitting all-time peaks.

Manufacturing, along with other facets of the economy, is adding bigger and bigger chunks to the total national output, giving more and more people not only a share in its yield but more leisure to travel, to play . . . and to demand more services. It is through this changing pattern that many persons are finding new work opportunities.

There may not be as many workers answering the factory whistle, but a spiraling population is enjoying a better life with less effort and more leisure.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Problem Of War

What has come out of the Mikoyan visit, the Geneva Conference, the Kozlov visit thus far is that both Soviet Russia and the United States are trying hard not to make war, but neither side wishes the other to believe that it could not make and win a war if it had to.

When the Geneva Conference was on, Khrushchev, as usual, was traveling about making speeches from the sidelines. He has to have front billing all the time, which is his right in the Russian way of life. He had to yell down Gromyko who sat stonily waiting for a cue which apparently never came. The discouraging fact is that the Geneva Conference might have paved the way to a summit conference which Khrushchev wants.

Kozlov, the current Russian envoy, is, next to Khrushchev and Mikoyan, the leading figure in present day Russia. He is heavy set and heavy-handed. He has none of the Armenian delicacy of Mikoyan and therefore made the stupid slip about Russia paying for American aid in the early 1920's when Herbert Hoover brought food to the starving Russians. A really smart man would have been better briefed.

Kozlov is reputed to have been Stalin's principal anti-Semite, the inventor of the Jewish Doctors' Plot Case which was created to pave the way for blaming Stalin's death on Jewish conspirators—a plot that was completely proved to be false when Khrushchev came to power. The rise to high estate in Russia requires a peculiar leavening. Kozlov's was anti-Semitism when that fitted Stalin's mood.

The Russians like to threaten. They never stop threatening us over Berlin and yet they know that nothing could do them as much damage as a war. Granted that a war would hurt us just as much and perhaps even more, no matter what happens to us, all the newly-built establishments of Soviet industrialism would undoubtedly be wiped out during the first few days of a nuclear war. The Russians have calculated that risk and do not seek war.

What then would become of Soviet Russia? The cynic will ask, what will become of the United States, but that is not here the issue. The issue is what would become of Soviet Russia, of its new installattions, its factories, mills, mines and mountains of iron? They would, of course, be blown to rubble immediately. It is no longer a question as to who strikes the first blow, because all who are able to strike are in about equal position to strike and the blows would be simultaneous.

The Russians understand this perfectly. Therefore while Khrushchev threatens that if he is not invited to meet President Eisenhower face to face, he will ultimately bury us, his associates come here and go to other countries speaking for peace while they reject every formula that could establish peace. But they never let go of the rope in this tug of war. They continue keeping in close touch and they work the people-to-people business for all it is worth, hoping perhaps that one day, Americans will say that what is Berlin or Formosa, or Iran or even Cuba worth to us if we can have peace. Or they may assume that the Bolshoi Ballet or the Moscow State Orchestra will lull us into accepting dishonorable terms.

The measure of Russian or, for that matter, American sincerity, would be a disarmament treaty providing for neutral inspection, perhaps under the United Nations. Without inspection, a disarmament treaty is worthless. Such a treaty was written in Washington in 1922 with Japan, but when Pearl Harbor arrived, it was evident beyond doubt that the treaty had been violated by Japan.

A disarmament treaty without inspection is an open door to deceit among nations. To leave disarmament to an honor system in these days of nuclear warfare, is to risk another Pearl Harbor and a total defeat. It does not matter whether the Administration in Washington is Republican or Democratic, it must insist on inspection.

Perhaps it came as a shock to most people that little Israel has a sufficiently developed munitions industry to be making sales to West Germany. As a matter of fact, now that even small nations are setting up nuclear systems, there can be no peace unless there is world-wide inspection of nuclear activity and of the manufacture of munitions of all kinds.

America's Complacency May Cost Nation Place As First-Class Power

By Drew Pearson

BOSTON — As the result of a traffic accident this writer spent part of the Fourth of July weekend in the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. This does not mean that New England automobiles are more deadly than bureaucrats' brickbats, but rather that my wife should be more careful about riding such an old-fashioned means of locomotion as the bicycle.

However, thanks to the skill of Dr. V. H. Kazanjian, the plastic surgeon who has worked such miracles with wounded GIs, and thanks also to the kindly efficiency of Massachusetts General nurses, Mrs. P. emerged battered, but all in one piece. She is pondering my advice that jet planes are now safer than bicycles. After all, times change.

While I was sitting in the hospital, the people of Boston, leaving for long weekends or sitting on the banks of the Charles River listening to those delightful pops concerts, were only mildly interested in the statement of Nikita Khrushchev to Averell Harriman that Russia would gain supremacy over the United States in a relatively few years. They seemed more concerned over news that Mike Higgins had been fired as manager of the Boston Red Sox.

You can't blame them. Simultaneously their leader in the White House had left for an even longer weekend in Maryland apparently with no pressing cares other than the rubbers of bridge and the holes of golf he was going to play with his Camp David guests.

Embattled Americans

Out at Lexington, now 15 minutes from Boston, though a long, tough ride when Paul Revere had to make it on horseback, tourists inspected the village green where embattled farmers tried to fight off British Redcoats in those days when we weren't interested in long weekends and when the only bridge that meant anything was that at Concord where another group of farmers fired the shot heard round the world.

Things have changed since then. The shot that would now be heard round the world, if fired, has been transferred to Berlin, far from the suburbs of Boston.

At Lexington when Captain Parker said "Stand your ground. Don't fire unless fired upon, but if they mean to have war, let it begin here," a total of 11 Americans were killed.

But at Berlin if Secretary of State Herter says "We'll stand our ground. If they mean war, let it begin here," around 48,000,000 Americans might well be killed. That is the figure propounded by the Holifield committee regarding the consequence of atomic war.

Yes, things change.

Crippling Complacency

What Khrushchev was saying when he told Harriman that the USSR would surpass the USA was that the USA was on the road to becoming a second-class power. Some months ago this writer coauthored a book "U.S.A.—Second Class Power?" which warned of this same danger. Some people were shocked at the title, considered the authors scare-mongers.

In Boston some people seemed a bit shocked at Khrushchev's boast to Harriman. They couldn't believe that the country built up by the courage and energy of those who battled at Lexington could be in danger of becoming a second-class power.

But things change. Especially they change if we get complacent. Let's look at the record of complacency and change.

It has now been almost two years since Russia launched its first sputnik, October 4, 1957, and the USA has not launched a satellite anywhere near the size of this first sputnik. In that same period we have not yet launched a long-range misile. Russia has launched a dozen. Our Secretary of Defense has even stated publicly that we have no plans for catching up with Russia on long-range missiles.

To develop missiles and sputniks requires the development of scientists, which in turn requires accelerated, intensified education. Our Commissioner of Education, Dr. Lawrence Derthick, an Eisenhower appointee, has officially reported that Russia has made amazing strides in education, that her teachers are excellent, that her average of students per classroom is lower than our.

Simultaneously, an aid to education bill improving both teachers and classrooms is blocked in Congress by Speaker Sam Rayburn, a bachelor, and Democratic leader John McCormick of Boston, the latter on religious grounds.

If you count the gains of Russia realistically, the Khrushchev boast, distasteful as it is, was based on hard, unpleasant facts. However, facts can be changed. No one dreamed that the little band of farmers who fought at Lexington or the political upstarts who signed the Declaration of Independence could build a country that would surpass the British Empire as the most powerful nation in the world.

We still are. We are not yet a second-class power. And we don't have to be — if we substitute the spirit of Concord and Lexington for the spirit of complacency.

Mr. Butler Is Out Of Step With The Country

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Paul M. Butler, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is certainly out of step with the country when he criticizes the Democratic leaders in Congress for steering a course that he regards as too conservative.

Mr. Butler says this is going to create a "tough situation in 1960" for the Democrats. But political realists do not look at it that way. The nation has come out of the economic recession and isn't interested in the quack remedies that made headlines when so many people were out of work during the 1958 Congressional campaign. The Democratic leaders in Congress have accurately sensed the trend and have been adapting themselves to it. The truth is that the next Democratic Presidential nominee, in order to win popular approval, is going to have to be an exponent of what might euphemistically be termed "enlightened conservatism."

The facts of economic life are plain to see. Government bonds are selling at low prices. Interest rates are too low to attract investors. The politicians who emphasize the deficit of nearly $13 billion, which was registered in the fiscal year just ended, are inconsistent in arguing for more spending that will keep the Treasury in red ink continuously.

The cleavage in the Democratic Party is significant. Speaker Rayburn resents the use of the term "spenders" to characterize the Democratic Party, but he is unfortunately speaking for only one faction of the party—the conservatives. Almost simultaneously with the Rayburn pronouncement comes, for instance, the much-publicized report and economic study of Leon Keyserling, who was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers in the Truman Administration. It recommends a removal of restraints on spending and measures to keep rates low by artificial means.

Mr. Keyserling would increase the budget from the $77 million recommended by President Eisenhower to $86 billion. No answer is given by Mr. Keyserling as to how the government is going to retain the confidence of the investor public if it keeps on adding to the deficits each year.

Apparently Chairman Butler sides with the Keyserling viewpoint and is criticizing the Democratic leaders because they have not gotten behind bigger spending programs such as are being advocated by the so-called "liberals" in the Democratic Party.

Actually, Congress under the Democratic leadership has not gone as far as it could go to stop the excessive spending of the taxpayers' money. Thus, while the Democratic leaders in Congress boast that they have actually reduced the appropriations sought by the President, this is only half the story. For, as Senator Harry Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, pointed out a few days ago, there has been a lot of "back door" spending which has not gotten the attention it deserves. The Virginia Senator said:

"Subject to further amendment to bills not finally enacted, I am advised that Congressional action on spending bills to date would authorize federal expenditures exceeding Administration requests by $608 million."

Senator Byrd referred specifically to a review by Tax Foundation, Inc., which covers all spending authorizations, appropriations and other spending on which any action has been taken between the beginning of the current session of Congress and July 1. This includes proposed authorizations that involve commitments for further years, too.

"In terms of appropriation bills alone, in their present status," continues Mr. Byrd, "the review shows a reduction of $298 million under Administration requests, but in terms of back-door spending authorizations outside of the appropriation process, the review shows an increase of $906 million over Administration requests. The net increase would be $608 million, subject to further action on pending bills."

There is little doubt that President Eisenhower's crusade in recent months for a balanced budget and a sound dollar has caught on throughout the country, and just as Speaker Rayburn and his colleague, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, were beginning to "point with pride" to their accomplishments, along comes Democratic Chairman Butler to "view with alarm." Small wonder that Senator Mike Mansfield, of Montana, who is the Democratic whip in the Senate, resents the attack by Mr. Butler and exclaims: "We'll have a tough time in 1960 under any circumstances, but the chairman of the Democratic National Committee finding fault with the Democratic leadership is not going to help the party one bit."

The fact, of course, is that Chairman Butler sincerely believes that an opposition party should in the main oppose what the Administration does. While this may be good theory in politics, sometimes it doesn't help at the polls to favor an economic program that could cause prices and the cost of living to skyrocket as the dollar drops in purchasing power. There must be better issues for the Democrats than this in other fields, and certainly on the economic side they can't expect to rock the boat of a growing prosperity and gain votes thereby. The Republicans could have no better issue and could win an election by hammering home the fear of a "change" in helmsmen at Washington.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

President Eisenhower has won the "battle of the budget" with the Democratic-controlled Congress and in so doing has given his party a powerful political issue.

Last fall's election campaigning was carried on in an atmosphere of unemployment and recession gloom. Many small business voters, as well as labor and farm elements of the economy, went to the polls with a feeling of dissatisfaction with the federal administration for its inaction on matters affecting the economy.

It was not surprising, therefore, for Democrats to return to Congress last January, fresh from their political triumphs, with a keen awareness of the basis for their victory.

That was the real origin of the "spending" tag that has been so successfully attached to the current Democratic program.

As the weeks and months rolled by, however, almost all segments of the national economy improved much faster than even the Republican administration had hoped. Lagging employment picked up markedly in the spring, removing just about the last cloud on the economic horizon.

Inevitably, as pressures from recession-hurt business and labor lessened, some of the Democrats' big spending scheme lost their support, which had been based primarily on the need for the federal government to spend more to take up the business slack.

It came as no surprise, therefore, that the Democratic leadership on Capitol Hill saw the handwriting on the wall and decided to beat a retreat from their huge public housing, airport construction and other pump-priming measures.

The Bull Market

By Leslie Gould

In a bull market such as this one—now on its 11th year—not all stocks go up. This is particularly so in the current phase, after a rise that has quadrupled general values.

The market has just made an all-time high in the averages, showing an 11½ percent gain since the first of the year.

This is fine for investors who have the 30 stocks making up the industrial averages, although if they had five of the 30, they would be out money.

This market is highly selective. Within a month, more than a quarter of the shares listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange have made new lows. Even taking in the recovery in the last couple of weeks these shares are off—some substantially—from where they started the year.

Of the 30 stocks making up the Dow Jones industrial averages, such top quality issues as American Can, United Aircraft, Standard Oil of California and Standard Oil of N. J., are off 10 percent or more, except Texaco.

These have been offset by strong markets in such shares as Allied Chemical, Chrysler, du Pont, General Foods, Goodyear, International Harvester, Sears Roebuck, Swift, Union Carbide, and Westinghouse.

There has been no bull market this year for the holders of important stocks in such groups as the aircraft manufacturing, building, can manufacturing, cement, gold mining, oils, sugars, and public utilities.

Some of these may be in a buying range, being behind the market. The oils are certainly so. In fact, buying in this group has been of good quality in recent weeks.

There are times when the market can be bought almost blindly. However, there are exceptions even to this.

The stock market has had one of its greatest and longest booms on record. Since the lows of 1942, the market, as measured by the D-J industrials has gone up more than 550 points, and from the start of the boom in June of 1949, nearly 400 points.

A number of stocks in this period have gotten nowhere and quite a few have lost ground. Some of these have been quality issues—or so they seemed.

American Standard, a leader in the building field, is not far from where it was in 1943. It is only 3⅝ points above the 1943 low. In the air lines, Capital, which has had a wide swing, is selling below its 1943 low. So is Commercial Solvents.

Congoleum has gotten nowhere, being just about where it was 16 years ago. The same for Curtis Publishing. Underwood is nearly 4 points below its 1942 low. U. S. Smelting is around 33½, compared to 60 in 1942.

Singer Manufacturing is only a little more than 3 points above its 1943 low. The same for United Shoe, also on the American Stock Exchange.

These show that even in such a bull market, an investor needs to be selective. This is more so today, after an advance. More than ever, care needs to be taken in making purchases, as well as in switching from one stock to another.

There is only one way for the average person to "play" the market. That is not to speculate, but to dollar average in good stocks. This is investing a fixed sum every year in the selected stocks, and paying no attention to the daily fluctuations.

A previous column showed where a person investing $1,000 a year in the country's largest mutual fund over the last 32 years, had more than trebled his investment, and received more money in dividends than he has put into the shares.

Long, Careful Treatment For Young Arthritics

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Approximately 1,200 children develop arthritis in this country annually. This is not a large number when compared with the frequency of the disease among adults. But many of these youngsters become crippled and are handicapped for years to come.

The cause of juvenile arthritis is not known but it often follows infection of the nose and throat. Many of these youngsters were in poor health to begin with and the added inflamation was just enough to push them into the arthritic state.

The condition develops abruptly in some with high fever, loss of appetite, and fatigue. The child looks and acts sick. In such instances, the joint pains are preceded by a faint, salmon-pink, discrete rash over the entire body.

In others, the illness comes on more gradually and the parents are not aware of its nature or seriousness until the joints become inflamed and swollen. There may be fleeting pains in the fingers or elbows or stiffness of the knees or shoulders on arising.

As a rule, arthritis begins in one or more joints at the same time. A knee, hand, elbow, wrist, and ankle are favored. Pain and stiffness may be so severe the child wants to stay in bed. This type of rheumatoid arthritis is a generalized disease. Heart involvement may occur, leading to leakage and to changes in the electrocardiogram. The disorder may be so similar to rheumatic fever, the true diagnosis often is in doubt.

The usual treatment for arthritis is fairly effective in these youngsters. They rest in bed during the acute and more painful stage of the disease and receive the steroid hormones to hasten recovery.

Vitamins and nourishing foods increase resistance. These boys and girls may need months or years of follow-up care, especially to correct residual deformities of the arms and legs.

Try And Stop Me

A wise old man in a small town passed a pet shop, and was astonished to note that the price tag on a mean-looking parrot in the window was $100. Arrived home, he shooed a turkey into a case and marched it down to the pet shop. "This gobbler," he announced, "is yours for $200."

The pet shop owner laughed. "You must be joking," he said. "Not at all," the wise man told him. "If that mangy parrot is worth a hundred, this fat, succulent turkey ought to be priced at three hundred."

"But," protested the owner, "my parrot talks. What can your fool turkey do?"

"My turkey," said the wise man proudly, "is a philosopher. He thinks!"

"That Billy the Kid," chuckled a grizzled old-time, "was one for the books. They don't make 'em like Billy any more. Why, he had killed 21 men by the time he was 21 years old."

"Wow!" exclaimed one of his younger listeners. "What kind of a car did he drive?"

The U. S. Labor Department official who observed that despite the quickening pace of economic recovery many factory jobs that "existed before the recession are still unfilled and perhaps non-existent" was dealing with a limited area of the national scene. For that reason his statement should not give rise to undue apprehensions.

He could not have meant that those who have not returned to factory payrolls are doomed to join a standing army of unemployed. Or else he didn't know much about U. S. economic history.

In a recession such as that of 1958, it is natural for manufacturers to check their operations for possible economies. The degree of their success can be measured in part by the extent to which reviving production outpaces the growth of payrolls.

In economic setbacks of earlier years the pattern that followed was much the same as the one being experienced today. Then as now the total national industrial output surged ahead much faster than factory employment.

But in the final accounting the economy always moved ahead and employment with it. Even now, with factory employment nationally listed as slightly below the 1957 level, the industrial production index is hitting all-time peaks.

Manufacturing, along with other facets of the economy, is adding bigger and bigger chunks to the total national output, giving more and more people not only a share in its yield but more leisure to travel, to play . . . and to demand more services. It is through this changing pattern that many persons are finding new work opportunities.

There may not be as many workers answering the factory whistle, but a spiraling population is enjoying a better life with less effort and more leisure.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Problem Of War

What has come out of the Mikoyan visit, the Geneva Conference, the Kozlov visit thus far is that both Soviet Russia and the United States are trying hard not to make war, but neither side wishes the other to believe that it could not make and win a war if it had to.

When the Geneva Conference was on, Khrushchev, as usual, was traveling about making speeches from the sidelines. He has to have front billing all the time, which is his right in the Russian way of life. He had to yell down Gromyko who sat stonily waiting for a cue which apparently never came. The discouraging fact is that the Geneva Conference might have paved the way to a summit conference which Khrushchev wants.

Kozlov, the current Russian envoy, is, next to Khrushchev and Mikoyan, the leading figure in present day Russia. He is heavy set and heavy-handed. He has none of the Armenian delicacy of Mikoyan and therefore made the stupid slip about Russia paying for American aid in the early 1920's when Herbert Hoover brought food to the starving Russians. A really smart man would have been better briefed.

Kozlov is reputed to have been Stalin's principal anti-Semite, the inventor of the Jewish Doctors' Plot Case which was created to pave the way for blaming Stalin's death on Jewish conspirators—a plot that was completely proved to be false when Khrushchev came to power. The rise to high estate in Russia requires a peculiar leavening. Kozlov's was anti-Semitism when that fitted Stalin's mood.

The Russians like to threaten. They never stop threatening us over Berlin and yet they know that nothing could do them as much damage as a war. Granted that a war would hurt us just as much and perhaps even more, no matter what happens to us, all the newly-built establishments of Soviet industrialism would undoubtedly be wiped out during the first few days of a nuclear war. The Russians have calculated that risk and do not seek war.

What then would become of Soviet Russia? The cynic will ask, what will become of the United States, but that is not here the issue. The issue is what would become of Soviet Russia, of its new installattions, its factories, mills, mines and mountains of iron? They would, of course, be blown to rubble immediately. It is no longer a question as to who strikes the first blow, because all who are able to strike are in about equal position to strike and the blows would be simultaneous.

The Russians understand this perfectly. Therefore while Khrushchev threatens that if he is not invited to meet President Eisenhower face to face, he will ultimately bury us, his associates come here and go to other countries speaking for peace while they reject every formula that could establish peace. But they never let go of the rope in this tug of war. They continue keeping in close touch and they work the people-to-people business for all it is worth, hoping perhaps that one day, Americans will say that what is Berlin or Formosa, or Iran or even Cuba worth to us if we can have peace. Or they may assume that the Bolshoi Ballet or the Moscow State Orchestra will lull us into accepting dishonorable terms.

The measure of Russian or, for that matter, American sincerity, would be a disarmament treaty providing for neutral inspection, perhaps under the United Nations. Without inspection, a disarmament treaty is worthless. Such a treaty was written in Washington in 1922 with Japan, but when Pearl Harbor arrived, it was evident beyond doubt that the treaty had been violated by Japan.

A disarmament treaty without inspection is an open door to deceit among nations. To leave disarmament to an honor system in these days of nuclear warfare, is to risk another Pearl Harbor and a total defeat. It does not matter whether the Administration in Washington is Republican or Democratic, it must insist on inspection.

Perhaps it came as a shock to most people that little Israel has a sufficiently developed munitions industry to be making sales to West Germany. As a matter of fact, now that even small nations are setting up nuclear systems, there can be no peace unless there is world-wide inspection of nuclear activity and of the manufacture of munitions of all kinds.

Status Of World Peace

Mr. Butler Is Out Of Step With The Country

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Paul M. Butler, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is certainly out of step with the country when he criticizes the Democratic leaders in Congress for steering a course that he regards as too conservative.

Mr. Butler says this is going to create a "tough situation in 1960" for the Democrats. But political realists do not look at it that way. The nation has come out of the economic recession and isn't interested in the quack remedies that made headlines when so many people were out of work during the 1958 Congressional campaign. The Democratic leaders in Congress have accurately sensed the trend and have been adapting themselves to it. The truth is that the next Democratic Presidential nominee, in order to win popular approval, is going to have to be an exponent of what might euphemistically be termed "enlightened conservatism."

The facts of economic life are plain to see. Government bonds are selling at low prices. Interest rates are too low to attract investors. The politicians who emphasize the deficit of nearly $13 billion, which was registered in the fiscal year just ended, are inconsistent in arguing for more spending that will keep the Treasury in red ink continuously.

The cleavage in the Democratic Party is significant. Speaker Rayburn resents the use of the term "spenders" to characterize the Democratic Party, but he is unfortunately speaking for only one faction of the party—the conservatives. Almost simultaneously with the Rayburn pronouncement comes, for instance, the much-publicized report and economic study of Leon Keyserling, who was chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers in the Truman Administration. It recommends a removal of restraints on spending and measures to keep rates low by artificial means.

Mr. Keyserling would increase the budget from the $77 million recommended by President Eisenhower to $86 billion. No answer is given by Mr. Keyserling as to how the government is going to retain the confidence of the investor public if it keeps on adding to the deficits each year.

Apparently Chairman Butler sides with the Keyserling viewpoint and is criticizing the Democratic leaders because they have not gotten behind bigger spending programs such as are being advocated by the so-called "liberals" in the Democratic Party.

Actually, Congress under the Democratic leadership has not gone as far as it could go to stop the excessive spending of the taxpayers' money. Thus, while the Democratic leaders in Congress boast that they have actually reduced the appropriations sought by the President, this is only half the story. For, as Senator Harry Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, pointed out a few days ago, there has been a lot of "back door" spending which has not gotten the attention it deserves. The Virginia Senator said:

"Subject to further amendment to bills not finally enacted, I am advised that Congressional action on spending bills to date would authorize federal expenditures exceeding Administration requests by $608 million."

Senator Byrd referred specifically to a review by Tax Foundation, Inc., which covers all spending authorizations, appropriations and other spending on which any action has been taken between the beginning of the current session of Congress and July 1. This includes proposed authorizations that involve commitments for further years, too.

"In terms of appropriation bills alone, in their present status," continues Mr. Byrd, "the review shows a reduction of $298 million under Administration requests, but in terms of back-door spending authorizations outside of the appropriation process, the review shows an increase of $906 million over Administration requests. The net increase would be $608 million, subject to further action on pending bills."

There is little doubt that President Eisenhower's crusade in recent months for a balanced budget and a sound dollar has caught on throughout the country, and just as Speaker Rayburn and his colleague, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, were beginning to "point with pride" to their accomplishments, along comes Democratic Chairman Butler to "view with alarm." Small wonder that Senator Mike Mansfield, of Montana, who is the Democratic whip in the Senate, resents the attack by Mr. Butler and exclaims: "We'll have a tough time in 1960 under any circumstances, but the chairman of the Democratic National Committee finding fault with the Democratic leadership is not going to help the party one bit."

The fact, of course, is that Chairman Butler sincerely believes that an opposition party should in the main oppose what the Administration does. While this may be good theory in politics, sometimes it doesn't help at the polls to favor an economic program that could cause prices and the cost of living to skyrocket as the dollar drops in purchasing power. There must be better issues for the Democrats than this in other fields, and certainly on the economic side they can't expect to rock the boat of a growing prosperity and gain votes thereby. The Republicans could have no better issue and could win an election by hammering home the fear of a "change" in helmsmen at Washington.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

President Eisenhower has won the "battle of the budget" with the Democratic-controlled Congress and in so doing has given his party a powerful political issue.

Last fall's election campaigning was carried on in an atmosphere of unemployment and recession gloom. Many small business voters, as well as labor and farm elements of the economy, went to the polls with a feeling of dissatisfaction with the federal administration for its inaction on matters affecting the economy.

It was not surprising, therefore, for Democrats to return to Congress last January, fresh from their political triumphs, with a keen awareness of the basis for their victory.

That was the real origin of the "spending" tag that has been so successfully attached to the current Democratic program.

As the weeks and months rolled by, however, almost all segments of the national economy improved much faster than even the Republican adminisration had hoped. Lagging employment picked up markedly in the spring, removing just about the last cloud on the economic horizon.

Inevitably, as pressures from recession-hurt business and labor lessened, some of the Democrats' big spending scheme lost their support, which had been based primarily on the need for the federal government to spend more to take up the business slack.

It came as no surprise, therefore, that the Democratic leadership on Capitol Hill saw the handwriting on the wall and decided to beat a retreat from their huge public housing, airport construction and other pump-priming measures.

America's Complacency May Cost Nation Place As First-Class Power

By Drew Pearson

BOSTON — As the result of a traffic accident this writer spent part of the Fourth of July weekend in the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. This does not mean that New England automobiles are more deadly than bureaucrats' brickbats, but rather that my wife should be more careful about riding such an old-fashioned means of locomotion as the bicycle.

However, thanks to the skill of Dr. V. H. Kazanjian, the plastic surgeon who has worked such miracles with wounded GIs, and thanks also to the kindly efficiency of Massachusetts General nurses, Mrs. P. emerged battered, but all in one piece. She is pondering my advice that jet planes are now safer than bicycles. After all, times change.

While I was sitting in the hospital, the people of Boston, leaving for long weekends or sitting on the banks of the Charles River listening to those delightful pops concerts, were only mildly interested in the statement of Nikita Khrushchev to Averell Harriman that Russia would gain supremacy over the United States in a relatively few years. They seemed more concerned over news that Mike Higgins had been fired as manager of the Boston Red Sox.

You can't blame them. Simultaneously their leader in the White House had left for an even longer weekend in Maryland apparently with no pressing cares other than the rubbers of bridge and the holes of golf he was going to play with his Camp David guests.

Embattled Americans

Out at Lexington, now 15 minutes from Boston, though a long, tough ride when Paul Revere had to make it on horseback, tourists inspected the village green where embattled farmers tried to fight off British Redcoats in those days when we weren't interested in long weekends and when the only bridge that meant anything was that at Concord where another group of farmers fired the shot heard round the world.

Things have changed since then. The shot that would now be heard round the world, if fired, has been transferred to Berlin, far from the suburbs of Boston.

At Lexington when Captain Parker said "Stand your ground. Don't fire unless fired upon, but if they mean to have war, let it begin here," a total of 11 Americans were killed.

But at Berlin if Secretary of State Herter says "We'll stand our ground. If they mean war, let it begin here," around 48,000,000 Americans might well be killed. That is the figure propounded by the Holifield committee regarding the consequence of atomic war.

Yes, things change.

Crippling Complacency

What Khrushchev was saying when he told Harriman that the USSR would surpass the USA was that the USA was on the road to becoming a second-class power. Some months ago this writer coauthored a book "U.S.A.—Second Class Power?" which warned of this same danger. Some people were shocked at the title, considered the authors scare-mongers.

In Boston some people seemed a bit shocked at Khrushchev's boast to Harriman. They couldn't believe that the country built up by the courage and energy of those who battled at Lexington could be in danger of becoming a second-class power.

But things change. Especially they change if we get complacent. Let's look at the record of complacency and change.

It has now been almost two years since Russia launched its first sputnik, October 4, 1957, and the USA has not launched a satellite anywhere near the size of this first sputnik. In that same period we have not yet launched a long-range misile. Russia has launched a dozen. Our Secretary of Defense has even stated publicly that we have no plans for catching up with Russia on long-range missiles.

To develop missiles and sputniks requires the development of scientists, which in turn requires accelerated, intensified education. Our Commissioner of Education, Dr. Lawrence Derthick, an Eisenhower appointee, has officially reported that Russia has made amazing strides in education, that her teachers are excellent, that her average of students per classroom is lower than our.

Simultaneously, an aid to education bill improving both teachers and classrooms is blocked in Congress by Speaker Sam Rayburn, a bachelor, and Democratic leader John McCormick of Boston, the latter on religious grounds.

If you count the gains of Russia realistically, the Khrushchev boast, distasteful as it is, was based on hard, unpleasant facts. However, facts can be changed. No one dreamed that the little band of farmers who fought at Lexington or the political upstarts who signed the Declaration of Independence could build a country that would surpass the British Empire as the most powerful nation in the world.

We still are. We are not yet a second-class power. And we don't have to be — if we substitute the spirit of Concord and Lexington for the spirit of complacency.

The Bull Market

By Leslie Gould

In a bull market such as this one—now on its 11th year—not all stocks go up. This is particularly so in the current phase, after a rise that has quadrupled general values.

The market has just made an all-time high in the averages, showing an 11½ percent gain since the first of the year.

This is fine for investors who have the 30 stocks making up the industrial averages, although if they had five of the 30, they would be out money.

This market is highly selective. Within a month, more than a quarter of the shares listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange have made new lows. Even taking in the recovery in the last couple of weeks these shares are off—some substantially—from where they started the year.

Of the 30 stocks making up the Dow Jones industrial averages, such top quality issues as American Can, United Aircraft, Standard Oil of California and Standard Oil of N. J., are off 10 percent or more, except Texaco.

These have been offset by strong markets in such shares as Allied Chemical, Chrysler, du Pont, General Foods, Goodyear, International Harvester, Sears Roebuck, Swift, Union Carbide, and Westinghouse.

There has been no bull market this year for the holders of important stocks in such groups as the aircraft manufacturing, building, can manufacturing, cement, gold mining, oils, sugars, and public utilities.

Some of these may be in a buying range, being behind the market. The oils are certainly so. In fact, buying in this group has been of good quality in recent weeks.

There are times when the market can be bought almost blindly. However, there are exceptions even to this.

The stock market has had one of its greatest and longest booms on record. Since the lows of 1942, the market, as measured by the D-J industrials has gone up more than 550 points, and from the start of the boom in June of 1949, nearly 400 points.

A number of stocks in this period have gotten nowhere and quite a few have lost ground. Some of these have been quality issues—or so they seemed.

American Standard, a leader in the building field, is not far from where it was in 1943. It is only 3⅝ points above the 1943 low. In the air lines, Capital, which has had a wide swing, is selling below its 1943 low. So is Commercial Solvents.

Congoleum has gotten nowhere, being just about where it was 16 years ago. The same for Curtis Publishing. Underwood is nearly 4 points below its 1942 low. U. S. Smelting is around 33½, compared to 60 in 1942.

Singer Manufacturing is only a little more than 3 points above its 1943 low. The same for United Shoe, also on the American Stock Exchange.

These show that even in such a bull market, an investor needs to be selective. This is more so today, after an advance. More than ever, care needs to be taken in making purchases, as well as in switching from one stock to another.

There is only one way for the average person to "play" the market. That is not to speculate, but to dollar average in good stocks. This is investing a fixed sum every year in the selected stocks, and paying no attention to the daily fluctuations.

A previous column showed where a person investing $1,000 a year in the country's largest mutual fund over the last 32 years, had more than trebled his investment, and received more money in dividends than he has put into the shares.

Cresaptown To Hold Outdoor Festival

The Cresaptown Community Council will hold an outdoor fun festival on the Cresaptown School playground from Monday, July 20, through Monday, July 27.

The members of the community organizations participating will meet Monday evening, July 20, to set up rides and equipment, and playground activities will begin Tuesday, July 21.

Mrs. Helen Lowendick, council chairman, appointed this committee to arrange for the benefit event: Mrs. Arlie Borror and Mrs. Lester McGill, co-chairmen, and John Yoder, Dirk Vandenberg and William Anderson.

Practically every civic organization in Cresaptown will participate.

The Cresaptown Homemakers Club and Cresaptown Methodist Church will sponsor a bake sale. The Cresaptown Boy Scout Troop and the Cresaptown PTA will sell refreshments.

The Cub Scouts and the Little League and Pony League members will canvass the community to sell booster tickets.

The Four-H Club will hold a bake sale homemade candy sale and the Girl Scouts will have charge of a fish pond.

The Cresaptown Eagles will have charge of setting up booths and the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Company will handle the parade on Friday, July 24.

St. Ambrose Catholic Church and the American Legion Auxiliary and Firemen's Auxiliary will have charge of games of skill.

The Potomac Valley Lions Club and the Cresaptown Lay Health Group are jointly sponsoring a variety show in the Cresaptown School Auditorium on Thursday evening, July 23. The Lay Health Group members and the wives of Lions Club members will hold a candy sale at this event.

A festival queen will be crowned during the variety show. Mrs. Charles Wendt, Mrs. Borror, Mrs. Loewendick, Mrs. Stanley Miller, and Mrs. McGill are meeting today, to complete details for the contest. Plans will be announced immediately.

The Community Council will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the Cresaptown School to complete plans for the outdoor fun festival.

City Tennis Proves Popular

A surprising interest in tennis is being shown by local teen-agers, according to C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, who said the free instruction classes sponsored by the City Recreation Department have been drawing near-capacity attendance.

The program was begun two weeks ago with the official opening of the summer playground season, Mason, and the instruction at the city's four playground tennis courts have attracted an average of 15 to 20 students each day.

The free lessons, from 10 a. m. to noon each day, are under the supervison of Douglas Sullivan, the city tennis champion in 1954. On Mondays, the North End courts are available for West Side teen-agers; on Tuesdays, East Side youngsters are given instruction at the Gephart Playground courts; Wednesdays are for North End teen-agers at the playground off Holland Street, and on Thursdays the Fort Hill High School courts are used for South End youngsters.

Mason said the classes are for those between 13 and 19 years of age, and that each of the age groups are well represented at the instruction periods.

Plans are being formulated for a city-wide tournament to be held towards the end of the playground season, and Mason said the competition is expected to be keen, judging from the interest being shown in Sullivan's classes.

LaVale Fire Tax Meeting Friday Night

An open discussion will be sponsored by the LaVale Volunteer Fire Department Friday at 8 p. m. in the fire hall on the proposed fire tax for the area covered by the fire company.

The fire company clarified the district it protects and which falls under the law passed in the 1959 General Assembly setting up the referendum on the proposed fire tax.

This is from the Route 40 bridge, in the Narrows at the Cumberland City limits, through to the Six Mile House. It goes 300 yards beyond the old C&P overhead bridge on Winchester Road, and then up over Haystack Mountain along the city limits.

In Cash Valley the fire district goes to the Western Maryland Railway crossing, and on Route 36 to just beyond Homewood Addition.

Firemen emphasized that House Bill 336 set up a referendum for August 18 for all residents of the LaVale fire area who are registered Allegany County voters. July 18 is the last day that new voters can register at the office of the Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House.

During June, 28 Allegany County residents registered with the County Board of Election Supervisors so they will be eligible for future votes. Included were 15 Democrats and 13 Republicans.

The tax would not exceed ten cents on each $100 of assessable property, the bill states.

The firemen pointed out the tax would eliminate the lengthy house-to-house canvass for funds to maintain the company's equipment.

Garrett GOP Women Review Activities

Consider Plan On Registrations

OAKLAND — The Garrett County Republican Women's Club held a business meeting at the home of the club's president, Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, with 25 members present. A picnic covered dish supper was served.

Reports were given and recent state-wide meetings were discussed. The membership report showed 136 enrolled at the present time. A large increase in membership has been shown since 2700 cards were mailed out by the club to all Republican women in the county, inviting them to join.

The women agreed to use their influence in their own precincts to have each Republican woman registered and voting under her married name, and having records of full and complete addresses.

The women were urged to cooperate in every way with efforts to organize Young Republican Groups, and a letter was read from Miss Karen Ridder of Kitzmiller who had requested the names of all young people of the county who are attending colleges. She is director of this area for organizing Young Republican college groups.

The group acted on a motion to have the recording secretary Mrs. Dwight Stover, write Senator J. Glenn Beall and ask for a top-notch speaker to come to the county for a county - wide meeting early in the fall.

Members were urged to attend the fall Convention of the Maryland Federation in Baltimore in early October.

Hampshire County Court Hears Criminal Cases

ROMNEY, W. Va.—Several indictments were returned by a Hampshire County grand jury after it convened here this week.

James F. Brown, Green Spring, was indicted on a charge of assault of a minor boy. He entered a plea of guilty to the charge and was sentenced to three months in jail by Judge H. Gus Muntzing.

Judge Muntzing suspended the sentence and ordered Brown placed on probation for a period of one year.

John A. Neff, 19, Moorefield, was indicted on a charge of rape of a 14-year-old girl. He entered a plea of guilty and was scheduled for trial by Judge Muntzing.

Three Purgitsville men, Rudy Ned Pierce, Avered Johnson and Lewis P. High, entered guilty pleas to a charge of breaking and entering the summer home of Larry Tornese.

The three were arrested in May and since Johnson and Pierce have been confined in jail since their arrest, Judge Muntzing suspended their sentences and placed them on probation for three years.

Judge Muntzing said he would take the High case under advisement and continued the case until next September.

Two Cumberland youths, Charles and Jack Skinner, entered pleas of guilty to charges of breaking and entering cottages at Blue Beach. The cases occurred in June of 1958 when the Skinners and a gang of youths took three boats and a number of blankets.

Judge Muntzing fined Charles Skinner $50 and costs, and ordered Jack Skinner placed on probation for one year and ordered him to make restitution to the owners of the cabins.

Hoy C. Haines, 47, Romney, and Donavin E. Poling, 38, Romney, were tried on charges of reckless driving. They had been found guilty of the charges by a justice of the peace and appealed the verdicts to circuit court.

Judge Muntzing found both men guilty and gave them 60-day suspended jail sentences and placed them on parole for one year.

Doctor To Open Romney Office

ROMNEY, W. Va.—Dr. George Miley Solan, 33, a native of Moorefield, W. Va., will open an office here early next month.

Dr. Solan is a graduate of the Medical College at Richmond, Va., and is married and the father of two sons.

Since graduation he has been a member of the medical staff at the Man (W. Va.) Memorial Hospital and the Logan (W. Va.) General Hospital.

Class To Dine

PIEDMONT — The Susannah Wesley Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Church will hold their annual outing and dinner at the Old Homestead Hotel, Burlington, Friday.

Frostburg's Little League Needs Finances

FROSTBURG—The Mayor and Council has designated Friday and Saturday as "Little League Days," according to Daniel J. Wilson, president of the Frostburg Little League.

Beginning at 5:15 p. m. Friday, members of Little League teams will canvass the town for donations. Saturday at 10 a. m. the teams will again continue to canvass the area.

Contributions received will be used for balls, bats, insurance, suits and other equipment.

According to Wilson, the Little League field at Community Park is nearing completion and will be used for the first time Monday.

Little League members are requested to be in full uniform Friday and Saturday. The group will meet in the Scout room of the Methodist Church prior to canvassing the town. Managers, coaches and all personnel are asked to attend.

BOYS STATE DELEGATE—Thomas Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Benson, Carpenters Addition, Ridgeley, was a delegate to Boys State at Jacksons Mill, W. Va. A senior at Ridgeley High School next school term, he is an honor student and was sponsored at the event by Knobley Mountain Post 136, Ridgeley, American Legion.

Valley Bus Service Planned Again Today

FRANKLIN, W. Va.—The Superior Bus Service of Harrisonburg, Va., will again carry passengers from the South Branch Valley to Cumberland today.

Merle Martin, president of the company, said the bus will pick up passengers on this schedule which is Eastern Standard Time:

Franklin, 7:45 a. m.; Petersburg, 8:30 a. m.; Moorefield, 9 a. m.; Romney, 10 a. m.; Springfield, 10:10 a. m., and Fort Ashby, 10:20 a. m.

The bus will return through the valley leaving Cumberland at 4 p. m.

The bus company is ready to file an application with the Interstate Commerce Commission to provide service through the valley.

The firm is seeking a temporary permit which will be for a certain period of time so that the passenger-load can be determined in order to fix the type of operation, Martin said.

Linda Dispanet Named Miss CAP Of '59

MOOREFIELD — Miss Linda Dispanet, 16, of Moorefield, was crowned "Miss Civil Air Patrol of 1959" during the annual beauty pageant sponsored by the area CAP in Moorefield High School auditorium last Saturday.

The winner was crowned by last year's queen, Mrs. Joyce Thrush Kephart of Keyser and Princeton, and was presented a lady's wrist watch and a gold loving cup.

Placing second in the contest was Miss Carol Faye Harper of Petersburg. Third place winner was Miss Rita Barbera of Keyser. The two runners-up were given gold plaques which read "Miss CAP Princess of 1959."

Mrs. Jerry Kuykendall was chairman of the contest in which 33 young women competed. Others from Keyser taking part were Misses Eleanor Sagal, Pat Ryon, Sandra Sears, Judy Fuller, Cindy Welshonce and Peggy Oates.

Miss Dispanet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Dispanet, will be a senior at Moorefield High School this year.

The queen and her two princesses appeared on WSVA-TV, Harrisonburg, last evening and were interviewed by Gardner on his Shenandoah Showcase. They will also appear in the feature parade of the state poultry convention in August.

Becerra Wins Bantam Title With 8th Round Knockout

Mexican Wins Crown From Champ

Sends Halimi To Canvas Twice In Last Round

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jose Becerra of Mexico City Wednesday night scored an eighth round knockout over bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi, dropping the title holder twice — the second time for the full count.

The Mexican challenger caught Halimi with a crushing right early in the round sending him down for a four count and then went after him, sending a right to the body and a left hook to the jaw that dropped the champion for good.

The end came at 2:02 in the eighth.

When he went down for the second time, Halimi fell as if he were paralyzed in Becerra's corner. He lay there motionless on his back with Referee Tommy Hart tolling out the 10 seconds.

Becerra Had Edge

Becerra's bruising, crowding tactics had given him an edge through the seventh. But the knockout came unexpectedly, although Halimi was bleeding freely from his left eye and his nose. He appeared to be tiring.

The knockout sequence was similar to the pattern Becerra had set through the fight. He worked the champion against the ropes, pounding him with lefts and rights while Halimi tried to fight his way free of the corners and into the open.

Becerra landed jolting punches, but took three for every one he landed.

The first four count knockdown blow spun Halimi around midway between Becerra's corner and a neutral one. But he took it well, coming up quickly for the short count and appearing in good shape as he resumed his dance-like in-and-out attack.

Halimi weighed 117 pounds, Becerra 117½.

Scented The End

Then Becerra, scenting that the end was near, swarmed over his smaller but faster opponent. Becerra caught him in his own corner, first sending the jolting blow to the body followed by the looping, powerful left hook to the head. And that was the fight.

It was sweet revenge for the Mexicans in the nearly - capacity throng of about 15,000 who attended the bout in the new Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena.

Eighteen months ago the Mexican fans had seen Halimi crush their former idol, Raul Macias, in the French - Algerian's first title defense.

Dapper Giants, Dan Senators Score Victories

The Giants racked up their second victory of the season yesterday by defeating the Pirates in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League. The score was 12 to 5 at Post's field.

Billy Seeders paced the victors with two singles and a fourth-inning home run. Fred Jackson chipped in with a single and triple for the victors who pounded out 12 hits. Saville had a homer and double for the Pirates.

In the Dan Division the Senators won their third game in six starts with a 13-8 triumph over the Braves at Stitcher field. Fairgrieve was the winning pitcher in relief of Natalie. John Robinson banged out four hits in four trips to the plate, including a double, for the Senators. Dan Wagner had a homer and triple and starred at short, and Mike Haines had two hits for the winners.

Garlitz belted a homer and single and Van Ormer, Mackey and Scott each collected two hits for the Braves. The scores:

AT POST'S FIELD:

Giants	035 130—12	12	2
Pirates	013 100— 5	5	3

Twigg and Humbertson, Adams and Conis. HR—Saville (Pirates), Seeders (Giants).

AT STITCHER FIELD:

Braves	400 406— 8	8	9
Senators	214 42x—13	12	3

VanOrmer and Scott, Natalie, Fairgrieve (1) and Stumbaugh, Cornelius (5).

Dick Brodowski Dropped By Tribe

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians announced Wednesday that pitcher Dick Brodowski, a relief specialist sporting a sparkling 1.80 ERA, was dropped from the team.

Brodowski, who was expected to be assigned to a minor league team, was the Indians' most effective fireman earlier in the season, but has been wild in recent outings.

Sets New Mark

CHESTER, W. Va. (AP) — Equated set a new world record for the one-mile and 70-yard race over turf Wednesday at Waterford Park. The time was 1:41 4-5. Equated's time shaved 2-5 of a second off the old record of 1:42 1-5 set by Ruban Roude at Detroit in 1949.

Grantsville, Flintstone, Wellersburg Win Contests

Centerville Bows In 10th Inning

Grantsville's Sluggers rallied for a pair of runs in the bottom of the 10th inning to edge Centerville's Reds, 8-7, yesterday in the Pen Mar League; Wellersburg beat Mt. Savage, 10-7; and Flintstone downed Salisbury, also 10-7.

Grantsville and Centerville battled to a 6-6 tie through nine innings, before the Reds shoved over a run in the top of the first overtime frame.

Grantsville battled back to win the game when Joe Keister was safe on an error, was sacrificed to second and forced at third by Joe Taylor after Junie Perry was intentionally passed. Tucker Cain then doubled home the tying run and Taylor scored the winning tally on a wild pitch.

George Leister had two singles and a homer in the third with two aboard for Grantsville. John Keister and Junie Perry also chipped in with solo circuit clouts in the second and sixth innings respectively.

Glen Streett had two singles and Mel Nee three singles and three runs batted in for Centerville.

At Mt. Savage Wellersburg built up a 10-4 lead and then staved off a rally by the home team in the ninth to win. Cessna paced the victors with three singles while Page had a single and triple and Nimons a pair of singles and a double. Cokie Robertson had two singles and a two-bagger and Corbett had a pair of hits for Mt. Savage.

Flintstone knocked Salisbury out of a tie for second place in the league by belting the visitors, 10-7, in a game shortened to 7½ innings by darkness.

Ralph Peace was the winning pitcher in relief, fanning 11 enemy batsmen in 6⅔ innings. Peace also collected a double and single at the plate. Mike McKenzie, Don Hudson had two hits, and Stan Dynda belted a triple for the winners. Harris with two singles and a double and Oester with a homer led the Salisbury attack. The scores:

B'nai B'rith, Lions Score

Elks Bow, 4-3, In Nine Innings

Manager John Daum's Lions poured 10 runs across the plate in the third inning and went on to defeat the Jayncees, 17-2, last night in the nightcap of a Hot Stove League doubleheader at Penn Avenue field.

In the opening tilt, the Elks bowed 4-3 to B'nai B'rith in nine innings with the winning run scoring on a overthrow at third base.

Colin Smith pitched a two-hitter for the Lions and Pat Wilson collected both bingles for the Jaycees. Jimmy Bell had a single and double, Frank Murray hit a three-run homer in the third and a single, Jim Sisk hit a solo home run in the third, and Rocky Klosterman hit for the circuit in the fourth inning for the Lions.

Larry Peters gained the verdict over Johnny Sloan in the extra-inning battle between the Elks and B'nai B'rith. Kenny Deatlehauser opened the winning ninth for B'ai B'rith with a single, but was forced at second by Tommy Hopwood. Hopwood then stole second and third and came home with the winning run when the catcher threw wild past third on his steal.

Delbert Schoonover saved the victory with a running one-hand catch of Dean's drive in deep left field in the top of the ninth with an Elk runner on second. He threw to second in time to complete an inning-ending double play.

Deatlehauser had three hits, including a double, and Peters collected two bingles for B'nai B'rith. The Elks garnered only three singles. The scores:

Beck, Hughes Win

Rex Beck and Ben Hughes won the men's straight handicap golf tournament yesterday at Maplehurst Country Club, each scoring net 35 for the nine hole course. Beck shot a 39 with a 4 handicap while Hughes had a 40-5-35. Charles Miller was closest the flag on the No. 4 hole and Walter Anthony was nearest the pin on the No. 7 hole.

Yanks Defeat Boston, 11-5

Skowron, Berra Pace The Attack

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill Skowron's 450-foot triple and a towering home run by Yogi Berra led a five-run, fourth-inning outburst Wednesday night and paced the New York Yankees to an 11-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The victory moved the Yankees into a tie for third place with the idle Baltimore Orioles while the loss prevented the Red Sox from vacating the American League cellar.

Bobby Shantz, relegated to "short order relief assignments" during the first half of the season, went the last 7 2-3 innings and picked up his third victory of the season. Shantz yielded six hits, two runs, and struck out eight batters in his longest stint of the season.

Bobby Richardson led off the Yankees' winning rally in the fourth inning with a double and scored on Tony Kubek's single. Mickey Mantle rammed a single to left field and Skowron followed with a drive that landed on the cinder path in front of the left-field bleachers about 450 feet from the plate.

Moments later Berra pulled one of Jack Harshman's pitches high against the front of the third deck of the right-field stands to round out the five-run frame.

Blonde Demond Wins Feature At Delaware

Foul Takes Victory From Patty's Song

STANTON, Del., July 8 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Farringer's Blonde Demond won today's $13,450 Blue Hen Stakes at Delaware Park thanks to the disqualification of Leslie C. Wilson's Patty Song, who finished first by a length but was placed second.

Karl Korte, who rode Blonde Demond, and Nick Shuk, astride fourth-place Prickly Pear, both claimed foul against the winner. After viewing the film patrol movies, the stewards disqualified Patty's Song for bumping and carrying out Blonde Demond entering the stretch. Shuk's claim was not justified, officials ruled.

Blonde Demond, an entry with Irvin David's Chalvedele, finished second by four and a half lengths over her running-mate, while Harvey W. Shaffer's Prickly Pear was daylight behind Chalvedele.

Blonde Demond, who earned $9,725 for her Hollywood, Fla. owner in this second running of the stake for juvenile fillies, is unbeaten with two successes in as many starts. The payoff on the winning entry (both trained by Danny Shea) was $6, $3.20 and $3.20. Patty's Song returned $5.40 and $5.20. The running time was 1:05, fastest five and a half furlongs of the meeting.

The victory of the homebred Blonde Demond was a popular one with most of the crowd of about 14,000, she and Chalvedele going postward favorite in the field of a dozen.

Caseys Edge Legion In 12th, 7-4

Post's, South End Register Victories

The Knights of Columbus scored three runs in the 12th inning yesterday to defeat the Ridgeley Legion, 7-4, and remain undefeated in the American Division of the Men's Rec League. The triumph was the 10th in a row for the Caseys.

The score was deadlocked at 4-all at the end of the regulation seven innings, but the winners combined singles by Jerry Loibel, Rich Garlitz and Van Parsons with a sacrifice and an error to plate three runs in the fifth overtime frame of the Taylor Field contest.

Garlitz paced the Caseys attack with a home run, double and two singles. Barley, Abe and Kegg each had a pair of hits for Ridgeley.

The fielding highlight came in the bottom of the eighth when Gary Smith, Knights of Columbus left fielder, threw out Bill Kenney, losing pitcher for Ridgeley, at the plate. Jerry Loibel hurled the 12 innings for the victory.

At Rolling Mill field Post's Playground scored its ninth win in 10 games by downing Bennett's Transfer, 8-3, to remain on top in the National Division of the Rec circuit.

Moe Barrett hurled a six hitter for Post's and was backed by Ray Silvious' triple and single and three hits by his catcher, Ronnie Lewis. George McGregor had a double and single for Bennett's.

The South End Democrats shoved over seven runs in the fourth and fifth innings to down Potomac Edison, 9-7, at Naval Reserve field. Leading hitters for South End were Paul Lanham with three singles and Ed Smith and Gene Payton with a pair of bingles each. Fred Meeks hit a home run and two singles and Ed Downton hit for the circuit for Potomac Edison. The scores:

Nixon Favors International Third League

Vice President Speaks As Fan

NEW YORK (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said on Wednesday he would like to see a third major league extended internationally to "give baseball tremendous support all over the world, as well as in the United States."

Nixon, speaking as a sports fan and not in an official capacity, made the remarks on Wednesday morning's "Today" television program over the National Broadcasting Co. network. The vice president threw out the first ball at Tuesday's major league All-Star game in Pittsburgh.

Talking on the show with master of ceremonies Dave Garroway, Nixon said: "I think there should be a third major league just as soon as we have the players to put in it. For example, 50 years ago we had two major leagues. Today, with the population almost double that, we still have two leagues.

"The problem, though, is players and today, although baseball is still a great spectator sport, there aren't enough young people playing the game and the minor leagues are losing clubs daily. The result is you don't have enough players funneling up to major league calibre," Nixon continued.

"What I'd like to see would be a third major league that not only would bring in some of our major cities like Minneapolis, Houston and Miami—cities of that type that could support a major league team—but that could be extended internationally to Havana, Montreal and Mexico City.

"With jet flights, to have a great international third major league would give baseball tremendous support all over the world as well as in the U.S."

Nixon added: "I talked to several of the managers yesterday and they pointed out that while they would like a third major league, or to expand the present leagues, they just didn't know where they would get the players."

"Hutch" Hates To Leave Rainiers

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Fred Hutchinson Wednesday night quit the last-place Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League and packed his bag for a quick flight to Cincinnati where he will take over as manager of the National League Redlegs Thursday.

Hutchinson, replacing Mayo Smith who was fired, said the Cincinnati job "was a break I couldn't pass up, as much as I hate to leave the Rainiers in midseason."

"Once you've been in the big leagues, it's a lure and a challenge you always want to whip," Hutchinson said.

Sulphur is mined profitably in the United States only in less than a dozen great sub-surface salt domes.

Vital Force Is Winner At Belmont

Scores In $36,450 Tremont Stakes

ELMONT, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—Tinkham Veale 2nd's Vital Force proved best in the drive to win the 67th running of the $36,450 Tremont Stakes at Belmont Park today.

The 2-year-old son of Degage-Vital, ridden by Willie Hartack, stepped the five and a half furlongs in the sizzling time of 1:05 1/5, two fifths off the track record, to beat a field of 10 other classy juveniles in the best 2-year-old race in New York this year.

Alamode Farm's Ouija Board finished second a neck back of Vital Force and three lengths to the good of Leonard D. Fruchtman's Bally Ache.

Bally Ache stumbled on the parade to the post and unseated jockey Sammy Boulmetis. The horse was picked up by the outriders after running off for three furlongs. Favored at the time of the mishap, the public choice quickly receded as the fans switched to Vital Force, who returned across the board mutuels of $5.40, $3.20 and $2.60. Ouija Board paid $5.40 and $3.30 and Bally Ache was $2.90 to show.

Vital Force, winning his fourth stake, earned a net purse of $23,092 for Tinkham Veale 2nd, Cleveland, Ohio industrialist. Vital Force was a supplemental entry at a cost of $350 for today's stake. Previous stakes won by Vital Force were one division of the Lafayette at Keeneland, the Cherry Hill at Garden State and the Christiana at Delaware Park. Today's gleanings give the gelding a total of $56,315.

Argentina Defaults In Cup Series

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association announced Wednesday that Argentina has defaulted its American Zone Davis Cup tennis match to Cuba. This made Cuba the champion of the southern section of the American Zone.

Cuba next will play the winner of the North American Zone between Australia, Mexico and Canada. Australia and Mexico play at Mexico City, July 18-20, with the winner meeting Canada at Montreal, July 31-Aug. 2.

Touring Pros Vie Today In Western Open

Golfers Look For Par-Busting Play

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The touring golf pros got in their last practice swings Wednesday over the 6,633-yard Pittsburgh Field Club course where the $25,000 Western Open starts Thursday, and most looked for a lot of par-busting during the four days of play.

"This is a lush golf course," said Arnold Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., "and when you get soft greens that hold and still putt good it makes for ideal playing conditions."

Host pro Art Doering thought a score of 279, one under par, would win the tournament. But most guesses among the pros after practice rounds were that the winning score would fall between 275 and 278.

More than two inches of rain fell on the course Sunday night, bringing it to its lushest condition. Palmer felt sure someone would shoot lower than the course record of four-under-par 66, set by Chick Harbert in the 1953 National Open qualifying round.

Par over the Field Club layout is 35-35--70.

Cary Middlecoff, who set a course record with a seven-under-par 65 in the final round of the Buick Open at Flint, Mich., Sunday, spent most of his practice time on the greens, putting from all angles. He had a hole-in-one Tuesday on the Field Club's 208-yard sixth hole.

The field of 129 players will play one 18-hole round each day for four days with the inner coming in sometime Sunday afternoon. In the event of a tie, a sudden death playoff will be held.

Five "name" pros were missing, but the field showed 32 of the top 35 PGA money winners, including Ken Venturi, Dow Finsterwald, Doug Ford, Mike Souchak and Bob Rosburg. The missing included Masters champion and leading money winner Art Wall, who passed up the tournament to take a rest; National Open champ Billy Casper, who injured his back in the tournament at Flint; Billy Maxwell, who dropped out Tuesday because of a hand injury, and Ben Hogan and Sammy Snead.

The defending champion is Doug Sanders, of Miami Beach, Fla., who has been taking it easy this campaign after suffering slight heart attack last year.

Becerra Wins Bantam Title With 8th Round Knockout

Mexican Wins Crown From Champ

Sends Halimi To Canvas Twice In Last Round

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jose Becerra of Mexico City Wednesday night scored an eighth round knockout over bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi, dropping the title holder twice — the second time for the full count.

The Mexican challenger caught Halimi with a crushing right early in the round sending him down for a four count and then went after him, sending a right to the body and a left hook to the jaw that dropped the champion for good.

The end came at 2:02 in the eighth.

When he went down for the second time, Halimi fell as if he were paralyzed in Becerra's corner. He lay there motionless on his back with Referee Tommy Hart tolling out the 10 seconds.

Becerra Had Edge

Becerra's bruising, crowding tactics had given him an edge through the seventh. But the knockout came unexpectedly, although Halimi was bleeding freely from his left eye and his nose. He appeared to be tiring.

The knockout sequence was similar to the pattern Becerra had set through the fight. He worked the champion against the ropes, pounding him with lefts and rights while Halimi tried to fight his way free of the corners and into the open.

Becerra landed jolting punches, but took three for every one he landed.

The first four count knockdown blow spun Halimi around midway between Becerra's corner and a neutral one. But he took it well, coming up quickly for the short count and appearing in good shape as he resumed his dance-like in-and-out attack.

Halimi weighed 117 pounds, Becerra 117½.

Scented The End

Then Becerra, scenting that the end was near, swarmed over his smaller but faster opponent. Becerra caught him in his own corner, first sending the jolting blow to the body followed by the looping, powerful left hook to the head. And that was the fight.

It was sweet revenge for the Mexicans in the nearly - capacity throng of about 15,000 who attended the bout in the new Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena.

Eighteen months ago the Mexican fans had seen Halimi crush their former idol, Raul Macias, in the French - Algerian's first title defense.

Dapper Giants, Dan Senators Score Victories

The Giants racked up their second victory of the season yesterday by defeating the Pirates in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Little League. The score was 12 to 5 at Post's field.

Billy Seeders paced the victors with two singles and a fourth-inning home run. Fred Jackson chipped in with a single and triple for the victors who pounded out 12 hits. Saville had a homer and double for the Pirates.

In the Dan Division the Senators won their third game in six starts with a 13-8 triumph over the Braves at Stitcher field. Fairgrieve was the winning pitcher in relief of Natalie. John Robinson banged out four hits in four trips to the plate, including a double, for the Senators. Dan Wagner had a homer and triple and starred at short, and Mike Haines had two hits for the winners.

Garlitz belted a homer and single and Van Ormer, Mackey and Scott each collected two hits for the Braves. The scores:

Dick Brodowski Dropped By Tribe

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The Cleveland Indians announced Wednesday that pitcher Dick Brodowski, a relief specialist sporting a sparkling 1.80 ERA, was dropped from the team.

Brodowski, who was expected to be assigned to a minor league team, was the Indians' most effective fireman earlier in the season, but has been wild in recent outings.

CHESTER, W. Va. (AP) — Equated set a new world record for the one-mile and 70-yard race over turf Wednesday at Waterford Park. The time was 1:41 4-5. Equated's time shaved 2-5 of a second off the old record of 1:42 1-5 set by Ruban Roude at Detroit in 1949.

Grantsville, Flintstone, Wellersburg Win Contests

Centerville Bows In 10th Inning

Grantsville's Sluggers rallied for a pair of runs in the bottom of the 10th inning to edge Centerville's Reds, 8-7, yesterday in the Pen Mar League; Wellersburg beat Mt. Savage, 10-7; and Flintstone downed Salisbury, also 10-7.

Grantsville and Centerville battled to a 6-6 tie through nine innings, before the Reds shoved over a run in the top of the first overtime frame.

Grantsville battled back to win the game when Joe Keister was safe on an error, was sacrificed to second and forced at third by Joe Taylor after Junie Perry was intentionally passed. Tucker Cain then doubled home the tying run and Taylor scored the winning tally on a wild pitch.

George Lauder had two singles and a homer in the third with two aboard for Grantsville. John Keister and Junie Perry also chipped in with solo circuit clouts in the second and sixth innings respectively.

Glen Streett had two singles and Mel Nee three singles and three runs batted in for Centerville.

At Mt. Savage Wellersburg built up a 10-4 lead and then staved off a rally by the home team in the ninth to win. Cessna paced the victors with three singles while Page had a single and triple and Nimons a pair of singles and a double. Cokie Robertson had two singles and a two-bagger and Corbett had a pair of hits for Mt. Savage.

Flintstone knocked Salisbury out of a tie for second place in the league by belting the visitors, 10-7, in a game shortened to 7½ innings by darkness.

Ralph Peace was the winning pitcher in relief, fanning 11 enemy batsmen in 6⅔ innings. Peace also collected a double and single at the plate. Mike McKenzie, Don Hudson had two hits, and Stan Dynda belted a triple for the winners. Harris with two singles and a double and Oester with a homer led the Salisbury attack. The scores:

Yanks Defeat Boston, 11-5

Skowron, Berra Pace The Attack

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill Skowron's 450-foot triple and a towering home run by Yogi Berra led a five-run, fourth-inning outburst Wednesday night and paced the New York Yankees to an 11-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The victory moved the Yankees into a tie for third place with the idle Baltimore Orioles while the loss prevented the Red Sox from vacating the American League cellar.

Bobby Shantz, relegated to "short order relief assignments" during the first half of the season, went the last 7 2-3 innings and picked up his third victory of the season. Shantz yielded six hits, two runs, and struck out eight batters in his longest stint of the season.

Bobby Richardson led off the Yankees' winning rally in the fourth inning with a double and scored on Tony Kubek's single. Mickey Mantle rammed a single to left field and Skowron followed with a drive that landed on the cinder path in front of the left-field bleachers about 450 feet from the plate.

Moments later Berra pulled one of Jack Harshman's pitches high against the front of the third deck of the right-field stands to round out the five-run frame.

B'nai B'rith, Lions Score

Elks Bow, 4-3, In Nine Innings

Manager John Daum's Lions poured 10 runs across the plate in the third inning and went on to defeat the Jayncees, 17-2, last night in the nightcap of a Hot Stove League doubleheader at Penn Avenue field.

In the opening tilt, the Elks bowed 4-3 to B'nai B'rith in nine innings with the winning run scoring on a overthrow at third base.

Colin Smith pitched a two-hitter for the Lions and Pat Wilson collected both bingles for the Jaycees. Jimmy Bell had a single and double, Frank Murray hit a three-run homer in the third and a single, Jim Sisk hit a solo home run in the third, and Rocky Klosterman hit for the circuit in the fourth inning for the Lions.

Larry Peters gained the verdict over Johnny Sloan in the extra-inning battle between the Elks and B'nai B'rith. Kenny Deatlehauser opened the winning ninth for B'ai B'rith with a single, but was forced at second by Tommy Hopwood. Hopwood then stole second and third and came home with the winning run when the catcher threw wild past third on his steal.

Delbert Schoonover saved the victory with a running one-hand catch of Dean's drive in deep left field in the top of the ninth with an Elk runner on second. He threw to second in time to complete an inning-ending double play.

Deatlehauser had three hits, including a double, and Peters collected two bingles for B'nai B'rith. The Elks garnered only three singles. The scores:

Beck, Hughes Win

Rex Beck and Ben Hughes won the men's straight handicap golf tournament yesterday at Maplehurst Country Club, each scoring net 35 for the nine hole course. Beck shot a 39 with a 4 handicap while Hughes had a 40-5-35. Charles Miller was closest the flag on the No. 4 hole and Walter Anthony was nearest the pin on the No. 7 hole.

Blonde Demond Wins Feature At Delaware

STANTON, Del., July 8 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Farringer's Blonde Demond won today's $13,450 Blue Hen Stakes at Delaware Park thanks to the disqualification of Leslie C. Wilson's Patty Song, who finished first by a length but was placed second.

Karl Korte, who rode Blonde Demond, and Nick Shuk, astride fourth-place Prickly Pear, both claimed foul against the winner. After viewing the film patrol movies, the stewards disqualified Patty's Song for bumping and carrying out Blonde Demond entering the stretch. Shuk's claim was not justified, officials ruled.

Blonde Demond, an entry with Irvin David's Chalvedele, finished second by four and a half lengths over her running-mate, while Harvey W. Shaffer's Prickly Pear was daylight behind Chalvedele.

Blonde Demond, who earned $9,725 for her Hollywood, Fla. owner in this second running of the stake for juvenile fillies, is unbeaten with two successes in as many starts. The payoff on the winning entry (both trained by Danny Shea) was $6, $3.20 and $3.20. Patty's Song returned $5.40 and $5.20. The running time was 1:05, fastest five and a half furlongs of the meeting.

The victory of the homebred Blonde Demond was a popular one with most of the crowd of about 14,000, she and Chalvedele going postward favorite in the field of a dozen.

North Defeats South In Pen Mar Contest

The North defeated the South, 14-10, in the annual Pen Mar Little League All-Star game yesterday at Barrelville. Barrelville for the North and Ellerslie for the South, played the first three innings; the next three were Tri State Memorial for the North and Cresaptown Eagles for the South; and the final three innings were played by LaVale Orioles for the North vs. the LaVale Maroons for the South.

Leading hitters were Bob Welsh of Barrelville with two singles; Colin Kennell of Barrelville with a double; Elwood Sturtz of Barrelville with a homerun; Tim Byrne with a single and triple for LaVale Orioles; Gary Orendorff with a homer for the Orioles; Jay Hartman with a single and homer for Ellerslie and Dick Horn with a triple for LaVale's Maroons. Caseys Edge Legion In 12th, 7-4

The Knights of Columbus scored three runs in the 12th inning yesterday to defeat the Ridgeley Legion, 7-4, and remain undefeated in the American Division of the Men's Rec League. The triumph was the 10th in a row for the Caseys.

The score was deadlocked at 4-all at the end of the regulation seven innings, but the winners combined singles by Jerry Loibel, Rich Garlitz and Van Parsons with a sacrifice and an error to plate three runs in the fifth overtime frame of the Taylor Field contest.

Garlitz paced the Caseys attack with a home run, double and two singles. Barley, Abe and Kegg each had a pair of hits for Ridgeley.

The fielding highlight came in the bottom of the eighth when Gary Smith, Knights of Columbus left fielder, threw out Bill Kenney, losing pitcher for Ridgeley, at the plate. Jerry Loibel hurled the 12 innings for the victory.

At Rolling Mill field Post's Playground scored its ninth win in 10 games by downing Bennett's Transfer, 8-3, to remain on top in the National Division of the Rec circuit.

Moe Barrett hurled a six hitter for Post's and was backed by Ray Silvious' triple and single and three hits by his catcher, Ronnie Lewis. George McGregor had a double and single for Bennett's.

The South End Democrats shoved over seven runs in the fourth and fifth innings to down Potomac Edison, 9-7, at Naval Reserve field. Leading hitters for South End were Paul Lanham with three singles and Ed Smith and Gene Payton with a pair of bingles each. Fred Meeks hit a home run and two singles and Ed Downton hit for the circuit for Potomac Edison. The scores:

Nixon Favors International Third League

Vice President Speaks As Fan

NEW YORK (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said on Wednesday he would like to see a third major league extended internationally to "give baseball tremendous support all over the world, as well as in the United States."

Nixon, speaking as a sports fan and not in an official capacity, made the remarks on Wednesday morning's "Today" television program over the National Broadcasting Co. network. The vice president threw out the first ball at Tuesday's major league All-Star game in Pittsburgh.

Talking on the show with master of ceremonies Dave Garroway, Nixon said: "I think there should be a third major league just as soon as we have the players to put in it. For example, 50 years ago we had two major leagues. Today, with the population almost double that, we still have two leagues.

"The problem, though, is players and today, although baseball is still a great spectator sport, there aren't enough young people playing the game and the minor leagues are losing clubs daily. The result is you don't have enough players funneling up to major league calibre," Nixon continued.

"What I'd like to see would be a third major league that not only would bring in some of our major cities like Minneapolis, Houston and Miami—cities of that type that could support a major league team—but that could be extended internationally to Havana, Montreal and Mexico City.

"With jet flights, to have a great international third major league would give baseball tremendous support all over the world as well as in the U.S."

Nixon added: "I talked to several of the managers yesterday and they pointed out that while they would like a third major league, or to expand the present leagues, they just didn't know where they would get the players."

"Hutch" Hates To Leave Rainiers

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Fred Hutchinson Wednesday night quit the last-place Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League and packed his bag for a quick flight to Cincinnati where he will take over as manager of the National League Redlegs Thursday.

Hutchinson, replacing Mayo Smith who was fired, said the Cincinnati job "was a break I couldn't pass up, as much as I hate to leave the Rainiers in midseason."

"Once you've been in the big leagues, it's a lure and a challenge you always want to whip," Hutchinson said.

Sulphur is mined profitably in the United States only in less than a dozen great sub-surface salt domes.

Vital Force Is Winner At Belmont

Scores In $36,450 Tremont Stakes

ELMONT, N. Y., July 8 (AP)—Tinkham Veale 2nd's Vital Force proved best in the drive to win the 67th running of the $36,450 Tremont Stakes at Belmont Park today.

The 2-year-old son of Degage-Vital, ridden by Willie Hartack, stepped the five and a half furlongs in the sizzling time of 1:05 1/5, two fifths off the track record, to beat a field of 10 other classy juveniles in the best 2-year-old race in New York this year.

Alamode Farm's Ouija Board finished second a neck back of Vital Force and three lengths to the good of Leonard D. Fruchtman's Bally Ache.

Bally Ache stumbled on the parade to the post and unseated jockey Sammy Boulmetis. The horse was picked up by the outriders after running off for three furlongs. Favored at the time of the mishap, the public choice quickly receded as the fans switched to Vital Force, who returned across the board mutuels of $5.40, $3.20 and $2.60. Ouija Board paid $5.40 and $3.30 and Bally Ache was $2.90 to show.

Vital Force, winning his fourth stake, earned a net purse of $23,092 for Tinkham Veale 2nd, Cleveland, Ohio industrialist. Vital Force was a supplemental entry at a cost of $350 for today's stake. Previous stakes won by Vital Force were one division of the Lafayette at Keeneland, the Cherry Hill at Garden State and the Christiana at Delaware Park. Today's gleanings give the gelding a total of $56,315.

Argentina Defaults In Cup Series

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association announced Wednesday that Argentina has defaulted its American Zone Davis Cup tennis match to Cuba. This made Cuba the champion of the southern section of the American Zone.

Cuba next will play the winner of the North American Zone between Australia, Mexico and Canada. Australia and Mexico play at Mexico City, July 18-20, with the winner meeting Canada at Montreal, July 31-Aug. 2.

Touring Pros Vie Today In Western Open

Golfers Look For Par-Busting Play

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The touring golf pros got in their last practice swings Wednesday over the 6,633-yard Pittsburgh Field Club course where the $25,000 Western Open starts Thursday, and most looked for a lot of par-busting during the four days of play.

"This is a lush golf course," said Arnold Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., "and when you get soft greens that hold and still putt good it makes for ideal playing conditions."

Host pro Art Doering thought a score of 279, one under par, would win the tournament. But most guesses among the pros after practice rounds were that the winning score would fall between 273 and 278.

More than two inches of rain fell on the course Sunday night, bringing it to its lushest condition. Palmer felt sure someone would shoot lower than the course record of four-under-par 66, set by Chick Harbert in the 1953 National Open qualifying round.

Par over the Field Club layout is 35-35--70.

Cary Middlecoff, who set a course record with a seven-under-par 65 in the final round of the Buick Open at Flint, Mich., Sunday, spent most of his practice time on the greens, putting from all angles. He had a hole-in-one Tuesday on the Field Club's 208-yard sixth hole.

The field of 129 players will play one 18-hole round each day for four days with the inner coming in sometime Sunday afternoon. In the event of a tie, a sudden death playoff will be held.

Five "name" pros were missing, but the field showed 32 of the top 35 PGA money winners, including Ken Venturi, Dow Finsterwald, Doug Ford, Mike Souchak and Bob Rosburg. The missing included Masters champion and leading money winner Art Wall, who passed up the tournament to take a rest; National Open champ Billy Casper, who injured his back in the tournament at Flint; Billy Maxwell, who dropped out Tuesday because of a hand injury, and Ben Hogan and Sammy Snead.

The defending champion is Doug Sanders, of Miami Beach, Fla., who has been taking it easy this campaign after suffering slight heart attack last year.

Fred Hutchinson Replaces Smith As Manager Of Reds

Mayo Fired By Seventh Place Team

Cincinnati Move Was Expected For Past Several Days

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Mayo Smith was fired as manager of the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night and replaced by Fred Hutchinson.

The move had been expected for several days and had been regarded as imminent since the gathering of baseball men in Pittsburgh for the All-Star game Tuesday.

Smith, who was fired in midseason last year as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, had been skipper of the Reds since September when the Cincinnati club predicted he would "formulate the kind of organization that will result in success for our club."

It didn't work out that way, however, and the Reds are now in seventh place, 10½ games out of first place.

Hutchinson currently is manager of the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League.

Paul Made Announcement

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Reds, announced the switch in pilots with this statement:

"Mayo Smith has been released as manager of the Cincinnati Reds and Fred Hutchinson has been hired as his successor.

"Mayo was my personal choice as Cincinnati manager and I deeply regret that things worked out as they have. A position in the Cincinnati organization has been offered to Smith, and he will decide within the next day or two whether to accept."

Hutchinson, 40-year-old former star pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, will be starting his third "hitch" as a big-league manager. He managed the Tigers from mid-1952 through the 1954 season, finishing eighth, sixth, and fifth; was voted "manager of the year" in the PCL when he piloted Seattle to the 1955 pennant; and then managed the St. Louis Cardinals from 1956 until Sept. 17, 1958, finishing fourth, second and fifth.

Smith, now 44, was hired as Reds' pilot after the surprise resignation of Birdie Tebbetts. Tebbetts resigned on Aug. 14 last season and Jimmy Dykes served as acting manager of the club until Smith's appointment on Sept. 29.

Didn't Have Statement

There were reports at that time that Paul had wished to sign Dykes as permanent pilot, but that owner Powell Crosley insisted on Smith. Wednesday night's statement by Paul, however, claimed that Mayo had been his "personal choice" as skipper.

Smith, when contracted at Fort Thomas, Ky., across the Ohio River, said "I don't have any statement to make. There's nothing to say. You know, that's the way baseball is."

Regarding the job offer, Smith said he would think it over for several days before making up his mind.

The Reds said Hutchinson was scheduled to arrive here at 10:37 a.m. (e.d.t.) Thursday and would take over control immediately.

Nancy Roth Is Western Golf Victor

Judy Eller Bows To Young Waitress

CHICAGO (AP)—Nancy Roth, a 20-year-old waitress, Wednesday became the Cinderella of the Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament.

The sturdy, curly haired blonde, whose dad is in the hardware business in Elkhart, Ind., defeated Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., the 1959 national intercollegiate and Southern amateur champion, 1-up.

The victory sent the smiling Miss Roth, who waits tables in the winter in Hollywood, Fla., into Thursday's quarter-finals against Andy Cohn of Waterloo, Iowa, a 19-year-old Northwestern University sophomore.

One of the youngest quarter-final fields in the 59-year history of the prestige-packed tournament will open fire at 1:15 p.m. EST.

In addition to Miss Roth and Miss Cohn, the matches send Marge Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., 34-year-old former Curtis Cup player and 1951 Western winner, against Judy Bell, 22, psychology major at Wichita University; Sherry Wheeler, 18, Glasgow, Ky., against Barbara Williams, 20, California state champion from Richmond; Anna Quast, 21, Everett, Wash., the 1958 USGA champion, against Jo Anne Gunderson, 20, Seattle, the 1957 USGA winner.

Miss Quast Wednesday eliminated the defending titlist, Barbara McIntire of Jupiter, Fla., 3 and 2 and was only 1-over-par for the 6,567-yard, 37-38—75 Exmoor course for the distance.

Other 3 and 2 victories were scored by Miss Lindsay over Mary Mills of Ocean Springs, Miss.; Miss Bell over Lois Drafke, Illinois state champion from Chicago, and by Miss Wheeler over Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa.

Miss Williams ousted Mrs. John Clauder of Milwaukee 1-up.

Miss Gunderson downed Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, 4 and 2.

Miss Cohn defeated Polly Riley of Fort Worth 3 and 1.

Misses Diggs, Schiller Win

Advance In Women's State Golf Tourney

NORBECK, Md. (AP) — Jane Schiller of the Green Hills Club, Salisbury, Wednesday defeated Georgia Mae McKeever, the new District women's champion, 3 and 1 in the quarter finals of the Maryland State Women's Golf Championship at Norbeck Country Club.

Miss Schiller, the University of Maryland coed who was tournament medalist, won the 11th, 12th, 13th, 15th and 17th holes with pars after trailing one down at the ninth.

Mrs. Frank Cush of Argyle Country Club defeated Mrs. C. E. Richards of the Country Club of Maryland, Baltimore, 3 and 1.

In the match between the sisters from Manor Country Club, Barbara Diggs defeated Kathryn Diggs one up in 19 holes. Barbara, recent winner of the Cumberland Invitational, lost a two up lead on the 17th and 18th holes but won the extra hole with a par 4 by winking a 12 foot putt.

Mrs. Joseph Singhass of All View, Ellicott City, won by a 6 and 5 margin for the second straight day. Mrs. Singhass, the former Maryanne Musser, defeated Mrs. Huber Slocum of Hagerstown on the 13th green.

In Thursday's semifinals, Miss Schiller plays Mrs. Cush and Barbara Diggs meets Mrs. Singhass. All but Mrs. Cush are 20 years old.

Army Hurls Early Challenge At Navy

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The next Army-Navy football game is months away, but the Army hurled an early challenge at the Middies Wednesday.

A group of 253 midshipmen from the U. S. Naval Academy toured the missile test area. When they reached the Army's Jupiter launching tower, one of the Navy men asked: "How do you fire this missile?"

Their escort, Army Capt. H. C. Paul, replied: "You just pull this rope like a lanyard."

With a little urging, one of the Middies tugged on the rope.

A banner unfurled down the side of the Jupiter tower, proclaiming: "Beat Navy!"

Olmedo, MacKay Advance In International Doubles

U.S. Pair Reaches Baastad Semifinals

BAASTAD, Sweden (UPI)—Alex Olmedo and Barry MacKay, top-seeded in men's doubles at Baastad's International Tennis Tournament, reached the semifinals Wednesday by defeating Thorwald Moe and Jan Bibow of Norway, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Olmedo of Peru and Los Angeles and MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, will face Sweden's Sven Davidson and Torsten Johansson in Thursday's semifinals, the two Swedes ousted Sakari Salo of Finland and S. Syal of India, 7-5, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Olmedo and MacKay, United States Davis Cup players, needed 85 minutes to defeat Moe and Bibow. Olmedo, the new Wimbledon champion, dominated the match with his serves and net play. Moe, the 19 - year - old youngster who upset MacKay Tuesday in singles, also played well and his play at the net was particularly impressive.

MacKay played poorly. The Norwegians built up a 4-2 lead in the first set by cracking MacKay's serve twice. Olmedo and MacKay rallied to win the set by concentrating on Bibow. The Norwegians led 2-1 in the second set and 5-4 in the third before losing them. MacKay held service to make it 5-all in the third set. Bibow then lost his and Olmedo easily held his to end the match.

Davidson, Luis Ayala of Chile, Ramanathan Krishnan of India and Ulf Schmidt of Sweden joined Olmdeo in the men's singles quarterfinals. Davidson defeated Staffan Stockenberg of Sweden, 8-6, 7-9, 6-3, 1-6, 6-1; Ayala ousted Jan Leschly of Denmark, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4; Krishnan defeated Birger Folke of Sweden, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0, and Schmidt defeated Bengt Axelsson of Sweden, 6-1, 6-3, 10-8. Olmedo reached the quarter - finals Tuesday.

Killer, Aaron Lead Sluggers

Braves Outfielder Has .684 Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Harmon Killebrew of Washington and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee are the major league slugging leaders at the season's midway mark.

Killebrew paces the American League with a slugging average of .625. He has compiled 173 total bases in 277 times at bat. Included among his 75 hits are 10 doubles, two triples and a big league high of 28 homers.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also show that Aaron tops the National League with a .684 mark. The Braves' slugger has produced 216 total bases in 316 trips. Aaron has 27 doubles, 3 triples and 22 homers among his 117 safeties.

Ed Mathews of Milwaukee is runner-up to Aaron with a .602 average. Mathews has 99 hits, including 7 doubles, 7 triples and the National League high of 25 homers, in 324 at bats.

Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, who won the National League slugging title with .614 last year, is tied for third with Frank Robinson of Cincinnati. Each is at .588. Dick Stuart, Pittsburgh first baseman, is fifth with .583.

Gus Triandos of Baltimore is second to Killebrew in the American League. Triandos, who has 56 hits, numbers 5 doubles and 20 homers among his extra bases. He has 121 total bases in 210 trips for a .576 average.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees is third with .575. Rocky Colavito of Cleveland is fourth with .571.

Giants, Steelers Swap Players

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Giants Wednesday traded C. R. Roberts, former Southern California backfield star, to the Pittsburgh Steelers for Darrell Dess, who played college football at North Carolina State. It was a straight player deal with no money involved.

Roberts, 23, stands 6-1 and weighs 210 pounds. He played two seasons of Canadian professional football for Toronto but never performed for the Giants. Dess, 24, is a six-foot, 235-pounder who was obtained from the Washington Redskins by the Steelers last season.

Levan Denies Fix Charge

Two Chattanooga Players Suspended

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—One of the two members of the Chattanooga Lookouts, suspended last week for allegedly failing to report a bribe attempt, said in an interview he had never been involved in a bribe or fix.

Jess Levan, the big first baseman suspended indefinitely along with shortstop Waldo Gonzalez, said: "I have never been connected with a bribe or fix. I'm keeping in shape. I expect to be back in the lineup soon."

Levan told the Chattanooga Times Tuesday "It's definitely unfair to us. It's an awful mess."

They were suspended by Charles Hurth, president of the Southern Association and Lookout Manager John (Red) Marion.

Levan said, "Both of us have given 100 per cent in every game. My record speaks for itself, both offensively and defensively."

Levan was hitting .337 when he was suspended.

The case is now in the hands of George Trautman, commissioner of the minor leagues.

Green Signs Pact With New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Johnny Green, the six - foot - five center who led Michigan State to the 1958-59 Big Ten basketball title, Wednesday signed with the New York Knickerbockers.

Green was New York's No. 1 choice in the National Basketball Assn. joint this year. The Knickerbockers drafted Green because of his ability to grab rebounds.

Green grabbed 382 rebounds and scored 427 points in 23 games for an 18.6 average during his senior campaign for Michigan State. He holds the school's career record for rebounds, 1,036.

Third Loop Is Not On Baseball Agenda

CHICAGO (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said Wednesday the question of a third major league is not on the agenda of a meeting of major and minor league officials and "will not be mentioned."

Frick expressed surprise and was a bit miffed when asked about the third league.

He quickly added that the talks are an executive council meeting to discuss a one million dollar fund which has been voted to help in minor league player development. The meeting, he said, will determine a formula by which the money will be distributed. Preliminary sessions got under way Wednesday.

$12.95 TIRES ARE NOT FOR TURNPIKES
READ THE FACTS BEFORE YOU BUY!
• High speed driving on super highways demands stronger, safer tires than anyone can sell for $12.95.
• B.F.Goodrich makes economy tires that give outstanding service. But they're designed for normal city and country driving, not for long periods at sustained high speeds on turnpikes.
• "Testing" a low-price tire on a turnpike doesn't necessarily make it safe for day-in, day-out performance under bruising, pounding conditions.
• Turnpike tires call for the strongest materials, toughest plies, painstaking design and construction. Risking life and property on anything less is sheer folly. High-speed tires can't be built for $12.95.

Shea Sees New New York Stadium Beginning In Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Shea, chairman of New York's baseball committee, said Wednesday he hoped digging would start in the fall for a new stadium on Flushing Meadows to house a New York entry in a third major league. Park Commissioner Bob Moses has informed him it would take no more than 14 months to complete the stadium, Shea said, referring to the prospect of the third league being ready to operate in 1961.

Orioles Recall Brooks Robinson

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Brooks Robinson, 22-year-old third baseman who was optioned to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League when he was released from the Army in April, was recalled Wednesday by the Baltimore Orioles.

Robinson, who played all of last season and parts of their other campaigns with the Orioles, will rejoin them in Washington Thursday in time to play in a twi-light-night double-header with the Senators. Robinson replaces Jim Finigan, a 30-year-old infielder who was optioned to Vancouver last Sunday.

In 52 games with Vancouver this season, Robinson batted .335, hit five homers and drove in 28 runs.

Fred Hutchinson Replaces Smith As Manager Of Reds

Mayo Fired By Seventh Place Team

Cincinnati Move Was Expected For Past Several Days

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — Mayo Smith was fired as manager of the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night and replaced by Fred Hutchinson.

The move had been expected for several days and had been regarded as imminent since the gathering of baseball men in Pittsburgh for the All-Star game Tuesday.

Smith, who was fired in midseason last year as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, had been skipper of the Reds since September when the Cincinnati club predicted he would "formulate the kind of organization that will result in success for our club."

It didn't work out that way, however, and the Reds are now in seventh place, 10½ games out of first place.

Hutchinson currently is manager of the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League.

Paul Made Announcement

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Reds, announced the switch in pilots with this statement:

"Mayo Smith has been released as manager of the Cincinnati Reds and Fred Hutchinson has been hired as his successor.

"Mayo was my personal choice as Cincinnati manager and I deeply regret that things worked out as they have. A position in the Cincinnati organization has been offered to Smith, and he will decide within the next day or two whether to accept."

Hutchinson, 40-year-old former star pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, will be starting his third "hitch" as a big-league manager. He managed the Tigers from mid-1952 through the 1954 season, finishing eighth, sixth, and fifth; was voted "manager of the year" in the PCL when he piloted Seattle to the 1955 pennant; and then managed the St. Louis Cardinals from 1956 until Sept. 17, 1958, finishing fourth, second and fifth.

Smith, now 44, was hired as Reds' pilot after the surprise resignation of Birdie Tebbetts. Tebbetts resigned on Aug. 14 last season and Jimmy Dykes served as acting manager of the club until Smith's appointment on Sept. 29.

Didn't Have Statement

There were reports at that time that Paul had wished to sign Dykes as permanent pilot, but that owner Powell Crosley insisted on Smith. Wednesday night's statement by Paul, however, claimed that Mayo had been his "personal choice" as skipper.

Smith, when contracted at Fort Thomas, Ky., across the Ohio River, said "I don't have any statement to make. There's nothing to say. You know, that's the way baseball is."

Regarding the job offer, Smith said he would think it over for several days before making up his mind.

The Reds said Hutchinson was scheduled to arrive here at 10:37 a.m. (e.d.t.) Thursday and would take over control immediately.

Nancy Roth Is Western Golf Victor

Judy Eller Bows To Young Waitress

CHICAGO (AP)—Nancy Roth, a 20-year-old waitress, Wednesday became the Cinderella of the Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament.

The sturdy, curly haired blonde, whose dad is in the hardware business in Elkhart, Ind., defeated Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., the 1959 national intercollegiate and Southern amateur champion, 1-up.

The victory sent the smiling Miss Roth, who waits tables in the winter in Hollywood, Fla., into Thursday's quarter-finals against Andy Cohn of Waterloo, Iowa, a 19-year-old Northwestern University sophomore.

One of the youngest quarter-final fields in the 59-year history of the prestige-packed tournament will open fire at 1:15 p.m. EST.

In addition to Miss Roth and Miss Cohn, the matches send Marge Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., 34-year-old former Curtis Cup player and 1951 Western winner, against Judy Bell, 22, psychology major at Wichita University; Sherry Wheeler, 18, Glasgow, Ky., against Barbara Williams, 20, California state champion from Richmond; Anna Quast, 21, Everett, Wash., the 1958 USGA champion, against Jo Anne Gunderson, 20, Seattle, the 1957 USGA winner.

Miss Quast Wednesday eliminated the defending titlist, Barbara McIntire of Jupiter, Fla., 3 and 2 and was only 1-over-par for the 6,567-yard, 37-38—75 Exmoor course for the distance.

Other 3 and 2 victories were scored by Miss Lindsay over Mary Mills of Ocean Springs, Miss.; Miss Bell over Lois Drafke, Illinois state champion from Chicago, and by Miss Wheeler over Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa.

Miss Williams ousted Mrs. John Clauder of Milwaukee 1-up.

Miss Gunderson downed Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, 4 and 2.

Miss Cohn defeated Polly Riley of Fort Worth 3 and 1.

Misses Diggs, Schiller Win

Advance In Women's State Golf Tourney

NORBECK, Md. (AP) — Jane Schiller of the Green Hills Club, Salisbury, Wednesday defeated Georgia Mae McKeever, the new District women's champion, 3 and 1 in the quarter finals of the Maryland State Women's Golf Championship at Norbeck Country Club.

Miss Schiller, the University of Maryland coed who was tournament medalist, won the 11th, 12th, 13th, 15th and 17th holes with pars after trailing one down at the ninth.

Mrs. Frank Cush of Argyle Country Club defeated Mrs. C. E. Richards of the Country Club of Maryland, Baltimore, 3 and 1.

In the match between the sisters from Manor Country Club, Barbara Diggs defeated Kathryn Diggs one up in 19 holes. Barbara, recent winner of the Cumberland Invitational, lost a two up lead on the 17th and 18th holes but won the extra hole with a par 4 by winking a 12 foot putt.

Mrs. Joseph Singhass of All View, Ellicott City, won by a 6 and 5 margin for the second straight day. Mrs. Singhass, the former Maryanne Musser, defeated Mrs. Huber Slocum of Hagerstown on the 13th green.

In Thursday's semifinals, Miss Schiller plays Mrs. Cush and Barbara Diggs meets Mrs. Singhass. All but Mrs. Cush are 20 years old.

Army Hurls Early Challenge At Navy

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The next Army-Navy football game is months away, but the Army hurled an early challenge at the Middies Wednesday.

A group of 253 midshipmen from the U. S. Naval Academy toured the missile test area. When they reached the Army's Jupiter launching tower, one of the Navy men asked: "How do you fire this missile?"

Their escort, Army Capt. H. C. Paul, replied: "You just pull this rope like a lanyard."

With a little urging, one of the Middies tugged on the rope.

A banner unfurled down the side of the Jupiter tower, proclaiming: "Beat Navy!"

Olmedo, MacKay Advance In International Doubles

U.S. Pair Reaches Baastad Semifinals

BAASTAD, Sweden (UPI)—Alex Olmedo and Barry MacKay, top-seeded in men's doubles at Baastad's International Tennis Tournament, reached the semifinals Wednesday by defeating Thorwald Moe and Jan Bibow of Norway, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Olmedo of Peru and Los Angeles and MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, will face Sweden's Sven Davidson and Torsten Johansson in Thursday's semifinals, the two Swedes ousted Sakari Salo of Finland and S. Syal of India, 7-5, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Olmedo and MacKay, United States Davis Cup players, needed 85 minutes to defeat Moe and Bibow. Olmedo, the new Wimbledon champion, dominated the match with his serves and net play. Moe, the 19-year-old youngster who upset MacKay Tuesday in singles, also played well and his play at the net was particularly impressive.

MacKay played poorly. The Norwegians built up a 4-2 lead in the first set by cracking MacKay's serve twice. Olmedo and MacKay rallied to win the set by concentrating on Bibow. The Norwegians led 2-1 in the second set and 5-4 in the third before losing them. MacKay held service to make it 5-all in the third set. Bibow then lost his and Olmedo easily held his to end the match.

Davidson, Luis Ayala of Chile, Ramanathan Krishnan of India and Ulf Schmidt of Sweden joined Olmdeo in the men's singles quarterfinals. Davidson defeated Staffan Stockenberg of Sweden, 8-6, 7-9, 6-3, 1-6, 6-1; Ayala ousted Jan Leschly of Denmark, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4; Krishnan defeated Birger Folke of Sweden, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0, and Schmidt defeated Bengt Axelsson of Sweden, 6-1, 6-3, 10-8. Olmedo reached the quarter-finals Tuesday.

Killer, Aaron Lead Sluggers

Braves Outfielder Has .684 Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Harmon Killebrew of Washington and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee are the major league slugging leaders at the season's midway mark.

Killebrew paces the American League with a slugging average of .625. He has compiled 173 total bases in 277 times at bat. Included among his 75 hits are 10 doubles, two triples and a big league high of 28 homers.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press also show that Aaron tops the National League with a .684 mark. The Braves' slugger has produced 216 total bases in 316 trips. Aaron has 27 doubles, 3 triples and 22 homers among his 117 safeties.

Ed Mathews of Milwaukee is runner-up to Aaron with a .602 average. Mathews has 99 hits, including 7 doubles, 7 triples and the National League high of 25 homers, in 324 at bats.

Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, who won the National League slugging, title with .614 last year, is tied for third with Frank Robinson of Cincinnati. Each is at .588. Dick Stuart, Pittsburgh first baseman, is fifth with .583.

Gus Triandos of Baltimore is second to Killebrew in the American League. Triandos, who has 56 hits, numbers 5 doubles and 20 homers among his extra bases. He has 121 total bases in 210 trips for a .576 average.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees is third with .575. Rocky Colavito of Cleveland is fourth with .571.

Giants, Steelers Swap Players

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Giants Wednesday traded C. R. Roberts, former Southern California backfield star, to the Pittsburgh Steelers for Darrell Dess, who played college football at North Carolina State. It was a straight player deal with no money involved.

Roberts, 23, stands 6-1 and weighs 210 pounds. He played two seasons of Canadian professional football for Toronto but never performed for the Giants. Dess, 24, is a six-foot, 235-pounder who was obtained from the Washington Redskins by the Steelers last season.

Levan Denies Fix Charge

Two Chattanooga Players Suspended

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UPI)—One of the two members of the Chattanooga Lookouts, suspended last week for allegedly failing to report a bribe attempt, said in an interview he had never been involved in a bribe or fix.

Jess Levan, the big first baseman suspended indefinitely along with shortstop Waldo Gonzalez, said: "I have never been connected with a bribe or fix. I'm keeping in shape. I expect to be back in the lineup soon."

Levan told the Chattanooga Times Tuesday "It's definitely unfair to us. It's an awful mess."

They were suspended by Charles Hurth, president of the Southern Association and Lookout Manager John (Red) Marion.

Levan said, "Both of us have given 100 per cent in every game. My record speaks for itself, both offensively and defensively."

Levan was hitting .337 when he was suspended.

The case is now in the hands of George Trautman, commissioner of the minor leagues.

Prisoners Trade Blood Donations For Short Terms

LEWISBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — Some 25 Greenbrier County jail prisoners Wednesday took advantage of an offer by Judge Nickell L. Kramer to trade them blood for lighter sentences. The judge agreed to knock 10 days off the sentences of a prisoner for every pint of blood he donated to the Red Cross.

The "deal" was made in an effort to save the county Red Cross chapter's blood program which will be dropped if the chapter does not meet its quota of donations.

Swimmer Dies

BETTERTON, Md. (AP)—A 67-year-old Baltimore woman died of a heart attack while swimming in the Sassafras River Tuesday.

The body of the victim, Ruth Frances Curran, was found in about three feet of water shortly after she had left the home of friends to go bathing. Dr. Florence D. Joyce of Betterton pronounced her dead of a heart attack.

NAMED MAYOR

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia University law professor Marlyn E. Lugar is Morgantown's new mayor. Dr. Lugar was elected by other members of the city council Tuesday night, by an 11-3 vote, to succeed Herman V. Walker.

NOTICE OF TAX COLLECTOR'S REPORT OF SALE

J. Wallace Clise, Tax Collector, vs. Minnie Light nee Minnie True.
No. 67 Tax Sales In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
J. Wallace Close, Tax Collector, having made a report to this Court of the Sale of all that real estate in Election District No. 14, and particularly described in a deed from Arnold Turner and Ruth Virginia Turner and Charles H. Wickard and Mollie Wickard to Minnie True, dated the 23rd day of May A. D, 1925, and recorded in Liber No. 150, folio 529, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, together with all the proceedings had in relation thereto, and said proceedings having been examined by this Court, and the same appearing to be regular and the provisions of the law in relation thereto appearing to have been complied with it, it is thereupon this 29th day of June, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, adjudged and ordered that notice be given by advertisement published once a week for three successive weeks in one newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, before the 30th day of July, 1959, commanding all persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court on or before the 15th day of August, 1959, to show cause, if any they have why said sale should not be ratified and confirmed. The report states the amount of sale to be $173.00.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♦.

The bidding in today's hand does not have the sponsorship of this department. It all started from North's response of two spades. With this evenly balanced hand and barely enough to keep the bidding open, a one no trump response should be preferred. The singel raise should be based on a hand containing at least seven points in support. But North, despite his choice, might have applied the breaks later by monotonously returning to spades rather than showing the heart fit.

West opened the four of diamonds and it was evident the success of the contract would hinge on the heart finesse. If the entire suit were picked up, two losing diamonds could be discarded out of the dummy. Trumps were extracted. Since there was no clew available either from the bidding or the play, declarer reached the conclusion that the location of the queen was an out and out guess with a 50 per cent chance of success. South decided that West held the missing honor, but to guard against singleton queen in the East hand he first played the ace. When West showed out on the second round of hearts, declarer was forced to surrender.

South had overlooked one tiny factor which should have influenced him to take the finesse in the other direction. If the hearts were three-two, one finesse was just as apt to work as the other, but if the queen of hearts were in the hand containing four of the suit, it would be easier to finesse against East. It is true that if West held four hearts to the queen the suit could be picked up, but that would involve a first round finesse of the jack and it is better tactics to avoid first round finesses where possible. Playing against East, the king could be cashed first and if that doesn't drop the queen, the finesse can now be tried and repeated.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the three O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

2 ♠	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	6 ♠	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♦.

The bidding in today's hand does not have the sponsorship of this department. It all started from North's response of two spades. With this evenly balanced hand and barely enough to keep the bidding open, a one no trump response should be preferred. The singel raise should be based on a hand containing at least seven points in support. But North, despite his choice, might have applied the breaks later by monotonously returning to spades rather than showing the heart fit.

West opened the four of diamonds and it was evident the success of the contract would hinge on the heart finesse. If the entire suit were picked up, two losing diamonds could be discarded out of the dummy. Trumps were extracted. Since there was no clew available either from the bidding or the play, declarer reached the conclusion that the location of the queen was an out and out guess with a 50 per cent chance of success. South decided that West held the missing honor, but to guard against singleton queen in the East hand he first played the ace. When West showed out on the second round of hearts, declarer was forced to surrender.

South had overlooked one tiny factor which should have influenced him to take the finesse in the other direction. If the hearts were three-two, one finesse was just as apt to work as the other, but if the queen of hearts were in the hand containing four of the suit, it would be easier to finesse against East. It is true that if West held four hearts to the queen the suit could be picked up, but that would involve a first round finesse of the jack and it is better tactics to avoid first round finesses where possible. Playing against East, the king could be cashed first and if that doesn't drop the queen, the finesse can now be tried and repeated.

State Aid Asked For Kitzmiller Flood Project

Legislators Favor $30,000 In Budget

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Legislative Council recommended Wednesday that the State Board of Public Works contribute the $30,000 necessary to get a $340,000 flood control project under way at Kitzmiller, in Garrett County.

The federal government has tentatively agreed to pay up to $280,000 of the cost if there is a commitment from local sources for $60,000 to pay for easements and rights of way.

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County has agreed to include $15,000 in its 1960 budget for this purpose, and the town of Kitzmiller is committed to issue bonds in the amount of $15,000 as its contribution.

Unanimous Backing

The mayor of Kitzmiller, county commissioners and Sen. Bernard I. Gonder (D-Garrett) asked the Legislative Council, study arm of the General Assembly, to have the state make up the other $30,000.

After a hearing by the council's Finance Committee Chairman Boone (D-Balto) recommended to the entire Council that it suggest the Board of Public Works contribute the money from contingent funds at its disposal. The motion was adopted unanimously.

Officials of Kitzmiller and Garrett County have contended that construction of the flood control facilities will help relieve unemployment and boost the area's sagging economy.

Boone said the state's $30,000 contribution could be spread over two years and repaid through the capital improvements bond bill.

Narcotics Study

In other council action, Chairman Della (D-Balto 6th) was authorized to appoint a committee of lawyers and doctors to study the handling of cases involving narcotic users.

Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th), who suggested the study, said other states are considering treating users as medical cases rather than grouping them with narcotic peddlers for criminal treatment.

The perennial question of a veterans' bonus came up at the Finance Committee hearing and was held over until October. The question is whether to recommend a bonus bill to the Legislature and, if so, what financing means to suggest.

Bonus Or Soldier's Home?

The principal proposals are for a bonus to be financed either through a state lottery or a seven-cent a gallon increase in the beer tax.

A bill to place on referendum the question of financing a bonus through a beer tax hike came close to passage at the 1959 legislative session, but it died in the closing hours.

Representatives of veterans organizations at Wednesday's meeting said they would return with more specific recommendations in October, after the annual meetings of their groups.

William Clay, representing the Disabled American Veterans, suggested the establishment of a "soldier's home" as a possible alternative to a veterans bonus.

New Pattern On Fayette Street

White concrete patchwork stands out in sharp contrast to the brick paving of the 400-block Fayette Street, where a gas line has just been replaced. The City Street Department's long-standing practice of replacing brick surfaces with concrete has aroused numerous complaints in recent years. Photo shows view looking from Allegany Street toward Chase.

City Patches Up Brick Street With Concrete

A gas line replacement project involved tearing up the entire length of the 400-block of Fayette Street. The work done and the ditch filled in, city crews promptly re-paved the block-long strip with white concrete.

For several years there have been complaints from various sections of the city about this practice. A city ordinance requires that whenever the surface of a street is disturbed it must be restored to its original condition.

This time, however, ordinary untinted concrete was used, providing a sharp contrast with the red bricks of the pavement.

One resident of the area pointed out that it would have cost the city no more to have replaced the bricks, because city crews do the work, then bill the utility for it.

Previous complaints generally have been to the effect that the original brick surfaces should be restored or completely replaced with some other paving material, such as blacktop.

Elks Conclave Will Feature Entertainment

The 39th annual Maryland-Delaware - District of Columbia Elks Association conclave here July 30-August 2 will feature a number of entertainers and musical units.

Composer of the song "I Still Walk Alone," Miss LaNair has worked in clubs in Cleveland, Chicago, Atlanta and New York.

A total of six dances and five floor shows are planned for the convention which is expected to draw 800 guests. Musical units will include The Cavaliers, Tommy Smithem's orchestra, Peck Mills and his group, The Townsmen, Happy Laughner's orchestra and Ray Lock and His Dudes.

Cocktail parties sponsored by Washington Lodge 15 and Salisbury Lodge 817, and a floral display are also on the agenda.

Program Set At Camp Site

A water carnival and campfire program will be held this evening at Camp Potomac near Oldtown for visitors and parents of Boy Scouts who are attending camp this week.

The camp is in its third week of operation this summer and three more weeks of camping remain.

Boy Scouts from eight troops of Potomac Council are in camp this week. They are Troop 89, St. Paul's Lutheran Brotherhood; Troop 88, Bedford Road Optimist Club; Troop 42, First Methodist Church, Frostburg; Troop 13, First Presbyterian Church; Troop 11, LaVale Baptist Church; Troop 2, B&O YMCA; Troop 17, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; and Troop 69, Fort Ashby PTA.

Scheduled to move into camp Sunday afternoon for a week are youths from Troop 9, Cresaptown Methodist Church; Troop 87, Northeast PTA; Troop 23, John Humbird PTA; Troop 4, Centre Street Methodist Church; Post 1 and Troop 1, St. Luke's Lutheran Church; Troop 59, First Methodist Church, Keyser; and Troop 53, Keyser Brethren Church.

Cattle Grub Fight Planned

Allegany County beef cattle owners are being reminded of plans for a systemic cattle grub killer demonstration to be held in the fall on the Stonestreet brothers farm at Flintstone as part of a campaign against the pest.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger said yesterday that Theodore Bissell, extension entomologist at the University of Maryland, will return to this county, probably in September for the demonstration.

Some beef cattle will be sprayed and others will be fed pills in an effort to determine which is most effective in killing grub inside the cattle before they can damage meat or hides.

It is estimated that cattle grub alone cost the beef industry $155 million a year in hide damage, meat trim and loss of weight gains due to heelfly annoyance.

Cattle grubs start as heelfly eggs, laid on the hair of the lower legs and flanks. Small larvae then emerge from these eggs and burrow into the flesh of the animal. Cattle grub maggots migrate through the connective tissue, spend considerable time either in the gullet or spine and finally appear in the back. Eventually they cut through the hide

The mature grub or larva emerges from the back of the animal in early spring, drops to the ground, forms the pupal stage and the adult heelfly emerges to lay more eggs, thus completing the life cycle.

Entomologist Finds Many Leaf Hoppers

Theodore Bissell, extension entomologist at the University of Maryland, visited Allegany County yesterday and found leaf hoppers in dangerous proportions in alfalfa fields.

Many alfalfa fields are almost ready for their second cuttings, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger. Mr. Bissell recommends that when the alfalfa reaches a height of eight to ten inches, it should be sprayed with methoxychlor at the level of one quart per acre. A sign of the presence of leaf hopper is a yellowing of the alfalfa.

Naval Reserve Units Get New Commanders

Calhoun To Head Surface Division

A shift in the command of two local Naval Reserve units was announced last night by Lt. Cmdr. Richard L. Underwood, who is in charge of the U.S. Naval Training Center, McKaig's Hill.

He said Commander Gerard P. Calhoun of Frostburg has assumed command of Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9.

The new commander replaces Commander Paul M. Arbogast of 742 Baker Street, who was in charge of the division for the past three years.

Commander Arbogast will tentatively take over the Naval Reserve Construction Battalion 5-7 which has been in charge of Commander Wayne Hill of 517 Louisiana Avenue.

Commander Hill will tentatively return to the Surface Division in an associate status. He is principal of Beall High School in Frostburg.

Lt. Cmdr. Charles E. Brode, 555 Greene Street, who is a pressman at the Times and Alleganian Company, has been named executive officer of the Surface Division, a position formerly held by Commander Calhoun.

Commander Calhoun teaches general science at Beall High, where he also coaches track and football. While the Surface Division was in charge of Commander Arbogast, the unit was presented the Forrestal Award in 1957, an award given to the top division in the nation.

The award is based on personnel, training and records maintained by the unit. Commander Arbogast is principal of Johnson Heights Elementary School.

Undergoes Surgery

Mrs. Pauline Knieriem, wife of Police Commissioner William C. Knieriem of Ridgeley, underwent major surgery at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, last week, and is reported progressing satisfactorily. Mr Knieriem and their daughter Linda are in Baltimore with her this week.

Fresh Air Kids Arrive Here Today

The "Fresh Air Kids" from New York are scheduled to arrive in Cumberland today when B&O Passenger Train No. 9 pulls into the Queen City Station at 6:02 p.m. (EDT).

Twenty-one children of Chinese descent will spend a two-week vacation with local families and will be given an opportunity to get away from the hustle and bustle and heat of New York City.

Their stay in Cumberland has been arranged by the Parent Teachers Association of SS. Peter and Paul parish in cooperation with the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund, New York City.

Herman J. Grabenstein Jr., PTA president and Thomas B. Cumiskey Jr., assistant postmaster here, completed arrangements for the youngsters' stay here.

The children are selected from students of Kung Wah School of the Catholic Church of the Transfiguration in New York. Pastor of the church is Rev. John D. Moore, Maryknoll priest, who is a native of Cumberland.

Naval Reserve Members Get Advancement

Six members of Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9 have been given an advancement in rating as of the month of June, Commander Paul Arbogast, commanding officer, announced last night.

Robert D. Lantz and John H. Richard were advanced from seaman apprentice to seamen; Richard E. Monnett, seaman recruit to fireman apprentice.

Larry C. Athey, Paul W. Borror and David R. Davis were advanced from seaman recruit to seaman apprentice.

Their advancement in rank was based on an examination which was taken during June, Commander Arbogast said.

Grease Catches Fire

Firemen from East Side were called to 717 Frederick Street yesterday at 4:28 p. m. after grease caught fire on an electric stove. The fire was out on arrival, according to firemen, who said there was no damage.

June Building Second Busiest Of Half Year

$262,120 Involved In 51 Permits

June was the year's second busiest month for building permit activity in the Allegany County assessment department.

During the past month there were 51 building permits issued for construction which the builders figure will cost a total of $262,120. April was the busiest month this year with 68 permits for building estimated to cost a total of $516,500.

In the first half of 1959 there have been 207 building permits issued for construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $1,258,520. A year ago, in the first six months there were 199 permits issued but the total value was $3,295,084.

The single permit which dwarfed all others last year was one for a $2,308,254 waste treatment plant to serve the needs of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the Tri-Towns of Westernport, Piedmont and Luke.

With that one huge project, the 1958 six-month total is $2,036,564 above the level for the first six months of this year. However, without the waste treatment plant, last year's six-month total would be only $986,830 or $271,690 less than this year.

The most important single building permit issued in the county last month was for a $100,000 bowling center in LaVale. The June building permits authorized work in 17 different election districts of the county.

District 16 at North Branch was the month's leader with seven permits, one more than was issued for District 20, Corriganville-Ellerslie, and District 29, LaVale. The LaVale district is the usual leader.

Other districts with more than one June permit included District 2, Oldtown, five; Districts 3, Flintstone; 6, West Side suburban; 13, Mt. Savage; 21, Gross; 24, Eckhart, and 31, McCoole, three permits each; District 7, Cresaptown - Rawlings, and 8, Westernport suburban, two each.

Single permits were issued for work in Districts 1, Little Orleans; 5, North End suburban; 11, Frostburg suburban; 18, Midland, and 22, East Side suburban.

Nineteen of the 51 June permits were for new dwellings and 13 others were for additions to dwellings. There were four permits for garages. Two hunting lodges were authorized in June. Single permits last month were for the following:

Addition to carport, tool shed, shop, liveable basement, reconstruction of old house, bowling alley, garage and chicken coop, chicken coop, septic tank, storage shed, chicken pen and tool shed, corn crib and tool shed and garage and service station.

Four Area Men Enlist In Army

Four area men enlisted this week in the Army, according to M/Sgt. Virgil M. Smith, local recruiter.

Francis M. Steed, son of Mrs. Helen Lynch, RFD 1, Ridgeley, enlisted for three years. After his basic, he will be assigned to the 18th Artillery Group, Army Defense, Pittsburgh, as a missileman.

James Keyser Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Haynes of RFD 3, Keyser, enlisted for three years unassigned. Russell Grant Viney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Viney Sr., RFD 3, Keyser, also enlisted in the Regular Army, unassigned. George J. Law, son of Mr. and Mrs. George I. Law, 10 Grand Avenue, enlisted for three years unassigned.

These men will complete their basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. during the next eight weeks, Sgt. Smith said, before receiving their assignments.

Bike Tags Deadline July 17

Local youngsters who haven't purchased their new bicycle tags have until Friday, July 17, to do so, Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney said yesterday.

Bikes which do not have the new tags displayed after that date will be picked up, according to Chief Gaffney, who said the tags are available at police headquarters.

The bicycles go through an inspection before the tags are issued. Brakes must be in tip-top working order and the cyclist also must have a light and warning device.

Chief Gaffney pointed out there are still a number of bicycles impounded at the headquarters. Anyone who has had a bicycle stolen may go to headquarters and see if he can locate it there.

Those bicycles which are unclaimed after July 17 will be turned over to the Fire Department. The firemen will put them in working order and they will be given to the Associated Charities which will pay for any parts which may be needed, Chief Gaffney said.

The bicycles will be given to deserving boys and girls of Cumberland.

Earl Robertson Takes Oath On Md. Fair Board

Earl C. Robertson, 309 Schley Street, apparently became the first Allegany County man to serve on the State Fair Board when he received his oath of office Tuesday at the Court House for a three-year term starting July 1.

The oath was administered by James A. Halloran, deputy clerk of Circuit Court. Mr. Robertson, who has been a member of the Cumberland Fair Board for about 20 years, is secretary-treasurer of the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Meanwhile, two other commissions for prominent local men, signed by Governor J. Millard Tawes and Secretary of State Thomas B. Finan, are still at the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

One names Owen E. Hitchins, Buckingham Road, The Dingle, as a judge of the new Maryland Tax Court for the remainder of a term beginning July 1, 1959, and extending until the first Monday of June 1961.

Mr. Hitchins has been one of the three members of the State Tax Commission for a good many years. An act of the General Assembly in Annapolis this year has separated the administrative and judicial functions of the State Tax Commission and has given the latter to the new Maryland Tax Court.

This new Tax Court will hear cases involving questions of assessments. The administrative affairs such as the issuance of corporation papers will continue to be the function of the State Tax Commission.

Also at the Court House is a commission naming Alvin H. Wilson, Bedford Road, to a four-year term starting July 1 on the new State Commission of Economic Development. Mr. Wilson is vice president of the George F. Hazelwood Company.

Local Woman, 26, Reported Missing

A 26-year-old local woman is reported missing from her home, city police said last night.

She is Mrs. Irene Landenberger, who is five feet five inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, has black hair and blue eyes. She was wearing a brown dress and hasn't been seen since Monday. Mrs. Landenberger may have gone to Baltimore, according to a report to police by her husband, Richard Landenberger, of RD 1, Box 439, Bowman's Addition.

Junior College Growth Urged At Frostburg

County Receives AAUW Proposal

A recommendation for the expansion and improvement of the junior college facilities at Frostburg State Teachers College rather than for the development of brand new junior college facilities in the Cumberland area has been submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

This recommendation came from the committee on higher education of the Frostburg-George's Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Miss Gertrude A. C. Williams, committee chairman and teacher at Beall High School in Frostburg, sent a copy of the committee's recommendation to John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners.

The committee took issue with a 1957 report of the State Department of Education which had recommended the elimination of the junior college program at Frostburg State Teachers College and the development of a new junior college in or near Cumberland.

Miss Williams' committee recommends expansion of the junior college facilities of Frostburg State Teachers College rather than the establishment of a paralleling Allegany County Junior College. The AAUW group favors broadening of the Frostburg college program beyond the teacher training level to include much stress on the arts and sciences.

Mr. Rowan discussed the junior college idea with the other county commissioners Tuesday. He said that he and Commissioners John T. Mason and William A. Wilson are generally in favor of the junior college program in Allegany County.

"However, the county has many more serious problems which need solution," Mr. Rowan said. "One of these problems is trying to find money to raise the salaries of teachers," he added.

Other members of the AAUW committee are Dr. Hazel G. Ramsay, Miss Esther Carter, Miss Jane H. Grindel and Mrs. Beulah Kruson.

On June 24, when the County Board of Education voted to close the Carver School on Frederick Street for the coming year, Joseph M. Miller, vice president of the school board, suggested that this school facility with an insurance value in excess of $300,000 might be used for a junior college.

Davis Resident Drowns After Boat Upsets

A disabled World War II veteran of Davis, W. Va. drowned early Tuesday in a remote section of Hampshire County.

The victim, Howard Lloyd McCauley, 43, was on a fishing party with two other men, when their boat uspet in the waters of Blue Pool in a mountainous area of the county.

West Virginia State Police and Coroner A. L. Russell of Romney said McCauley apparently suffered a heart attack while attempting to swim to shore after falling out of the boat.

His companions, John J. Hymes and Clyde S. Barkley, both of Davis, worked on the victim for more than two hours without success.

Sgt. R. R. Karickhoff and Trooper Charles E. Dorsey said the three men started fishing around 4 a.m. Tuesday. About two hours later someone moved in the boat and it tipped over. Hymes and Barkley swam ashore and as they reached the bank they heard McCauley yelling for help.

The two men swam back to McCauley and carried him to shore.

Police said the area is so dense the only way it can be reached is by boat or walking. The stream is surrounded by mountains and is more than a mile from the nearest road. It is located at Sector, W. Va.

Authorities said McCauley is a disabled veteran of World War II and had been receiving a full disability pension.

A native of Ben Bush, W. Va., he was born February 28, 1916 a son of Mrs. Rosetta (Stewart) McCauley of Davis and the late Lloyd P. McCauley.

He was a member of the Blue Ridge Post 22, American Legion of Thomas, W. Va.

Besides his mother, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret (Dumire) McCauley; a son, Patrick L. McCauley, at home; three daughters, Constance, Colleen Ann and Sharon Sue McCauley, all at home; four brothers, Russell S. McCauley, of

State Aid Asked For Kitzmiller Flood Project

Legislators Favor $30,000 In Budget

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Legislative Council recommended Wednesday that the State Board of Public Works contribute the $30,000 necessary to get a $340,000 flood control project under way at Kitzmiller, in Garrett County.

The federal government has tentatively agreed to pay up to $280,000 of the cost if there is a commitment from local sources for $60,000 to pay for easements and rights of way.

The Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County has agreed to include $15,000 in its 1960 budget for this purpose, and the town of Kitzmiller is committed to issue bonds in the amount of $15,000 as its contribution.

Unanimous Backing

The mayor of Kitzmiller, county commissioners and Sen. Bernard I. Gonder (D-Garrett) asked the Legislative Council, study arm of the General Assembly, to have the state make up the other $30,000.

After a hearing by the council's Finance Committee Chairman Boone (D-Balto) recommended to the entire Council that it suggest the Board of Public Works contribute the money from contingent funds at its disposal. The motion was adopted unanimously.

Officials of Kitzmiller and Garrett County have contended that construction of the flood control facilities will help relieve unemployment and boost the area's sagging economy.

Boone said the state's $30,000 contribution could be spread over two years and repaid through the capital improvements bond bill.

Narcotics Study

In other council action, Chairman Della (D-Balto 6th) was authorized to appoint a committee of lawyers and doctors to study the handling of cases involving narcotic users.

Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th), who suggested the study, said other states are considering treating users as medical cases rather than grouping them with narcotic peddlers for criminal treatment.

The perennial question of a veterans' bonus came up at the Finance Committee hearing and was held over until October. The question is whether to recommend a bonus bill to the Legislature and, if so, what financing means to suggest.

Bonus Or Soldier's Home?

The principal proposals are for a bonus to be financed either through a state lottery or a seven-cent a gallon increase in the beer tax.

A bill to place on referendum the question of financing a bonus through a beer tax hike came close to passage at the 1959 legislative session, but it died in the closing hours.

Representatives of veterans organizations at Wednesday's meeting said they would return with more specific recommendations in October, after the annual meetings of their groups.

William Clay, representing the Disabled American Veterans, suggested the establishment of a "soldier's home" as a possible alternative to a veterans bonus.

New Pattern On Fayette Street

White concrete patchwork stands out in sharp contrast to the brick paving of the 400-block Fayette Street, where a gas line has just been replaced. The City Street Department's long-standing practice of replacing brick surfaces with concrete has aroused numerous complaints in recent years. Photo shows view looking from Allegany Street toward Chase.

City Patches Up Brick Street With Concrete

The City Street Department this week unveiled a block-long example of its practice of replacing brick street surfaces with concrete.

A gas line replacement project involved tearing up the entire length of the 400-block of Fayette Street. The work done and the ditch filled in, city crews promptly re-paved the block-long strip with white concrete.

For several years there have been complaints from various sections of the city about this practice. A city ordinance requires that whenever the surface of a street is disturbed it must be restored to its original condition.

Brick surfaces, however, have customarily been replaced with concrete tinted to provide a rough color match with the original surface.

This time, however, ordinary untinted concrete was used, providing a sharp contrast with the red bricks of the pavement.

One resident of the area pointed out that it would have cost the city no more to have replaced the bricks, because city crews do the work, then bill the utility for it.

Previous complaints generally have been to the effect that the original brick surfaces should be restored or completely replaced with some other paving material, such as blacktop.

Elks Conclave Will Feature Entertainment

Cattle Grub Fight Planned

Allegany County beef cattle owners are being reminded of plans for a systemic cattle grub killer demonstration to be held in the fall on the Stonestreet brothers farm at Flintstone as part of a campaign against the pest.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger said yesterday that Theodore Bissell, extension entomologist at the University of Maryland, will return to this county, probably in September for the demonstration.

Some beef cattle will be sprayed and others will be fed pills in an effort to determine which is most effective in killing grub inside the cattle before they can damage meat or hides.

It is estimated that cattle grub alone cost the beef industry $155 million a year in hide damage, meat trim and loss of weight gains due to heelfly annoyance.

Cattle grubs start as heelfly eggs, laid on the hair of the lower legs and flanks. Small larvae then emerge from these eggs and burrow into the flesh of the animal. Cattle grub maggots migrate through the connective tissue, spend considerable time either in the gullet or spine and finally appear in the back. Eventually they cut through the hide

The mature grub or larva emerges from the back of the animal in early spring, drops to the ground, forms the pupal stage and the adult heelfly emerges to lay more eggs, thus completing the life cycle.

Entomologist Finds Many Leaf Hoppers

Theodore Bissell, extension entomologist at the University of Maryland, visited Allegany County yesterday and found leaf hoppers in dangerous proportions in alfalfa fields.

Many alfalfa fields are almost ready for their second cuttings, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger. Mr. Bissell recommends that when the alfalfa reaches a height of eight to ten inches, it should be sprayed with methoxychlor at the level of one quart per acre. A sign of the presence of leaf hopper is a yellowing of the alfalfa.

Naval Reserve Units Get New Commanders

Calhoun To Head Surface Division

A shift in the command of two local Naval Reserve units was announced last night by Lt. Cmdr. Richard L. Underwood, who is in charge of the U.S. Naval Training Center, McKaig's Hill.

He said Commander Gerard P. Calhoun of Frostburg has assumed command of Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9.

The new commander replaces Commander Paul M. Arbogast of 742 Baker Street, who was in charge of the division for the past three years.

Commander Arbogast will tentatively take over the Naval Reserve Construction Battalion 5-7 which has been in charge of Commander Wayne Hill of 517 Louisiana Avenue.

Commander Hill will tentatively return to the Surface Division in an associate status. He is principal of Beall High School in Frostburg.

Lt. Cmdr. Charles E. Brode, 555 Greene Street, who is a pressman at the Times and Alleganian Company, has been named executive officer of the Surface Division, a position formerly held by Commander Calhoun.

Commander Calhoun teaches general science at Beall High, where he also coaches track and football. While the Surface Division was in charge of Commander Arbogast, the unit was presented the Forrestal Award in 1957, an award given to the top division in the nation.

The award is based on personnel, training and records maintained by the unit. Commander Arbogast is principal of Johnson Heights Elementary School.

Undergoes Surgery

Mrs. Pauline Knieriem, wife of Police Commissioner William C. Knieriem of Ridgeley, underwent major surgery at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, last week, and is reported progressing satisfactorily. Mr Knieriem and their daughter Linda are in Baltimore with her this week.

Fresh Air Kids Arrive Here Today

The "Fresh Air Kids" from New York are scheduled to arrive in Cumberland today when B&O Passenger Train No. 9 pulls into the Queen City Station at 6:02 p.m. (EDT).

Twenty-one children of Chinese descent will spend a two-week vacation with local families and will be given an opportunity to get away from the hustle and bustle and heat of New York City.

Their stay in Cumberland has been arranged by the Parent Teachers Association of SS. Peter and Paul parish in cooperation with the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund, New York City.

Herman J. Grabenstein Jr., PTA president and Thomas B. Cumiskey Jr., assistant postmaster here, completed arrangements for the youngsters' stay here.

The children are selected from students of Kung Wah School of the Catholic Church of the Transfiguration in New York. Pastor of the church is Rev. John D. Moore, Maryknoll priest, who is a native of Cumberland.

Naval Reserve Members Get Advancement

Six members of Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9 have been given an advancement in rating as of the month of June, Commander Paul Arbogast, commanding officer, announced last night.

Robert D. Lantz and John H. Richard were advanced from seaman apprentice to seamen; Richard E. Monnett, seaman recruit to fireman apprentice.

Larry C. Athey, Paul W. Borror and David R. Davis were advanced from seaman recruit to seaman apprentice.

Their advancement in rank was based on an examination which was taken during June, Commander Arbogast said.

Grease Catches Fire

Firemen from East Side were called to 717 Frederick Street yesterday at 4:28 p. m. after grease caught fire on an electric stove. The fire was out on arrival, according to firemen, who said there was no damage.

June Building Second Busiest Of Half Year

$262,120 Involved In 51 Permits

June was the year's second busiest month for building permit activity in the Allegany County assessment department.

During the past month there were 51 building permits issued for construction which the builders figure will cost a total of $262,120. April was the busiest month this year with 68 permits for building estimated to cost a total of $516,500.

In the first half of 1959 there have been 207 building permits issued for construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $1,258,520. A year ago, in the first six months there were 199 permits issued but the total value was $3,295,084.

The single permit which dwarfed all others last year was one for a $2,308,254 waste treatment plant to serve the needs of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the Tri-Towns of Westernport, Piedmont and Luke.

With that one huge project, the 1958 six-month total is $2,036,564 above the level for the first six months of this year. However, without the waste treatment plant, last year's six-month total would be only $986,830 or $271,690 less than this year.

The most important single building permit issued in the county last month was for a $100,000 bowling center in LaVale. The June building permits authorized work in 17 different election districts of the county.

District 16 at North Branch was the month's leader with seven permits, one more than was issued for District 20, Corriganville-Ellerslie, and District 29, LaVale. The LaVale district is the usual leader.

Other districts with more than one June permit included District 2, Oldtown, five; Districts 3, Flintstone; 6, West Side suburban; 13, Mt. Savage; 21, Gross; 24, Eckhart, and 31, McCoole, three permits each; District 7, Cresaptown - Rawlings, and 8, Westernport suburban, two each.

Single permits were issued for work in Districts 1, Little Orleans; 5, North End suburban; 11, Frostburg suburban; 18, Midland, and 22, East Side suburban.

Nineteen of the 51 June permits were for new dwellings and 13 others were for additions to dwellings. There were four permits for garages. Two hunting lodges were authorized in June. Single permits last month were for the following:

Addition to carport, tool shed, shop, liveable basement, reconstruction of old house, bowling alley, garage and chicken coop, chicken coop, septic tank, storage shed, chicken pen and tool shed, corn crib and tool shed and garage and service station.

Four Area Men Enlist In Army

Four area men enlisted this week in the Army, according to M/Sgt. Virgil M. Smith, local recruiter.

Francis M. Steed, son of Mrs. Helen Lynch, RFD 1, Ridgeley, enlisted for three years. After his basic, he will be assigned to the 18th Artillery Group, Army Defense, Pittsburgh, as a missileman.

James Keyser Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Haynes of RFD 3, Keyser, enlisted for three years unassigned. Russell Grant Viney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Viney Sr., RFD 3, Keyser, also enlisted in the Regular Army, unassigned. George J. Law, son of Mr. and Mrs. George I. Law, 10 Grand Avenue, enlisted for three years unassigned.

These men will complete their basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. during the next eight weeks, Sgt. Smith said, before receiving their assignments.

Bike Tags Deadline July 17

Local youngsters who haven't purchased their new bicycle tags have until Friday, July 17, to do so, Police Chief B. Frank Gaffney said yesterday.

Bikes which do not have the new tags displayed after that date will be picked up, according to Chief Gaffney, who said the tags are available at police headquarters.

The bicycles go through an inspection before the tags are issued. Brakes must be in tip-top working order and the cyclist also must have a light and warning device.

Chief Gaffney pointed out there are still a number of bicycles impounded at the headquarters. Anyone who has had a bicycle stolen may go to headquarters and see if he can locate it there.

Those bicycles which are unclaimed after July 17 will be turned over to the Fire Department. The firemen will put them in working order and they will be given to the Associated Charities which will pay for any parts which may be needed, Chief Gaffney said.

The bicycles will be given to deserving boys and girls of Cumberland.

Earl Robertson Takes Oath On Md. Fair Board

Earl C. Robertson, 309 Schley Street, apparently became the first Allegany County man to serve on the State Fair Board when he received his oath of office Tuesday at the Court House for a three-year term starting July 1.

The oath was administered by James A. Halloran, deputy clerk of Circuit Court. Mr. Robertson, who has been a member of the Cumberland Fair Board for about 20 years, is secretary-treasurer of the Cumberland Contracting Company.

Meanwhile, two other commissions for prominent local men, signed by Governor J. Millard Tawes and Secretary of State Thomas B. Finan, are still at the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

One names Owen E. Hitchins, Buckingham Road, The Dingle, as a judge of the new Maryland Tax Court for the remainder of a term beginning July 1, 1959, and extending until the first Monday of June 1961.

Mr. Hitchins has been one of the three members of the State Tax Commission for a good many years. An act of the General Assembly in Annapolis this year has separated the administrative and judicial functions of the State Tax Commission and has given the latter to the new Maryland Tax Court.

This new Tax Court will hear cases involving questions of assessments. The administrative affairs such as the issuance of corporation papers will continue to be the function of the State Tax Commission.

Also at the Court House is a commission naming Alvin H. Wilson, Bedford Road, to a four-year term starting July 1 on the new State Commission of Economic Development. Mr. Wilson is vice president of the George F. Hazelwood Company.

Local Woman, 26, Reported Missing

A 26-year-old local woman is reported missing from her home, city police said last night.

She is Mrs. Irene Landenberger, who is five feet five inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, has black hair and blue eyes. She was wearing a brown dress and hasn't been seen since Monday. Mrs. Landenberger may have gone to Baltimore, according to a report to police by her husband, Richard Landenberger, of RD 1, Box 439, Bowman's Addition.

Junior College Growth Urged At Frostburg

County Receives AAUW Proposal

A recommendation for the expansion and improvement of the junior college facilities at Frostburg State Teachers College rather than for the development of brand new junior college facilities in the Cumberland area has been submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

This recommendation came from the committee on higher education of the Frostburg-George's Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Miss Gertrude A. C. Williams, committee chairman and teacher at Beall High School in Frostburg, sent a copy of the committee's recommendation to John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners.

The committee took issue with a 1957 report of the State Department of Education which had recommended the elimination of the junior college program at Frostburg State Teachers College and the development of a new junior college in or near Cumberland.

Miss Williams' committee recommends expansion of the junior college facilities of Frostburg State Teachers College rather than the establishment of a paralleling Allegany County Junior College. The AAUW group favors broadening of the Frostburg college program beyond the teacher training level to include much stress on the arts and sciences.
